Los Angeles and California Need the Vote of Every Registered Elector Today.

The Times suggests to every man and woman eligible to vote in today's election that he or she briefly enumerate all the reasons that suggest themselves why it is good sense to vote, balance them against any possible inconvenience of voting—and act accordingly.

The welfare of every voting and nonvoting citizen of California is, in greater or less degree, involved in the election issues, either with respect to candidacies for office or the numerous and important proposals awaiting disposition at the ballot box.

A light vote will insure minority control of public business during the next two to four years—and minority control is costly and often is oppressive. The citizen who votes not only performs a duty, but exercises the fundamental act of self-protection.

As a Republican newspaper The Times is supporting the Republican nominees for partisan offices. It strongly urges that all Republicans vote the straight party ticket as a vote of confidence in the party and in its head, President Hoover. Every Republican ballot will help to uphold the administration against those who would embarrass, malign and misrepresent its efforts for the good of the country as a whole.

The recommendations of The Times on the several candidacies and measures on the ballot will be found on another page of this edition. Irrespective of partisan affiliations or of personal convictions, however, The Times urges all to vote.

NOW'S TIME TO BUILD

Woods Argues With Figures

President's Chief Job Finder Shows Savings Possible in Present Period

Three New Aides Named; Many Men Called Back to Work in East

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Figures compiled to show the economic advantages of immediate public construction were issued today by Chairman Woods of the President's employment committee to support his appeal for increased Federal, State and municipal building.

Simultaneously three more names were added to the group seeking to alleviate unemployment suffering.

In announcing the conclusion of a survey designed to show whether Federal, State and local governments can economize by building abundantly at the present time, Chairman Woods of the President's emergency employment committee said it has shown savings of 9 to 20 per cent to the taxpayers would result.

The survey included data gathered from three government departments and covered various types of construction in all sections of the country.

VIRGINIAN NAMED

Frank Bane of Richmond, Commissioner of Public Welfare in Virginia, was the first named today by Woods to aid in his task of speeding. Bane will act as field director, supervising unemployment relief in the southeastern states composed of Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

John C. Lawrence, dean of administration of the University of Minnesota, was named by the unemployment chairman to act as a "troubleshooter" for regional directors. Lawrence arrived in Washington today to take up his duties. Mr. Woods made known plans to appoint four or possibly five more regional directors. He has named Frederick C. Croxton of Cornell U. to supervise affairs in the region composed of Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

GANGSTERS IN HOSPITAL FINISH JOB

Newark (N. J.) Gunmen Invade City Institution to Murder Injured Man

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (Exclusive) Three gunmen invaded the Newark General Hospital early this evening and shot to death a patient in a private room on the second floor of the institution. Then they made their escape in a car which they had left parked before the hospital with the motor running.

The gunmen's victim was registered at the hospital as Joseph Carlino, 25 years of age, of Newark, but the police said they believed he was actually John Passelli, a character known to them as "the Ape." They found in his clothing a driver's license made out to Joseph Passelli, who is believed to be a brother of the murdered man.

Passelli had come to the hospital Sunday with a scalp wound which he said he had sustained when he slipped and struck his head on the floor. After it had been treated the doctors told him he could go home, but he insisted on staying at the institution.

This afternoon two men called on him. About 8:30 they returned with a companion and the trio went directly to Passelli's room. One of them fired two shots, one of which struck Passelli in the left temple and the other in the back of the head, killing him instantly. The gunmen fled from the hospital before the staff realized what had happened.

'Gas' Tax Total for Six Months $230,600,455

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The average motorist paid 3.39 cents in tax for every gallon of gasoline he used in his car the first six months of 1930.

The highest tax per gallon is 6 cents, and the lowest 2 cents, but the average for the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia is 3.39. This is an increase of .17 of a cent per gallon over the average of 3.22 for the calendar year 1929.

With exemptions deducted the total for the country aggregated $230,600,455.

The figures were announced by the Bureau of Public Roads.

CRIME DEAL PROPOSED

Capone Writes Own Terms

Gangland Will Quit Union Racket if Beer Trade Goes Unmolested

He Will Surrender if Court Will Quash Charge of Vagrancy

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—"Scarface Al" Capone, lord of Chicago's gangland, has offered to make a few concessions to the law provided law enforcers will reciprocate with a few concessions for him, according to Chief Justice McGoorty of criminal court.

The offer was revealed today by the justice as he swore in the November grand jury to continue the fight against organized crime. The proposition, which the judge said he promptly rejected, was as follows:

Capone's concessions—to quit his union-labor racketeering, to surrender on a vagrancy warrant and to leave Chicago and operate by more or less remote control.

CAPONE'S DEMANDS

Capone's demands—no interference with his beer business and dismissal of vagrancy charges as soon as he surrenders.

"With cool effrontery overtures have been made recently to the end that the most widely heralded and powerful gang leader in Cook county will withdraw from his union activities if permitted to conduct unmolested by the law his beer racket," Judge McGoorty told the grand jurors.

"His most formidable competitors have been ruthlessly exterminated (the judge had mentioned the slaying of Joe Aiello previously) and his only apparent obstacle toward undisputed sway is the law. Such a trade is unthinkable. There must be no compromise with lawlessness."

Later, in a conference which Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin and Frank J. Loesch of the crime commission had with Judge John H. Lyle, Judge McGoorty said Capone's proposal had been carried to him by "a high official of the coal teamsters' union."

UNION OFFICIAL CALLED

As a result of these revelations Michael Galvin, an official of the teamsters' union, was summoned tonight to the racket investigating department of the State's Attorney's office for questioning.

At the same time Judge Lyle revealed he, too, had heard Capone's proposal to surrender.

"Capone proposed to surrender on the vagrancy charges if I would quash them," declared Judge Lyle. "He set the surrender for next Monday, at my courtroom. He proposed he would retire to Florida if the charges would be dropped. I told his agent we would not bargain with him, that sooner or later we would arrest and prosecute Capone."

Capone headed the list of "public enemies" against whom vagrancy warrants were issued many weeks ago. Several of the "enemies" have been arrested, and two slain, since issuance of the warrants, but Capone has dodged arrest.

REMEMBER THIS

The pessimist sees a difficulty in every opportunity; the optimist sees an opportunity in every difficulty.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 3. [To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Coolidge administered last rites for his alma mater, the Republican party. To offset him I have been asked to give a word of cheer to the party of Jefferson, Raskob, Heflin and Borah. Mr. Coolidge and I are both noncombatants; we are watching the battle intrenched behind our typewriters. Our hearts are not in our advice, for no matter which one loses we will be working. My advice is keep the Republicans in power, otherwise you will add to the unemployment, for if you throw them out there is nothing else they can do, while a Democrat must be able to make a living out of office. Otherwise he would not be living.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

Boynton Quest for West to East Record Hindered by Storm and Lack of Fuel

CASA GRANDE, Nov. 3. (AP)—His fuel supply dangerously low, and buffeted from his course by rain, wind and lightning, Stanley Boynton, 18-year-old Lexington (Mass.) aviator, seeking to set a new junior transcontinental flight record from west to east, set his plane down in a field near here at 6:06 mountain time, tonight, in a perfect landing.

Boynton, who last Saturday wrested from the hands of another the east-west junior flight honor, left Los Angeles this afternoon for Phoenix, the first scheduled overnight stop on his flight to the east coast.

When he left Los Angeles he expected to fly direct to Phoenix, but encountered high head winds through Southern California that forced him to race his motor and necessitated a stop for fuel at Yuma, where he landed at 4:20 p.m. Twenty-five minutes later he resumed his journey.

East of Yuma, Boynton told the Associated Press, he ran into the worst rain, wind and lightning storm in his experience as an aviator, and lost his way.

RIVER OF FLAME CURBED

Flowing Oil Fire on Oklahoma Stream Checked After Destruction of Bridges

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4. (AP)—Flaming oil which made a river of fire of the North Canadian River east of here, destroying two bridges and threatening the Harrah plant of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company, apparently was under control late tonight.

The oil, floating down the stream from the wild C. E. Stout No. 1 well, which was capped yesterday, caught fire near Spencer today after oil in the river a few miles nearer Oklahoma City was believed to have been consumed last night after burning most of the day.

One of the bridges destroyed was a small one on a little-used highway near Harrah. The other was a structure 300 feet long, with steel spans, two miles west of McCloud.

The fires at Harrah, at first believed to be endangering the electric plant which generates power for Oklahoma City, were found to be small.

The Shawnee Fire Department has been called into action and is guarding the river near McCloud, to prevent spread of the fire and to safeguard a large bridge half a mile west of McCloud.

Led by A. J. Ownby, Pottawatomie County Commissioner, a score of workers dammed the river with a drift near McCloud, halting oil that flowed downstream after missing the fires above. The drift will be set fire purposely if enough oil accumulates, Ownby says.

Fire on the water near Spencer died of its own accord this afternoon. An east wind was keeping the flames within 300 feet of the destroyed bridge at McCloud.

REPUBLICANS TO RETAIN CONTROL OF CONGRESS

Gains by Democrats to Fall Short of Needed Number, Election Forecast Declares

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Neutral observers here believe that in tomorrow's election the Democrats will fall just short of gaining control of Congress.

If that prediction proves correct it will mean that President Hoover and the Republican party will retain the upper hand in House and Senate sufficiently to organize both branches, but with greatly reduced majorities which will handicap the carrying out of the administration's legislative program after March 4, 1931.

The Democrats will make substantial gains in both House and Senate and the question is just how many seats they will pick up in the "off-year" contest in which the natural swing of the political pendulum back to more evenly divided control has been accelerated by the economic depression, the effects of the summer drought and other conditions for which the administration is not responsible but for which it must suffer in the workings of the collective voting temper of the nation.

SITUATION ANALYZED

To obtain control of Congress the Democrats must gain fifty-two seats in the House and ten in the Senate. This, it is believed, they will not do, although they will come close to it.

The judgment of this writer is that the Democrats will gain between forty-five and fifty seats in the House, and seven in the Senate, leaving the Republicans a slender margin of votes with which to reelect Speaker Longworth and dictate committee assignments at both ends of the Capitol, but rendering the party of the President impotent to drive through a definite legislative program.

For it is certain that under the circumstances that will exist the so-called "progressive" Republicans from Wisconsin and other Middle and Northwestern States will team up with the Democrats in forming a House "coalition" akin to that which has been in the saddle in the Senate and this development will spell defeat for all legislation on which the coalitionists can stick together in their opposition.

TARIFF PROSPECTS

Moreover, the prospects are that an unbridled Congress will run wild with all sorts of proposals touching on tariff revision, farm relief, unemployment relief and other questions which will harass President Hoover and call forth his most courageous efforts to stop an orgy of unwise legislation engendered by the political frenzy of the times. This sort of thing will start as soon as the present Congress gets back on the job in December.

From a practical political standpoint it probably would be a great thing for President Hoover if both houses of Congress should go Democratic tomorrow, for then the Democratic party would have to assume full responsibility for legislation for at least the next two years. It might be the one "break" the President has received thus far.

The Senate, of course, has been hostile to him throughout his administration to date. The House has been his bulwark and now although it probably will remain Republican on paper, it promises to join the upper branch in coalition tactics which will tend to tie his hands and weaken his leadership in legislative affairs.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

Officials at Republican national headquarters concede that the outcome is doubtful in forty-three Congressional districts. Democratic

France on Point of Break

End of Trade Relations and Ejection of Consular Office Impend

Tension Due to Reprisals for Paris Moves to Balk Dumping

(Copyright, 1930, Chicago Tribune)

PARIS, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—France is on the point of breaking off trade relations with Russia and ejecting the soviet consular office in connection with the dumping of Russian goods, it was learned tonight from a source close to official circles.

The new tension in Franco-soviet affairs does not come directly from soviet dumping but from reprisals taken by the soviets in answer to the French government's decision to protect the home markets from dumping. The government decree, which was particularly directed against cheap Russian wheat, was passed several weeks ago and a few days later a high official of the soviet commerce department named Lubinov came to Paris to make his report.

As a result of Lubinov's report Moscow ordered him to cancel all orders with French concerns. This order was executed within the last few days, particularly regarding an order for taxicabs totaling $80,000 given to French automobile companies which had then been transferred to the Fiat company of Italy.

French manufacturers, hit by the soviet reprisals, appealed for government aid and today Soviet Ambassador Dovgalevsky and a high consular official were summoned to the Quai d'Orsay for a talk. An explanation was demanded.

It is believed here that the Minister of Commerce will recommend to Premier Tardieu the cutting off of trade relations with Russia.

MACHINE HANGOVER TESTED

Bad Effects of Noise and Vibration on Sleepers Studied by Colgate University Students

HAMILTON (N. Y.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Nine Colgate University men are sleeping nightly on vibrating beds and discovering unexpected ways in which a machine age may cause headaches, circled eyes and unsociable dispositions.

The new "rumble" experiments combine noise and vibrations in a way to imitate some of the more acute sleeping obstacles of modern life. They are conducted in the psychological laboratory under direction of Dr. Donald A. Laird and with the assistance of Herman W. Wille and Clifford H. Shirley.

MOTORS UNDER BEDS

The vibration is announced as less than on a railroad train. It is produced by hanging electric motors under the beds. Each motor is of one-sixth horsepower, attached to the tops of springs, but swing along with accessory apparatus, below the bed.

The noise is a hum slightly fainter than conversational loudness. Noise and vibration are steady all night.

"Although subject to verification with repeated experiments to be done later," Dr. Laird says, "there are definite indications that sleeping with the noise and vibration we are using produces the following effects:

"More headaches.
"More circles under the eyes.
"More unsteady and wobbly on the feet.

BUZZING HEARD

"More noises and buzzing heard in the head during the day.
"More irritated by ordinary things.
"Time drags more.
"Laughing as common occurrences.
"Desire to be alone.
"Not wanting to talk.
"More effort needed to start to do routine work.

"The belief that one can get used to noise is also upset by the early results of the experiment, the effects of the second week being more severe and covering more peculiarities of behavior than for the first week.

"Our previous experiments have dealt with noise alone, without vibration, and have shown that noise will raise blood pressure without awakening the sleeper. The present experiments cover a much wider range of behavior and abilities."

NATION HEARS FINAL APPEAL

Republican Congress Urged by Burke as Vital Need

Importance of Free Hand for Hoover Told via Radio

Shouse and Robinson Fire Barrage for Opposition

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 3. (AP) James Francis Burke tonight appealed to the American electorate to give President Hoover a Republican Congress and thus leave his hands free to provide a steadying influence to a world beset with political and economic difficulties.

Speaking over a nation-wide radio hook-up of the National Broadcasting Company, the general counsel of the Republican National Committee said the United States was the last country of importance to feel the world-wide depression.

He recalled the business survey conference of the President which he said had resulted in an agreement between industrial and labor leaders that had prevented wage cuts and silenced strike agitators.

"What we do at the polls tomorrow is bound to have a direct bearing upon the welfare of the world because everyone knows what the world needs most tonight is the restoration of political and economic stability," he said.

"Not since the feverish period immediately preceding the World War has the outlook been so ominous, and the spirits of unrest, uncertainty, suspicion and apprehension so widespread.

"The domestic peace and prosperity of this nation and the early return of world-wide economic stability are at stake as a result of tomorrow's ballot.

"Our first duty is to restore confidence at home; to protect and give life and confidence to our great home market and then turn our attention to lending a willing ear and a helping hand to the people of other nations who look to us for leadership.

"Shall we fortify the President in the Senate and support his policies by re-electing a Republican House of Representatives, which has been the bulwark of confidence during the last few years, in order that we may bring back confidence and start the blood flowing with new vigor through the arteries of commerce?

"Or shall we prolong our present uncertainty and postpone the return of prosperity by placing in control of the House of Representatives those whose plain purpose is to repeal the tariff, revolutionize farm relief, bedevil business and harass the President of the United States in his efforts to rescue the American people from their present plight?

"If you elect a legislative branch of the government whose main purpose is to embarrass and undermine the Executive, you will have a situation little short of legislative anarchy for the next two years, and history has proved nothing is more fatal to business than to be kept guessing as to what is going to happen."

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKERS ASSAIL ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP) — A final barrage of criticism of the Hoover administration went out over the air tonight from Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Senate minority leader, to wind up the Democratic radio campaign for the Congressional elections.

Speaking over the National Broadcasting System, Shouse gave assurance if the Democrats are given control of Congress everyone "may be of good cheer" because every action taken will be "solely with a view to the betterment of the American people."

Senator Robinson, in an address over the Columbia Broadcasting System, asserted, "The agents of the administration have merely stood by and looked on with fear and trembling while conditions have grown from bad to worse" and "nothing is being done, nothing is proposed that anyone seems to believe promises a return of prosperity."

Shouse predicted "without question" the election of a Democratic House and expressed the opinion "there will be such Democratic gains in the Senate that control of that body also may possibly pass into the hands of the Democratic party."

Promising if this happens there will be no attempt to embarrass Mr. Hoover, Shouse said the Democrats, "whether in control of one or both of the legislative bodies, will formulate and carry through a constructive program, seeking only to serve the best interests of the country and hoping for the co-operation of the Executive in writing such a program into law."

Shouse said the record of President Hoover is "as much an issue as any other single factor" in the Congressional election.

Both Shouse and Robinson said the major legislative accomplishments of the Hoover administration are the farm relief and tariff acts, which they described as failures.

Robinson asserted, "The electors now fully understand the fraud and deceit which run through and underlie the claim to a patent on prosperity by means of which the victory for misgovernment was won in 1928."

G.O.P. CHOSEN TO KEEP HOLD

Democrats Conceded Forty Odd House Seats

Gain of Ten Places in Senate Pronounced Unlikely

leaders claim a certain gain of seventy seats. Somewhere in between these figures from the rival camps probably lies the truth of what will happen tomorrow.

As for the Senate, the Democrats seem sure of electing their candidates in South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virgina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, North Carolina, and Ohio—a total of thirteen. They are likely to win in Illinois, Massachusetts, Delaware, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Montana—a total of seven for a grand total of twenty.

The Republicans appear equally certain of winning Senatorial contests in New Jersey, Idaho, Kansas (two seats.) Michigan, New Hampshire, Oregon, Nebraska, Iowa, Wyoming and Pennsylvania—eleven seats. They will probably win in South Dakota, Colorado and Minnesota—three seats—for a grand total of fourteen.

If those forecasts are accurate the Democrats will pull up with forty-six seats in the Senate, or three less than necessary to take control of the upper House.

ANSWER MADE

If one suggests that the Democratic claims with respect to the House are extravagant he is immediately referred by party spokesmen to the 1922 mid-term election of the Harding administration when the Democrats scored a net gain of seventy-five seats in the lower branch of Congress. In that instance, however, they still fell short of a majority.

The States and the number of doubtful Congressional districts in each as listed by Republican headquarters are:

Connecticut, one; Illinois, four; Indiana, two; Kentucky, three; Maryland, one; Massachusetts, two; Minnesota, two; Missouri, four; Nebraska, two; New Jersey, one; New Mexico, one; New York, two; North Carolina, two; Ohio, four; Oklahoma, one; Pennsylvania, three; Texas, one; Virginia, three; Washington, one; West Virginia, two; Wisconsin, one. Total, forty-three.

DEMOCRATS ELATED

Prophets at Democratic headquarters, elated by reports they have been receiving during the last week, are convinced that House gains will be made in at least twenty-nine States. They are unwilling to identify the districts they hope to capture but here are the twenty-nine States and the number of districts in each which they claim:

Colorado, one; Connecticut, two; Illinois, five; Indiana, six; Iowa, one; Kansas, one; Kentucky, five; Maryland, one; Massachusetts, three; Michigan, one; Missouri, seven; Nebraska, two; New Hampshire, one; New Jersey, three; New Mexico, one; New York, five; North Carolina, two; North Dakota, one; Ohio, eight; Oklahoma, two; Oregon, one; Pennsylvania, five; South Dakota, one; Texas, one; Utah, one; Virginia, three; Wisconsin, one; total, seventy-five.

DOUBT ON SENATE

In the Senatorial campaign eleven seats now occupied by Republicans are classed as doubtful. They are in Colorado, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Nebraska. Three additional seats now in possession of Republicans are classed as "remotely doubtful." They are in South Dakota, Wyoming, and Kansas. On the other hand the Republicans are given chances to gain seats in Iowa, New Mexico, Montana and North Carolina.

The Democrats feel confident of beating Former Senator William M. Butler in Massachusetts, Senator Metcalf in Rhode Island, Senator McCulloch in Ohio, James E. Jones in West Virginia, Senator Robison in Kentucky and Senator Pine in Oklahoma.

Strangely enough they do not claim Illinois, where Former Senator J. Ham Lewis has made a colorful and apparently a successful campaign against Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick. They place Illinois in the "hopeful" list.

It is the opinion of this observer that the Democrats are practically certain to win Senate seats in Illinois, Massachusetts, Ohio and West Virginia and have an edge in Kentucky and Oklahoma, the other States mentioned are really doubtful.

The truth is the election has Washington guessing. There has not been such uncertainty over the outcome of a Congressional campaign since 1918 when President Wilton issued a personal appeal for the return of a Democratic Congress and the country responded by electing a Republican House and Senate.

HOOVER PLANS TO LISTEN OVER RADIO

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Pre-election calm pervaded the White House and other government departments as the major political parties awaited casting of ballots which will vindicate the administration of President Hoover or justify the confident predictions of the Democrats that Republican rule in Congress is to be overthrown or modified.

President Hoover had few callers today and none is on his calling list tomorrow. The President will see newspaper men as is his semi-weekly custom at noon and spend the afternoon quietly in his office. In the evening, according to George Akerson, White House secretary, Mr. Hoover will listen to the radio returns in his study until his usual bedtime at 10:30 o'clock, and then retire without waiting for the final results.

It was explained that the President's decision not to depart from his usual custom of retiring early was due not to any lack of interest in the result but to his belief that the final returns on the battle for control of the House will be slow in coming in.

BOTH SIDES CLAIMING PENNSYLVANIA BATTLE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3. (AP)—Claims and estimates, charges and counter-charges, threats and innuendoes by rival campaign leaders marked the final hours tonight in Pennsylvania's spirited battle for the Governorship.

A majority of 150,000 for John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal candidate, was predicted by Charles Dorrance, State chairman of the Liberal party, while John R. Collins, Democratic State chairman, estimated Hemphill would have a majority of 30,000 "and upward."

P. S. Stahlnecker, campaign manager for Pinchot, said revised figures indicated the former Governor would come to the Philadelphia city line with a lead of 493,000 votes.

LUCAS VOICES OPTIMISM AT OUTLOOK

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National Committee, arrived at his home here today preparatory to voting tomorrow, and said he is "greatly encouraged" at prospects for Republican success.

"I am greatly encouraged at the outlook for Republican success, nationally and in Kentucky," he said. "We have had some trouble in three States, Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts, mainly on account of the prohibition issue, but the prospects of the Republicans there, as well as in other States where this issue is not so acute, have been steadily improving for the past several weeks."

SENATOR MOSES SEES COALITION POSSIBILITY

CONCORD (N. H.) Nov. 3. (AP)—United States Senator Moses, Republican, today forecast the possibility of coalition control of the next Congress as a consequence of the elections tomorrow.

Speaking of his party's chances in the elections, Senator Moses said "in general it is my opinion that we shall suffer reverses tomorrow, but we will hold the Senate, as it now seems, by a majority not greatly reduced. However, in the House it will be extraordinarily close, and it may be that the Seventy-second Congress will present coalition control in both branches.

"This will mean continued confusion in legislative programs. In other words, the next two years are likely to be spent, congressionally speaking, in scoring for 1932. Personally I have no misgivings. I feel sure of President Hoover's renomination and re-election."

BALLOTS TODAY DECIDE MANY CONGRESS SEATS

BY the Associated Press

Thirty-one Senators are being elected today to six-year terms beginning March 4, next, Maine having settled the question to fix new full-term Senator in September.

The States now deciding are: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming.

REPUBLICANS HEAD

Maine in September, last, returned a Republican. Of the other full-term seats involved, eighteen are held by Republicans and thirteen by Democrats.

Three States, Kansas, Ohio and Pennsylvania, are electing Senators to terms which end March 3, 1933. Each of these seats is held at present by a Republican.

Five States vote on Senators to fill terms ending next March: Delaware, Kentucky, New Jersey, Tennessee, and Wyoming. Four of these are now being served by Republicans and one, from Tennessee, by a Democrat.

The present Senate comprises fifty-six Republicans, thirty-nine Democrats, and one Farmer-Labor Senator. Forty-nine constitutes a majority.

ALL OF HOUSE ELECTED

The entire House of Representatives is being elected for the two-year term beginning March 4, 1931. Of the 435 seats, 260 are now Republican, 160 Democratic and one Farmer-Labor with fourteen vacancies. Nine of the vacant seats were Republican and five Democratic. A House majority is 218. To get control there, the Democrats must gain fifty-eight votes.

The thirty-two States electing governors, twenty-one having Republican and eleven Democratic incumbents are:

Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming. Maine returned a Republican Governor at its election.

IMPORTANT CONTESTS

Among the outstanding contests are the following:

Alabama—Senator Heflin, a life-long Democrat, ruled out of party primary because he bolted Smith in 1928, running for re-election as an independent against Democratic nominee, John H. Bankhead.

Illinois—Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican, running for Senate against Democratic former Senator, J. Hamilton Lewis, and Republican independent dry candidate, Lottie Holman O'Neill.

Montana—Senator Walsh, Teapot Dome prosecutor, against Republican antiprohibitionist, Justice Albert G. Galen.

Nebraska—Senator Norris, Republican independent, against Democratic former Senator, Gilbert M. Hitchcock.

New Jersey—Dwight W. Morrow, Republican, running for Senate against Alexander Simpson, Democrat.

New York—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, for re-election as Governor against Charles H. Tuttle, Republican.

Ohio—Senator McCulloch, dry Republican, for re-election against Robert J. Bulkley, Eighteenth Amendment repeal advocate.

Pennsylvania—Gifford Pinchot, Republican, seeking Governorship against John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal candidate.

Massachusetts, William M. Butler, Republican, Prohibitionist, running for Senate against Marcus A. Coolidge, Democrat, modification advocate.

ARIZONA READY TO PICK CHIEF

Gov. Phillips and Hunt Both Predict Victory

Other Officers Also Will Be Selected Today

State's One Representative in Congress Unopposed

PHOENIX, Nov. 3. (AP)—Arizonans—133,000 strong—will have the privilege of going to the polls tomorrow and selecting their choices for Governor, an entirely new Legislature, other State officials, Arizona's lone Representative in Congress and county officers who will serve for the next two years.

Principal interest centers around the race for Governor, in which a veteran and a novice are contesting. Both have served, one for two years, the other for twelve.

CAMPAIGNS CLOSED

Gov. John C. Phillips, Republican candidate to succeed himself, closed his campaign tonight in Phoenix. He is ending his first term as chief executive.

George W. P. Hunt, as he has at the end of seven other gubernatorial campaigns, closed his campaign tonight in Globe-Miami, his old home.

Phillips, who defeated Hunt two years ago—has asked for a second term to complete policies in which, he contends, he has been handicapped during the last two years. He has told the people appointees of Hunt, whose terms have extended through his administration, have prevented the administration of his desire.

VICTORY CLAIMED

C. E. Addams, Hunt's primary campaign manager and now Democratic State chairman, predicted Hunt's election and a victory for "the Democratic ticket from top to bottom" in a statement today.

George W. Mickle, Republican State chairman, likewise, predicted victory for his party's candidates. Gov. Phillips, he predicted, will received as large a vote over that of Hunt as he did two years ago. Phillips defeated Hunt by 3900 votes in 1928.

Lewis W. Douglas, Democratic incumbent, is not opposed for Representative in Congress and there is no race for United States Senator.

OPERA STAR WINS TEXAS AUDIENCE

Mary Garden Not Only Pleases Critic Howe but Takes Tea With Him

AMARILLO (Tex.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Mary Garden, the operatic star, won an Amarillo audience of 3000 tonight, an audience that included Gene Howe, newspaper man, with whom she had sparred through the public print at intervals during the past year.

At the conclusion of her concert, Howe wrote that he never said Miss Garden "couldn't sing," but merely that "she didn't sing" on the occasion of a previous visit with an operatic company, after which he scathingly criticised her.

"I also never stated that she was so old she tottered," Howe continued. "But said that either she was so fatigued or indifferent that she appeared like an old woman instead of a prima donna who ruled the operatic world."

Recently Howe invited Miss Garden to enjoy a "Texas supper" at his residence, and she replied she would have "tea at his villa." Yesterday she did drink tea at the Howe residence, while most of the other guests had coffee. She termed Howe the "queerest" person she ever had met.

Thompson Not Out of Danger

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Attending physicians announced tonight that while Mayor William Hale Thompson is not out of danger, no disturbing complications have arisen.

The doctors in their bulletin regarding the Mayor's condition have not given details regarding his temperature or pulse, explaining that variations which might seem unimportant to them might be misinterpreted by the public.

REDS ORGANIZE SCHOOL PUPILS

Oakland and Berkeley Seat of New Activity

Circulars Admit Program for Revolution

'Workers' Government' Aim of Propagandists

OAKLAND, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Propagandizing of school children throughout the East Bay district on behalf of sovietism, including advocacy of violence to overthrow governmental institutions of the United States, came under police scrutiny today. For the last several days, according to information given the authorities, circulars have been distributed widely throughout Oakland and Berkeley, carrying, among other things, the statement:

"We have no illusions that we will win the establishment of a workers' and farmers' government by the ballot box. We do not conceal our revolutionary program."

CHILDREN TAUGHT

Activities of the organization behind the circularization include mobilizing of recruits for Young Pioneers, the juvenile branch of Communism, and in this connection, handbills and other literature have been distributed persistently in the vicinity of schools. Boys and girls ranging in ages from 10 to 14 years have been seen attending meetings being conducted almost nightly at two Oakland locations and a police observer reported at least one address at a hall in West Oakland by a high-school girl, in which she charged favoritism in the Franklin School as between the children of workingmen and the children of so-called capitalists.

RED GROUPS FORMED

Among circulars discovered by police at the outset of their investigation are many announcing the formation of groups to work for the realization of a soviet union in the United States and the establishment of a "workers' government" in place of the present system.

Police officers both in Oakland and Berkeley have been instructed to seize all the literature of this character they can find, submit it for inspection and investigation, together with all data pertinent they can discover.

OIL TANK LOT SWEPT BY FLAMES

Spectacular Fire Started by Truck Punctuated by Heavy Explosions

KANSAS CITY (Kan.) Nov. 3. (AP) A spectacular oil fire, punctuated by a series of explosions, caused damage estimated by company officials at $30,000 at the White Eagle Oil Corporation tank lot and shattered windows and shook passengers on a passing northbound Missouri-Kansas-Texas train here today.

A three-inch stream of gasoline flowed about the plant for more than two hours while firemen and plant workers protected several large storage tanks of gasoline, oil and naphtha from igniting.

The gasoline was loosed when a pipe leading from a storage tank was broken by a truck being backed up to the loading dock. The impact stalled the truck's engine.

Joe Myers, a dock man at the plant, cautioned the driver against starting the truck and ran for a steam hose in the boiler room. The fumes forming over the enlarging pool of fluid ignited, presumably from a spark in the boiler room.

Myers was burned dangerously and is in a critical condition. Several firemen and Fire Chief Dan Donavan were burned in their successful efforts to check the flames. The two-story storage plant, including 25,000 gallons of oil and 5000 pounds of grease, and the loading dock were destroyed.

Liquor Seizure Without Search Warrant Upheld

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The District of Columbia Court of Appeals today upheld a liquor seizure made without a search warrant in a restaurant kitchen "designed for public use."

When a policeman entered Enos Groce's basement restaurant, he saw no one, so he walked into the adjoining kitchen. There, on a table, he said, were four bottles of corn whisky. Later Groce appeared and while he and the policeman were talking a man entered and asked for a "highball."

The court's opinion said the customer looked at Groce "kind of funny" and then asked for ginger ale.

In these circumstances, the court held, the policeman "was authorized to seize the liquor without a search warrant."

Safeblowers Rob Postoffice

TACOMA (Wash.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Approximately $1600 in cash, postoffice supplies, silk goods and tobacco were taken last night by safeblowers who entered the general merchandise store of Johnson Brothers at Dupont. The robbers backed a truck to the door of the place, loaded it and drove away without awakening residents within seventy-five feet of the store.

The Johnson brothers lost $800 in cash and $400 worth of merchandise consisting largely of silks. The postoffice is in the same store, H. E. Johnson being postmaster. The loss to the postoffice is $400 in cash and stock. A large number of money-order blanks also were stolen.

Margaret Rose and Her Mother

LONDON, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Little Princess Margaret Rose, infant daughter of the Duchess of York, has posed for her first photograph. It was her big moment. Heretofore there have been nothing but "quick shots" taken by news photographers, and these show more nurse than Princess. After much persuasion the Duchess of York finally consented to let the world have a real photograph of the royal baby, and the first posed picture, a studio portrait, was made.

GALE HOLDS HUGE PLANE TO HANGAR

DO-X Unable to Get Off for Lisbon on First Leg of Trans-Atlantic Trip

ALTENRHEIN (Switzerland) Nov. 3. (AP)—The huge air liner DO-X, big as she is, could not weather the tempest which swept across Western Europe today and she lay in her big white eyrie tonight with little likelihood that she can start for Amsterdam before Wednesday at the earliest.

Meanwhile more letters and postcards addressed to the United States "Via DO-X" piled into the Friedrichshafen postoffice against the day when the plane takes off from Lisbon for a trans-Atlantic flight via the Azores and Bermuda to New York.

Two sister ships of the huge craft, under construction for Italy, stand half completed in a great workshop adjoining the hangar where their predecessor is anchored. Italy wants them for Christmas, but the plant can scarcely handle more than one such gigantic plane at a time.

Officials connected with the Dornier plant indicated they hope to get the DO-X to Lisbon by November 12, when they will decide definitely upon the date of departure for the Azores. Before that flight begins there will be a thorough overhauling of motors.

Thirty Jailed in Drug Raids

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Drugs valued at $15,000 are under guard in a vault in Federal Building here and thirty men are under arrest in Syracuse, New York, Utica, Buffalo, Albany and Schenectady as the result of a six weeks' investigation of a so-called drug ring, whose operation, Federal officers said, extended throughout the State.

BRITISH EMPIRE COURT PLANNED

Body Will Handle Problems Between Dominions

Imperial Conference Agrees on Other Measures

Envoy Question Considered at London Session

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Definite agreements on a number of important questions including establishment of an empire tribunal have been reached by the Imperial Conference.

The empire tribunal will be for disputes between the dominions and the proceedings will be in the nature of voluntary arbitration. The tribunal will not be a permanent court, but will be established for each dispute.

Under the agreement the tribunal will deal with cases involving the dominion governments rather than with individuals and can meet at any place in the empire.

OTHER PROBLEMS

The chief delegates to the conference also passed on other important empire problems pertaining to foreign affairs as they affect the units of the empire.

The system of the appointment of dominion diplomatic envoys such as the Canadian and Irish ministers at Washington is considered highly successful and this will be extended wherever the dominions deem necessary.

The delicate subject of the channels of communication between the dominions and foreign powers has developed a step further by the decision today that in cases of emergency the dominions have the right to communicate directly with a foreign government instead of through the government in London.

COTTON REVIEWED

Where the dominion has its own envoy in a foreign country, as in the case of Canada's relations with the United States, a communication with the government in question will go through him. Where there is no such dominion representative the communication will be made through the British representative.

Orange Grower Is Now Able to Work All Day

"After Sargon restored my health and strength, my wife began taking the treatment and now she is as enthusiastic over this wonderful medicine as I am," recently stated W. F. Robinson, Box 38 D., Covina.

W. F. ROBINSON

"A bad spell of flu left me mighty weak and rundown. I had a tight congested feeling in my chest and it was hard for me to breathe. I suffered with awful pains in my back and shoulders and up through my neck. My muscles and joints would get stiff and sore and I couldn't get one night of sound, restful sleep. I never did want anything to eat and I just felt 'let down' and tired all the time.

"Six bottles of Sargon sure 'set me right'! I have a fine appetite now and every ache and pain in my body disappeared. I breathe as freely and naturally as I ever did and I sleep as sound as a boy. I work all day now in my orange grove and never get the least tired.

"I never did see a laxative to equal Sargon Pills. They are natural in action and easy to take, but they sure got my bowels as regular as clock-work. Sargon is the finest treatment to build a man up I ever saw."

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

GERMANY ASKS END OF FENCING

Let's Get Down to Business on Arms Cut, She Says

Preparatory Meeting This Week to Be Her Last

Full Conference of Powers in 1931 Wanted Instead

BERLIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—So far as Germany is concerned the session of the preparatory disarmament commission scheduled to meet again at Geneva Thursday is likely to be the last one.

Count von Bernstorff and the German delegation, who are leaving tomorrow, have been instructed to bend every effort to have the preparatory commission give way to a full conference of the powers some time in 1931 to tackle disarmament.

So insistent is Germany that preliminaries be ended, the Cabinet does not deem it essential for full agreements to be reached now on a draft convention.

WHAT SHE WANTS

Germany rather proposes whatever draft convention may find maximum support shall be submitted to the powers, together with a minority report and with memoranda from all powers participating in the preliminaries, setting forth their respective attitudes.

German official circles expressed the feeling further preliminary discussion of the difference between the French and German attitudes on the question of war materials and trained reserves is futile and might as well be transferred for threshing out to a meeting of the powers.

The French position is that trained reserves and accumulated war materials shall not be considered part of the strength of armies and navies, whereas Germany and Great Britain hold a contrary view.

AIM ANNOUNCED

"We aim at getting a date fixed some time in 1931 for a world disarmament conference irrespective of what reports may be drawn up at the coming Geneva session," said a Foreign Office spokesman.

Meanwhile the German government as well as the disarmament delegation has been watching the parleys of Hugh S. Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, at Paris and Rome, with great interest. It is said if Ambassador Gibson should succeed in getting France and Italy to join the American, British and Japanese in a complete naval agreement, Germany would welcome it heartily as a step in the direction of ridding the world of armament burdens.

FRANCE SUGGESTS PROPOSITION TO ITALY

PARIS, Nov. 3. (AP)—France will agree to parity in naval tonnage with Italy in the Mediterranean, it was said in official circles today, on condition Italy will allow the French to have sufficient tonnage stationed elsewhere to protect communications with the colonies.

It is calculated here France must have 140,000 tons for any eventualities in the Atlantic Ocean, while it can take care of its colonial routes with 100,000 tons.

This is only a prospective hypothesis but may take the form of a definite proposal at an opportune moment.

M'DONALD TELLS OF INFORMAL PARLEYS

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald told the House of Commons today informal negotiations have taken place between France and Italy since adjournment of the naval conference. He said he understands no agreement has been reached on their naval construction program up to 1936.

GIBSON COMPLETES ROME CONFERENCES

ROME, Nov. 3. (AP)—Hugh S. Gibson, American delegate on the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission, tonight completed his conversations with government officials looking toward adjustment of Franco-Italian naval differences.

No indication was given whether the American Ambassador to Belgium had made satisfactory progress, but he conferred again today with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi and it is understood he hoped at this talk to obtain favorable comment on an idea he suggested last week for Italo-French naval agreement.

Mr. Gibson also had a final talk with Gen. De Marinis, Italian delegate to the League preparatory commission, before leaving tomorrow for Geneva, where there will be a further opportunity for discussion of the problems with both French and Italian experts.

ADVERTISING ISSUE UP IN HIGH COURT

Misrepresentation With No Injury to Competitor Question Involved

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The authority of the Federal Trade Commission to stop asserted misrepresentation in advertising when no injury to competing firms is involved will be given a limited review by the Supreme Court.

The question arose from an order of the commission that the Raladam Company refrain from advertising a patent medicine.

The government in its petition asserted the case to be of great importance in determining the field of activity of the Federal Trade Commission. It said the question presented was whether the commission has authority to suppress false and misleading advertising, calculated to deceive a substantial portion of the purchasing public and took sharp issue with the decision of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals setting aside the commission's order on the ground that no honest competitor's trade would be protected by it.

LABORITES FACE CRUCIAL ORDEAL

Government of MacDonald Expected to Win

Liberals May Deny Support to Both Rival Parties

Then Danger Would Lie in Left Wing's Action

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The MacDonald Labor government will face a crucial test tomorrow night.

Political circles expect the government to win, since the Liberal party announced today it would not support a Conservative amendment to the reply to the speech from the throne, although it is realized there is a remote chance of a defeat.

Sir Henry Samuel announced the Liberal stand, saying his party, which has kept the Laborites in office thus far, since it holds the balance of power, would not back up the Conservative opposition in the first important division of the year.

Later news spread about the House of Commons that at a party meeting from which Sir Herbert just had come, the Liberals decided not only to withhold support from the Conservatives, but to withhold it likewise from the administration.

Labor has a majority of about thirty under these circumstances and its only danger in that case will lie in its own left wing of about twenty members, who are dissatisfied. The general belief is, however, the left wingers will not vote with the Conservatives.

The announcement of the Liberal stand was made after a bitter attack on the government's handling of unemployment by the Conservative, Neville Chamberlain, and a lengthy defense by William Graham, president of the Board of Trade.

SHE PLANS STUDY OF ORIENT DRAMA

Lorraine De Forrest

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—That western drama may learn considerable from the ancient Orient was the opinion expressed here by Miss Lorraine DeForrest of New Haven, Ct., a student of dramatics, just before she sailed for the Orient. Miss DeForrest graduated recently from the American Academy of New York in a course in dramatics.

FEW MEXICANS CROSS BORDER

Only 438 Admitted During Month of September

Annual Rate of 4972 Against 56,747 Formerly

Quota Law by Congress Made Unnecessary

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—According to a report today from the State Department, only 438 Mexicans received immigration visas for entry into the United States during September.

This means that only 2486 Mexicans have emigrated into this country in the past six months and that the annual rate is now 4972, as compared with an average of 56,747 for the last five fiscal years—a reduction of 91.3 per cent.

The figures are regarded as further demonstrating the ability of the administrative branch of the government to hold Mexican immigration under such control as to render unnecessary and abortive continued political attempts in Congress to fasten an offensive quota restriction upon our neighbor below the Rio Grande.

GENERAL RESTRICTION

Also, they jibe with the effort of the Hoover administration to curtail immigration as an aid to recovery in the unemployment situation. The movement to restrict the influx across the Mexican border has been going on for the past eighteen months, and now becomes an important factor in the general campaign to restrict immigration on all borders and from all sources so that jobs in the United States shall be reserved in so far as possible for native citizens.

Not one of the Mexicans given a visa during September was a common laborer without previous residence in the United States. Two hundred and fifty of them were students coming to enter colleges. The rest were mostly former residents returning to regularize their status, other Mexicans who had previously resided in the United States, and wives and children of aliens previously admitted. Only sixty-two were in classes that would place them under a quota act, if one were enacted.

NO LABORERS ENTER

Thus new immigration from Mexico of a type that would concern Congress in considering a formal exclusion act has been cut down almost to the vanishing point—sixty-two a month, or at a rate of 744 a year.

September was the third consecutive month in which no visa was granted a Mexican laborer who might come into the United States and take a job away from a native workman.

The State Department report concluded with the usual statement that "the problem of new immigration from Mexico through legal channels" does not appear longer to be a serious one. The department has no control over surreptitious entries, on which there is no check, and would be no check even if a quota act were passed by Congress."

SPANISH WAR VETERAN DIES

Suit Filed to Break Will of Viola K. Dunne

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—A suit was filed in Superior Court here today in an effort to break the will of Viola K. Dunne, Hillsborough resident, who left an estate valued at $1,250,000.

The suit, brought by six asserted relatives, seeks revocation of the will and its two codicils and asks redistribution. The petition names Dr. Howard M. Engle and Frank J. Campbell, executors, as defendants. Engle and Campbell also are beneficiaries along with fifty-two other persons.

The grounds of the petition are that Mrs. Dunne was under the influence of Dr. Engle and was of unsound mind. In support of these contentions it is pointed out Mrs. Dunne was 70 years of age and physically and mentally too weak to make a will.

WE MUST CLOSE

No landlord can dictate our policies. The public's faith that founded this business must be protected. After years in the same location, our landlord has decided to "jack up" our rent. It's a tough spot for us—but what a lucky break for you! We're taking a cut of 20% on every garment in stock. Only unwavering fidelity to our square dealing policy of low prices could influence us to make such a drastic reduction. But we could never meet the rent increase without reflecting the fact in our selling price or the quality of our clothing. Our customers' confidence must be safeguarded at any cost. We must get out. But before we go—we've got to clear out our stocks. Every single garment must be sold. Dealers and jobbers would pay premium prices for such quality clothing. However, if we must take a loss—only our customers will benefit.

All Sales Carry F & C $10,000,000 WRITTEN GUARANTEE!

Every garment goes, nothing has been added, nothing left out. This sweeping reduction includes each and every piece of merchandise in our present stocks. There's been no advance "mark up"—no "hold overs" from the past season. The entire offering was produced this season for this season's wear. Fashioned and tailored in our five giant factories. Designed at our own Fifth Avenue style studios. Made from ten-times tested all-wool fabrics. In every way up to the well known high F & C standards of style, workmanship and woolens. We prove this by backing every last garment with our $10,000,000 Written Guarantee.

VARGAS GRASPS RULE OF BRAZIL

Provisional President Put in Power by Junta

New Chief Asks Continued Support of Leaders

Ceremony Simple Without Any Display of Pomp

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 3. (AP)—With a brief and simple ceremony a short, thick-set man took over the provisional Presidency of Brazil shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Dr. Getulio Vargas was generalissimo of the revolutionary movement which changed the government of Brazil in three weeks' time but today he wore none of the trappings of the military—only plain afternoon dress.

The provisional President stood in front of a table behind which was posted the junta, the body of army and navy officers which has ruled Brazil since President Washington Luis was forced out of office, October 24, last.

Gen. Tasso Fragoso, head of the military group, with a few words turned over the provisional government to Vargas, who replied with a short speech, asking the junta members as officers of the army and navy to continue aiding in making the provisional government a success, then he named his Cabinet.

The entire ceremony did not take more than fifteen minutes, after which the new President reviewed a regiment of the Presidential guard drawn up in the square in front of the palace.

There was no military pomp, the guard regiment and a low-flying navy airplane being the only signs of armed force.

SPIRIT TALE OF SEA HOP BOOK TOPIC

Widow of Capt. Hinchliffe Who Perished in Flight Writes of "Messages"

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Mrs. Walter G. Hinchliffe, widow of the British airman who was lost with Elsie Mackay on an attempted trans-Atlantic flight, writes in a book just issued that the airman's spirit has described the fatal flight to her.

Issued by the Psychic Press, the book is called "The Return of Capt. Hinchliffe." Its major portion deals with Mrs. Hinchliffe's descriptions of contacts with her husband's purported spirit. One passage as "told" by Hinchliffe, reads:

"At 1 a.m. I abandoned hope. Terror never, but the anguish, knowing every half hour might be the end. After 3 a.m. became waterlogged. I was then in sight of the Azores, but it was impossible to reach land owing to the currents. I became unconscious and death came quickly."

Capt. Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay, daughter of the Earl of Inchcape, took off March 14, 1928, on a projected flight from Cramwell Airport to the United States, but never reached their goal.

SPORTS REPORTER WED TO MILLIONS

DISCOVERY OF SECRET RECOUNTED

Sight of Chauffeur Gives Away Nan O'Reilly Who Had Wed Silas Newton

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—New York newspaper men are so busy seeking news that frequently when a story "breaks" right beneath their noses they fail to see it. Nan O'Reilly, a member of a local paper's sports staff, demonstrated this when she became the bride of Silas Newton, reputed to be worth somewhere in the neighborhood of $40,000,000.

About eighteen months ago, Miss O'Reilly and Newton were married. Despite her husband's fortune the sports writer keeps right on working. She would have her chauffeur drive her to within a block of her office, and then she would dismiss the car and walk the remainder of the way.

Finally, one of her fellow-workers saw her getting out of the limousine and instructing the chauffeur. The reporter became curious and started a private investigation with the result that the girl's marriage was discovered. Her boss was so surprised by the news that he gave her a vacation, and today Mr. and Mrs. Newton are honeymooning somewhere in the Middle West.

South Carolina Lynching Trial Put Under Way

WALHALLA (S. C.) Nov. 3. (AP)—The State of South Carolina today began an effort to convict seventeen men, including the Mayor of this town, of participation in the lynching last spring of Allen Green, 52-year-old Negro.

Sheriff J. L. Thomas, the first witness, testified he recognized two of the defendants among the masked mob which seized the Negro and took him a short distance from the jail to a tree where he was hanged.

John Sanders and John Stevens, both of Walhalla, were named by the officer as the two he recognized.

President's Chief Job Finder Demonstrates Savings

Three More Names Added to Unemployment Advisers

John W. Flynn of Prescott, Ariz. He telegraphed he has been appointed by Gov. Phillips of Arizona as chairman of the State committee on unemployment and already has established volunteer agencies to register the unemployed.

In discussing the survey of possible construction economies, Col. Woods said the supervising architect of the Treasury reported present construction bids at various points east of the Mississippi average between 14 and 15 per cent below 1929 estimates with greater economies on smaller buildings.

Army officials, he said, reported decreases averaging about 9 per cent per cubic foot in the costs of dwellings constructed since 1929, while the Bureau of Public Roads found road-building contracts can be let in many cases at a decrease of from 10 to 15 per cent.

Meanwhile Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau, in a message to Dr. Lillian Gilbreath, in charge of the women's section of the President's emergency employment committee, urged a speeding up of relief saying: "We must get the children out of the bread lines and no child must suffer in the United States."

BRITAIN LAYS PLAN TO GIVE MILLION JOBS

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Far-reaching plans to reduce Great Britain's number of unemployed by 1,000,000 in the next twelve months have been presented to the government by David Lloyd George and his Liberal colleagues, who have been in conference with Labor Cabinet members during the Parliamentary recess. The program, in effect, is as follows:

First, reduction of production costs to a level which will enable British goods to compete successfully in world markets. This, the plan proposes, should be a reduction of roughly 10 per cent, varying in different industries.

The plan's second proposal is for government stimulation of new enterprise and industry.

Third, the Liberals suggest, encouragement of agriculture could absorb 500,000 additional workers and meantime 150,000 could be employed in reconditioning land, and building equipment.

Fourth, an intensified and accelerated program of national development and reconstruction is proposed.

DETROIT, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Hudson Motor Car Company today adopted the five-day working week as a fixed employment policy and placed its plants on that basis.

The plants have been operating with small rosters of workmen and only a few days each week in preparation for production of new models and the five-day policy was adopted coincident with the start of that production, the company announced.

CAR SHOP MEN CALLED BACK TO JOBS

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Shop employees of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad to the number of 1750, who had been temporarily laid off because of decreased business, returned to work at the Readville (Mass.) and New Haven car shops today.

SEATTLE, Nov. 3. (AP)—The award of public-works contracts valued at $4,335,383 in the Pacific Northwest during October, a gain of 31 per cent over the previous month, was announced today by Pacific Builder and Engineer. The total was 26 per cent more than October of last year.

Scientists Find Rare Fossils of Ancient Worms

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Worms, estimated by scientists to be hundreds of centuries old, are on display here.

They were found, preserved as carbonaceous matter, near Blue Island, Ill., by Bryan Patterson of the department of geology of the Field Museum, where they were placed on exhibit.

"Worms," said Patterson, "being soft-bodied creatures, are comparatively rare as fossils and usually the only traces of them are their burrows or tracks.

"To find them in abundance, pressed flat between layers of a shaley rock and preserved as a thin sheet of carbonaceous matter, as was the case in this near-by Chicago locality, is indeed a rare thing."

Film Actress Weds in Paris

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—The New York American says Diane Ellis, motion-picture actress, was married in Paris on October 14 to Stephen C. Millett, Jr., member of a socially prominent New York family.

Elizabeth Millett, sister of Mr. Millett, was the maid of honor and Edward F. Peyton Gage of the Coldstream Guards, was the best man. The alliance had the approval of the bridegroom's family, the American says.

PAVLOWA IN LEGAL DISPUTE

Terpsichorean and Her Spouse Cited for Asserted Comment on Kiss

LONDON, Nov. 2. (AP)—Anna Pavlowa, the Russian dancer, and her husband, Victor D'Andre, were named defendants today in a slander suit filed by Miss Elsa D'Arcy, one of the younger members of the dancer's troupe.

The charges, which were denied, appeared from the testimony to be in connection with a kiss which Miss D'Arcy received from M. Slavinsky, another member of the troupe, while the company was touring the Straits Settlements in 1929.

The embrace was entirely innocuous, Miss D'Arcy told the court. She and Slavinsky, she said, were discussing the news of the day when Slavinsky leaned over her quickly and kissed her on the cheek.

The plaintiff charges reports of the incident were exaggerated by Pavlowa and her husband.

Youth Accused in Girl's Death

EAST STONE GAP (Va.) Nov. 3. (AP)—The body of Bertha Hood, 17-year-old daughter of William M. Hood, postmaster here, was found near the Southern Railway tracks on the outskirts of East Stone Gap early today. She had been shot through the heart.

Earl Runion, 17 years of age, of Irondale, Va., was arrested soon afterward. Mayor Kennedy of Big Stone Gap, said Runion had confessed to Sheriff Stetns he shot the girl but maintained it was accidental.

POACHER TELLS OF R-101 CRASH

Only Eyewitness Testifies at London Hearing

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The only man who saw the tragic end of the dirigible R-101 sat in the witness chair today and told in halting English how the big ship came at him out of the night careening at a crazy angle before she crashed into the hillside near Beauvais and burst into the flames which took forty-eight lives.

Alfred Rabouille had never been away from Beauvais since his childhood before they brought him to London to tell his story. On that night when the R-101 dived to destruction he had been poaching for rabbits in the woods near the Beauvais hillside.

The dirigible, he said, seemed to be tilted at a sharp angle and heading downward when he first saw her. Her lights flashed on and off twice. Then the big ship struck the hillside, there was a loud explosion, a burst of flame and Rabouille found himself on his back in the underbrush.

"Then she bounced and seemed to go up in the air," he said. "She fell and that was the end of her."

Gray Hair Is Easily Darkened

How She Did It with a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—[Advertisement.

Gray Hair Is Easily Darkened

Now She Did It with a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair and look twenty years younger with this simple mixture, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be obtained at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and will not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—[Advertisement.

CRIMINALS COST $16,000,000,000

White House Conference Report Prepared

One Crook as Expensive as 160 Normal Boys

Playgrounds Praised by Child Welfare Body

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The opinion that every criminal in the United States costs as much "as the welfare influence on the lives of 160 normal boys," was advanced today by a youth committee in a report prepared for the White House child conference.

This conclusion was reached from estimating the annual crime bill in excess of $16,000,000,000, the annual child-welfare cost at $5,000,000,000, the number of criminals at less than 1,000,000 and that child welfare affects 50,000,000 youths.

The modern realty man, planning his subdivisions with parks and playgrounds, was hailed in the report as a benefactor to boys and girls.

Disintegration of residence areas, on the other hand, was blamed for delinquency.

City planning commission laws, like those of New York and New Jersey, to make the environment fit the child, were urged. The report will be submitted to the meeting of 1200 child experts here this month.

The committee found delinquency flourishes in neighborhoods apathetic to child activities, such as residential areas disintegrated by the onsweep of business or waves of new types of neighbors.

A scientific study of forty-one comprehensively planned real estate developments, however, was said to disclose active community interest in garden clubs, music clubs, arts and crafts clubs and other recreational groups for children.

The real estate development, the youth committee argued, "automatically brings together as residents a class of people of similar standards and similar scales of expenditure."

The committee urged creation of city planning commissions "with powers to educate subdividends regarding the financial advantages of community features in their new subdivisions;" preservation of existing neighborhoods by more careful zoning, and by a consideration of community requirements — in location of elementary schools, small parks, and major streets; extension of the number of planned residential districts through "the pressure of public opinion and the growth of enabling legislation."

HUNGER ALSO MAKES STRANGE BEDFELLOWS

When puppies and lion and panther cubs get hungry, instinctive enmity is forgotten. And Jessie, a collie at Fleishhacker Zoo, San Francisco, seems to have loads of sympathy for the hungry little fellows, for she has taken a lion and a panther cub to her own breast, so to speak, and is raising them right along with her own litter. It seems like Mama Lioness and Mama Panther just couldn't be bothered with children, so the zoo attendants had to seek a foster mother. Jessie fills the bill. [P. & A. photo]

COLON (Panama) Nov. 3. (AP)—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist, arrived today from New York and immediately visited adherents of her Four-Square Gospel.

She recently has been in the White Mountains of New Hampshire, but decided to take a tropical cruise and return to California by way of the Panama Canal. She will continue to Los Angeles the 14th inst.

The evangelist is accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Margaret Smith, and the latter's young son.

Driverless Car Perils Women

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Lives of five wealthy San Francisco women were endangered today when the driverless car in which they were sitting ran away on a steep hill and crashed into a building.

Mrs. George T. Davis suffered a broken nose and Mrs. M. Friedlander was cut by broken glass. The others were not injured. The chauffeur had left the wheel of the car, owned by Mrs. Simon Erlanger, to open the door for the women to get out. It started down the hill, gained speed and crashed into a building more than a block away.

Academy Lauds Power Inventor

PARIS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Prof. Georges Claude, who recently demonstrated a method of generating electric power from contrasting gulf temperatures off the coast of Cuba, received an ovation today as he appeared before the Academy of Sciences.

Prof. Claude explained his experiment in full, using motion pictures to illustrate the sinking of a great tube in Matanzas Bay. At the conclusion he was warmly congratulated in the name of the entire academy by the president, Leon Lecornu.

TARDIEU FACING BITTER ATTACK

Parliament Will Assemble in Paris Today

Opposition Continues in Custer Efforts

Situation Worse Now Than Last Year

PARIS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Premier Tardieu will face another bitter attack form the opposition in the Chamber of Deputies when Parliament assembles tomorrow.

The Radical party, the strongest in the Chamber, which pronounced against him just before the reopening of Parliament a year ago, has reasserted its opposition and will continue its attempts to overthrow him.

The situation has changed since Tardieu interrupted the battle last July by putting an end to the session. All the old grudges are held against him by his political enemies and some new ones have developed.

QUESTIONS FACED

The questions hanging over from the preceding session include the sanctions taken by the government against the postal employees who struck last summer; the government project to spend 17,000,000,000 francs in five years on public improvements; the financial policies of the government, and Premier Tardieu's personal action as Minister of the Interior in transferring a number of prefects.

The general opinion is Tardieu would ordinarily win in a final showdown with the Radical and Socialist opposition, but now he is in a new dilemma. Part of his regular majority, since the German elections and the outburst by Hitler at Leipsic, has expressed determined opposition to Briand as Minister of Foreign Affairs.

BRIAND CALLED WEAK

They criticise Briand's German policy as needlessly weak, and as bringing consequences quite opposite to those which he promised.

Should Tardieu insist upon keeping Briand in the Cabinet, it is said, he is likely to lose a number of Moderate and Conservative votes. Should he not defend his Minister of Foreign Affairs, he would lose a considerable number of votes in the Radical Left and independent Radical groups. His margin is so small it might disappear in either eventuality.

You are Paying for a Packard
Why not own one?

-one of The New and Finer PACKARD STANDARD EIGHTS

THE New Packard Standard Eight—refined and improved, but not radically changed—is the finest and most luxurious car of its size Packard has ever offered.

All the resources of more than thirty years of exclusive quality-car building, all the experience of eight years of eight-cylinder motor development, have been focused upon the new series Standard Eight. And it emerges as "fine gold refined"—a fine car made finer still.

Traditional beauty of line, of course, has been preserved — for Packard does not believe in depreciating the appearance of cars in the hands of owners by periodic and unnecessary changes. But the bodies — Packard designed and built—have been improved in construction and beautified in detail until they stand as the final word in luxury. Shatter-proof glass, new interior comforts and conveniences, are included.

The famous Standard eight-in-line motor has been given greater power through improved carburetion and manifolding—with a new measure of brilliant performance as the result.

Longer, softer springs and new shock absorbers provide greater riding ease. Conversion of the four-speed transmission to the quiet "short-shift" type permits greater ease in driving. While ease of daily chassis care is attained through an entirely automatic system of lubrication. These are but a few of the many added refinements and conveniences.

If you are driving a car similar in size and power to the Packard Standard Eight you are paying for new Packard luxury and distinction without enjoying their advantages. Why not, then, have the Packard?

Packard operating costs are no greater, you will admit. Depreciation, the one important cost of car ownership, is no greater either—if you but drive the Packard longer than is your custom with lesser cars. Records show that most Packard owners keep their cars twice as long as the ones they traded in.

Packard Standard Eight prices at the factory range from $2385 to $3465. Your present car, if of average value, will make or exceed the down payment on the model of your choice. The remainder can be arranged in convenient monthly payments.

May we demonstrate the Packard Eight—and ownership costs—without, of course, any obligation to you?

Two Seriously Burned When Gas Purifier Explodes

Hatch-top Removal Followed by Stream of Fire

A. W. Brewer and Robert Hughes Worst Injured

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—Caught in a stream of fire which spouted from a gas-purifying plant in the yards of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company today, seven men were burned, two of them seriously. Five of the injured were taken to Mercy Hospital and the other two were treated at the gas company's first-aid station, then sent to their homes.

The injured: Robert Hughes, 1120 E street; A. W. Brewer, 4147 Fairmount; S. R. Pierce, 2827 Boundary street; Antone Jensen, 4777 Utah street; A. C. Kratz, 3728 Franklin street; R. E. Stead, 405 Twenty-seventh street; D. R. Curtis, 905 Twentieth street, National City. Hughes and Brewer, according to Dr. E. H. Crabtree, attending physician, are severely burned on the head and body. Pierce, Jensen and Kratz were less seriously burned but were removed to the hospital, while Stead and Curtis were treated at the company's first-aid station.

The men were engaged in removing a hatch top from one of a number of purifiers when a sheet of flame shot out from the inside of the hatch.

Battalion Chief Charles Lambert, who directed the fire fighting, said he believed that spontaneous combustion caused the fire. No material property damage was done.

The hatch top which was being removed by the workmen is about twelve feet square. Inside the hatch is a large quantity of sawdust used in purifying the gas after manufacture. From some unexplained cause the sawdust became ignited and when the top of the hatch was removed, the flames shot out.

Throat Cut but San Diego Man Still Lives On

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—W. A. Broadbent, found with his throat cut from ear to ear at 4786 Brighton avenue, Ocean Beach, was taken to the County Hospital this afternoon, where it was said he was still conscious.

Police searched the room in which Broadbent was found but failed to find a weapon. A hypodermic needle was discovered under the bed and in Broadbent's pocket was an unopened pocket knife. At the hospital he refused to make any statement.

Police are searching for Broadbent's wife, who, they say, was released recently from an insane asylum at Patton.

VAN NUYS CITY HALL SAID TO BE UNSAFE

VAN NUYS, Nov. 3.—Following an inspection here by Municipal Court authorities of the Van Nuys branch of the City Hall, it is stated that a recommendation will be made to the grand jury that the building be condemned as unsafe due to poor foundation and damage from several slight earth shocks within the last three or four years.

The apparent unsafeness of the structure was called to the attention of Los Angeles authorities by Rockwell Smith, prominent local realtor and Kiwanis Club official, and the inspection by the court followed. It is not known whether effort will be made to repair the building as the proposed new City Hall to serve all of the San Fernando Valley Annex to Los Angeles is soon to be erected by funds promised by Mayor Porter and the Los Angeles City Council. The new structure will cost nearly $400,000.

MORE GRILS "PLAY HOOKEY" THAN BOYS

ONTARIO, Nov. 3.—The present days are not like the old ones used to be, according to Ray R. Delhauer, truant officer for Chaffey Union High School. Once it was the boys who bothered the truant officer mostly, by ditching school. "It isn't the boys now that give us most trouble," Delhauer said, "it's the girls. They are much worse. We haven't had very many truants, however. They don't call it hookey now—they are merely ditching classes." The truant market is much like the stock market, according to Delhauer. First it is the boys, and then the girls, that cause him the woe. But the girls manage to maintain the lead.

REDLANDS MERCHANTS TO CLOSE ON HOLIDAY

REDLANDS, Nov. 3.—The Merchants' Association of Redlands announced that its members have voted to close their stores on Armistice Day. It is reported that stores in Riverside and San Bernardino are also to be closed. The day has never been recognized as a closing day by Los Angeles stores, the association reports, but in most of the smaller cities it is.

POLICEMEN SHOOT

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 3.—Huntington Park's police pistol squad held a contest at Whittier Saturday afternoon with the Whittier police squad, in which the local squad defeated Whittier by a score of 996 to 919. The members of the local squad were Capt. Fred Estell, Officers Reeves, Coleman, Frank Haddon and Powell, and the members of the Whittier squad, Officers Lee, Wiggins, Welch, Duphin and Palmer.

PHYSICIAN HELD AT SAN DIEGO

Dr. William I. Kinsley Charged With Violation of State Poison Act

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 3.—Dr. William J. Kinsley, well-known local physician and recent candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of California, faces a charge today of violating the State Poison Act. Dr. Kinsley was arrested yesterday by an operator of the State narcotic division and a police officer, who said they had been told by a woman that Dr. Kinsley had sold a quantity of drugs illegally.

Before being placed under arrest, Kinsley was permitted to make arrangements for bail through his attorney, and his arrest was a mere formality.

"I have not violated any provisions of the State law concerning the sale and dispensation of drugs," Kinsley declared following his arrest. A woman whose name the police refused to divulge gave the information which led to his arrest.

Charles T. Paine Re-elected Head of Country Club

REDLANDS, Nov. 3.—Charles T. Paine was re-elected president of the Redlands Country Club for the year 1930-31 by the board of directors following the annual dinner and business meeting of the club held today, at which sixty members discussed plans for refinancing the organization, and officers for the ensuing year were elected.

Paine has worked hard in the interest of the club during his past administration, and the directors believed that he should serve another year in order to carry out plans that have developed during the past year. W. B. Johnson and J. Reay were re-elected vice-president and secretary, respectively, both succeeding themselves in office.

Three new directors who were elected are W. J. Hartzell, H. R. Marsh and R. M. McCulloch. The three directors automatically retiring this year are D. G. McDonald, C. F. Smith and G. M. Bartlett. In addition to the new members, the board of directors consists of Dr. M. J. Sweeney, L. Dague, W. B. Power, L. R. Gay, C. T. Paine and W. B. Johnson.

The loudest applause of the meeting was given when Paine said:

"Hats off to the women of this club who have entered into a strong spirit of friendly co-operation." He said that, in addition to working hard for the club, the women have donated eight prizes for tournaments of various descriptions. Those who were especially mentioned for generosity in giving prizes were Mrs. R. N. Dow, Mrs. D. C. Lefferts, Mrs. G. Humphrey, Mrs. G. A. Jahn, Mrs. A. T. Gage, Mrs. J. W. Simonds, Mrs. A. Leipsic and Mrs. L. L. Moore. Prizes for the women's putting contest were also donated by Mrs. S. Mason, Mrs. C. T. Paine, Mrs. L. R. Gay, Mrs. W. B. Power, Mrs. H. W. Blodgett, Mrs. G. A. Jahn and Mrs. D. C. Lefferts.

Paine expressed his sincere thanks to the board of directors for its hearty co-operation and to Mrs. G. A. Jahn for her work on the women's sports committee; to Mr. Jahn for serving in the thankless position of handicapper; to J. Reay for his work as secretary, and to Mrs. W. D. Bethell for being "house mother," and for the club benefit bridge party she held.

Accomplishment Program Told

UPLAND, Nov. 3.—A comprehensive program of achievement has been set by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and, according to Clair E. Kirk, secretary, committees have been named to carry each project to success.

The chamber seeks a new Santa Fe station; desires an ordinance to prohibit the promiscuous throwing of handbills and other advertising matter about lawns and porches; and wants faster service between here and Los Angeles on the Pacific Electric Railway.

The Santa Fe station is antediluvian in architecture and no beauty spot in Upland, the directors contend. They base their request for the new station on the great volume of citrus fruit business the railroad handles annually here.

Too many firms are littering lawns with handbills, the directors declare, and their object is to put a halt to the practice.

One hour's running time between here and Los Angeles on the Pacific Electric is the schedule the directors are requesting the railway officials to establish.

CHINO TO VOTE ON GYMNASIUM BONDS

CHINO, Nov. 3.—Voters of Chino will be given the opportunity to express their wishes for a new gymnasium for the students of Chino High School, who have never had an adequate place for athletics. Members of the Board of Education have decided to ask the voters to favor a $15,000 bond issue to be retired in three years, for construction of the gymnasium building. Plans now under consideration would have the election this month, and if the issue is successfully carried, work on the building would be started in December. The direct tax method was considered, but was tabled in favor of the bond issue plan. In the past voters have been called upon to vote on the question of a gymnasium bond issue, but the issue has not yet carried. School officials believe the voting public is now receptive to such a proposal. Chino High School basketball team must play its games elsewhere due to having no gymnasium here.

GUILT PLEA IN MURDER CASE MADE

Joseph A. Vice Waives Right to Counsel When Brought Into Court

VENTURA, Nov. 3.—Joseph Arthur Vice, 28-year-old local painter, pleaded guilty today in Superior Court to the brutal murder of Mrs. Pauline McLeold, 50, hotel proprietress, in her room at the Hotel Washington last Friday night.

Vice's plea came just at noon today, after he had been bound over without bail to the higher tribunal by Justice of the Peace Malvern-Dimmick at Vice's preliminary hearing in Justice Court.

The confessed slayer, quiet and apparently resigned to his fate, told Superior Judge Edward Henderson it was "not necessary" for the latter to appoint an attorney for him.

With the consent of Vice, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock was set as time for pronouncement of judgment. Witnesses will be called to testify at that time for the court to determine the degree of murder, which will have direct bearing on the sentence.

JAIL TO BE PAINTED

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 3.—The interior of the City Jail is to be painted red, white and blue, when the decorations are completed, according to Chief of Police Will Hultquist. The floor has been painted a bright red, and the windows and sills are blue in color. White paint is being used for the cells, ceiling and the walls.

Broker Accuses Title Company

BURBANK, Nov. 3.—Burbank realty traders are complaining that some Los Angeles title companies are not meeting their moral obligations in backing up their official documents, and this has led the local Real Estate Board to go on record with a resolution condemning such an asserted state of affairs.

The matter was brought before the board by J. E. Newcomer, a local realty dealer, who stated a certain title company fell back on a technicality which caused Newcomer a loss of $200 in one of his real estate transactions. Newcomer stated he entered into a real estate contract only to find later there was a mistake in the certificate which represented a loss of $200 to him. The local board is investigating Newcomer's assertions, which, if found correct, will be followed by peremptory action, it is stated.

NEW POLICE CHIEF NAMED

Arcadia City Council Appoints Louis J. Richards, Member of Force, to Succeed A. N. Coberly

ARCADIA, Nov. 3.—Louis Jack Richards, for three years a member of the Arcadia Police Department, today assumed the temporary office of Chief of Police, succeeding A. N. Coberly, who was dismissed by the City Council two weeks ago.

Chief Richards became a member of the local police staff August 7, 1927, and previous to that was a member of the Pomona Police Department. Subsequently he was associated with a large steamship company in South America. His appointment to succeed Coberly was made last Saturday at a special session of the City Council.

Chief Richards has long been active in Boy Scout work and at the present is Scoutmaster of Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts, of this city. He is also a prominent member of Glenn Dyer Post, American Legion, of this city, and the Rotary Club.

Ex-Chief Coberly is now away on a delayed two weeks' vacation. Petitions placed in circulation by his followers, for the recall of Mayor Walshe and Councilmen Bolz and Seaman, following his dismissal, will be submitted at the Council session Wednesday night, it was understood today. However, the number of signatures could not be ascertained, and whether the recall will be carried out or not is not yet known.

Orchard Heater Plant Has Fire

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 3.—Flames gutted the east section of the Keesee Manufacturing Company's building on Belgrave street this afternoon, the damage being estimated by W. E. Keesee at $6000. Insurance was carried. This portion of the building had been rented to the Jessen Orchard Heater Company for one month for treatment of peach pits with paraffin. The pits were being removed when a paraffin tank boiled over, destroying the pits and gutting the building, together with four trucks. The damaged section of the plant will be rebuilt at once.

REAL "WESTERN" AWAITED

Romance and Colorful History of Imperial Valley to Be Depicted This Week at Fairgrounds

IMPERIAL, Nov. 3.—Romance and colorful history of California's famous Imperial Valley will hold the center of the stage when "The Desert Calls," an outdoor drama presented by the entire community, is given at the Imperial county fair grounds on the evenings of Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Financed and backed by the chambers of commerce of the cities of Brawley, Calexico, Calipatria, El Centro, Holtville, Seeley and Westmoreland, the Imperial Valley Pageant Society, incorporated as a nonprofit association, is sponsoring the pageant. A cast of more than 300 Imperial Valley residents will take part.

A setting, which will recreate such desert landmarks as Imperial Valley's famous Mt. Signal, the picturesque sand hills and the Colorado River—shown first as an angry torrent and later as a huge dragon—will be used. A swirling desert sandstorm, a driving torrent of rain, and the break in the Colorado which threatened the pioneer settlers, will be reproduced upon the 1000-foot stage.

Indians, scouts, Spanish senoritas, men and women—many of them real pioneers—cowboys, soldiers, horses, mules, oxen, old stage coaches and covered wagons, will contribute variety and color to the performance. A train, loaded with rock for stopping the river's break, will be used during the exciting climax, which recalls scenes of the valley's construction period.

PHIL WHITING DIRECTS

Phil Whiting, producer of the Ramona pageant at Hemet and many other noted outdoor plays, has been secured by the pageant society to act as director of "The Desert Calls." Music, especially composed for this drama, has been written by Fannie Charles Dillon, California composer.

Highlights of authentic history, which it is the purpose of Imperial Valley's outdoor play to gather together and preserve, develop the story. Beginning in the centuries when prehistoric Indians of a race long vanished struggled against the implacable desert's shifting sands, man is first shown fighting for life itself.

The scene changes and Father Francisco Garces, Franciscan priest, who was one of the first white men to see the possibilities of reclaiming the Colorado Desert, will be shown with a caravan of Spanish soldiers, en route across Imperial Valley from Mexico to the Mission San Gabriel. The Presidio at Tubac will furnish the background for the start of this expedition, led by De Anza, and desert tragedies along the De Anza trail will be enacted.

The massacre of the whites at Yuma by the Indians will be depicted. Kearney and his United States dragoons will be seen crossing Imperial Valley to the relief of San Diego, whose citizens had asked Congress for protection against threatened trouble from Mexico. The days of the gold rush and the Butterfield stages will come next, bringing the first act to its close.

DRAMATIC CONTRASTS SEEN

Act II will furnish dramatic contrast as the story of Imperial Valley's reclamation is developed. The dreams, disappointments and accomplishments of such men as C. R. Rockwood, who first held the irrigation of this territory by the waters of the Colorado River to be practical, will be portrayed.

The arrival of the settlers, humorous incidents of their lives, and the menace of utter destruction to their homes and property by the Colorado, after the fight with the desert seemed almost won, lead up to the stirring climax where the entire population of the valley, aided at the critical time by the resources of the Southern Pacific Railroad, wins the battle and closes the break in the river.

Foreshadowing the future, Act III brings the play to a dramatic close, showing an episode fifteen years from now when the cycle of desert conquest, begun in prehistoric times, ends in complete triumph for man.

ESCAPING GAS BURNS POMONAN

Mrs. Goldie Sherman Uses Match in Hunt for Light Switch; Explosion Ensues

POMONA, Nov. 3.—Escaping gas from a jet in her bedroom, early this morning exploded when Mrs. Goldie Sherman, 50 years of age, of 1682 North Park avenue, struck a match to find a light switch, and as a result, she is in the Pomona Community Hospital suffering from third-degree burns about the face, head and arms, and severe nervous shock, while the north wall of the dwelling was bulged outward very noticeably.

Investigation by firemen disclosed that at 3:45 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Sherman, desiring to read a magazine, fumbled for the light switch and, not being able to locate it, struck a match. Flames immediately enveloped the woman and filled the room, but she managed to run from the room after suffering serious burns.

A quick run by the fire department prevented total destruction of the house, owned by E. T. Palmer.

Azusa's Citrus Crop Larger

AZUSA, Nov. 3.—From present indications the 1931 crop of oranges will exceed the 1930 yield by a substantial margin, roughly estimated at 500 cars by local growers. Although the 1930 crop of oranges was not as large as last year's record production, it will bring growers operating through the A.C.G. Fruit Exchange, a sum in excess of $3,000,000.

Total shipments of oranges and lemons from the Azusa-Covina-Irwindale district groves through the local exchange this year, aggregated 1350 carloads, including 500 carloads of navels, 825 cars of Valencias and twenty-five cars of lemons.

Oranges of this season's crops were of medium size, while last year's record yield was of small sizes.

It is estimated that the citrus crop from the Azusa district next year will approximate 1850 carloads, or 500 carloads more than this year.

In the meantime Council will call a special election for the road bond issue. Proposed improvements on which protests were to be heard, included Vermont, Wabash, Michigan and Vista Bonita avenues.

WORK ON FACTORY UNDER WAY

Piledriving Begins For 5,000,000 Plate. Glass Plant at Santa Ana

SANTA ANA, Nov. 3.—First work leading to the construction here of the $5,000,000 Pittsburgh plate-glass factory on the company's sixty-acre site at Bristol and Fairview streets was begun today. A piledriver and other equipment necessary for the sinking of twenty-four test piles by the Raymond Concrete Pile Company of Los Angeles, with A. P. Rambo in charge, was on the property and under operation.

Eight men are employed in the pile-driving crew, the first workers on a pay roll which is expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars and representing one of the foremost industrial plants in Southern California. The purpose of the pile-driving operations, expected to require several weeks to complete, is to determine the exact formations underlying the site so that specifications may be drawn up for the guidance of firms who may desire to bid on the foundation construction job.

The general contract has been let to Stone & Webster, but it is understood by Rambo that a subcontract is to be let for the foundation. Great care must be taken in the building of the foundation because of the exact levels required for the polishing tables of the huge plant, Rambo said. An official of the glass company who was in Los Angeles last week told a Santa Ana man that, "Just before or just after January 1 you may expect operations on the Santa Ana plant in a big way."

The piles will be driven in all sections of the tract and will be twenty-five to thirty feet deep, depending upon the formations encountered, Rambo said.

Ontario Flower Show Will Be on Monday

ONTARIO, Nov. 3.—Ontario's annual flower show and distribution of prizes in the Homes Beautiful contest which has been in force throughout the summer, is to be held at the Woman's clubhouse in West B street, the 10th inst. Mrs. Ralph L. Alexander, chairman of the garden section of the Woman's Club, sponsors of the contest, announced today.

The flower show and prize distribution promises to be quite an event for the community, according to the plans being drawn up by Mrs. Alexander and her committee.

A total of forty-two prizes will be awarded to the 120 contestants who entered their yards and gardens in the contest. The city was divided into four districts, and an equal number of prizes are to be given the winners in each district, with special sweepstakes prize for the best front yard in Ontario, and another for the best back yard in the city.

The committee of judges who made frequent tours of the entries during the summer includes Mrs. H. R. Stanford of this city, J. M. Paige of Pomona, and Douglas Black, Claremont. Following the naming of the prize winners, a musical program will be provided, and pictures of the winning gardens and yards may be thrown on the screen. A tour of the winning places will be made by the women of the club and others interested shortly after the prizes have been announced.

Last year's front-yard sweepstakes prize, a sun dial, was captured by O. A. Henderson, 703 East H street, and the backyard sweepstakes prize went to Mrs. Marie Metz, 1316 North Euclid avenue.

Oil-Exploration Permits Voided

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 3.—More than 250,000 acres within the Santa Barbara National Forest, which last year were covered by government oil-exploration permits, have been cleared of these incumbrances, and are back in forest reserve, free of all permit obligations. Forest headquarters have completed a map indicating the lands formerly held under permit, and a survey of all these various parcels of land show that a large number of permits holders failed to make any effort to meet the requirements called for by the government.

The permits have now all been canceled, and only in one or two instances are lands still held by the permittee claimants. One of these areas is below Gibraltar Dam on the Santa Ynez River, where the Pacific Western has a lease, and has done the required amount of exploration work to hold the permit. The company's well has been drilled to below 1800 feet and has been standing idle for a number of months awaiting more favorable oil market conditions.

It is announced that with the cancellation of exploration permits, all government land has been withdrawn for the time being from further exploration, which leaves the large acreage within the Santa Barbara National Forest free of such claims.

FINAL VERMONT LINK APPROVED

Supervisors Vote to Acquire Right of Way

Avenue Will Extend From Mountains to Sea

Procedure Fulfills Dream Nineteen Years Old

Completion of the final link in the improvement of Vermont avenue to make it a great arterial highway from the mountains to the sea, was assured yesterday when the Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution of intention to acquire a right of way for opening and widening the street from Riverside-Colorado Boulevard to a point north of Anaheim Road.

The resolution also carries with it the resolution of the necessary right of way of extending Normandie avenue for half a mile from its present ending at Weston street on the Los Angeles city boundary to a point due north to Anaheim Road where it will converge with Vermont avenue.

DREAM REALIZED

Thus the realization of a dream of progressive city builders in Los Angeles is about to take place, according to Councilman Henning of San Pedro, who appeared before the board of yesterday and spoke in behalf of the resolution.

"Nineteen years ago," Henning declared, "a school-teacher at one of the public schools on Vermont avenue had her pupils write postcards, to send to their relatives and friends back East, informing them that their school was soon to be on the longest highway in the world, extending from the mountains to the sea. We were dreaming of it then and all these years that followed."

BENNETT OPPOSES

Walter E. Bennett, who declared he represented property in the district, opposed the opening.

The improvement of Normandie avenue calls for a 100-foot wide roadway. That of Vermont is eighty feet wide. The acquisition of the right of way will cost $123,000, officials said. The construction estimate will be announced later.

The resolution of intention was adopted on motion of Supervisor Shaw who declared the improvement is badly needed.

Completion of the project will be carried out under the Mattoon Act, officially known as the Acquisition and Improvement Act of 1925. When finished it will make one of the longest streets in the world, extending from Los Feliz Boulevard in Hollywood to the ocean.

LOST DAUGHTERS HUNTED BY POLICE

TWO GIRLS PUT ON LIST OF MISSING

Police Watch Harbor as Clews Point to Plans for Ending Life

Two 16-year-old girls, one of whom had left her home wearing only pajamas after writing a note that she was going where "pajamas are not needed," are being sought by police. Athelie Van Leuven, the writer of the note, had been ill and her parents, who live in Artesia, fear she intended to end her life. She left her home October 31.

Grace Nicassio, the other missing girl, started from her home, 1662 East Twenty-third street, for the Fourteenth-street school October 30. She did not arrive at the school and her father, Elito Nicassio, fears she has come to harm.

Belief that Anna Marie Vassar, 17, reported missing last Friday night from the home of her sister, Mrs. Lillian Vassar Holliday, 1026½ South Budlong avenue, may have sought to take her life resulted in Sheriff's office investigators yesterday keeping a close watch at Los Angeles Harbor.

Possibility that the girl may have jumped into the ocean at the harbor was set forth in a Sheriff's report disclosing that she announced this as her intention to F. X. Belongeay, sailor of the U.S.S. California, who had given the girl a ride in his automobile to San Pedro. Belongeay, according to the report, stated that on leaving him the girl had given him a gold ring as a remembrance.

Pioneer to Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Mrs. James W. Grayson, pioneer resident of Los Angeles who died of a heart attack Sunday night at her home, 831 South Flower street, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at the chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor, 1031 South Grand avenue. Interment will be in Rosedale Cemetery.

Mrs. Grayson was 82 years of age and came here seventy years ago from England, where she was born. Her husband died a year ago. She leaves one son, C. W. Grayson, and one daughter, Mrs. William Letts, both of Los Angeles.

Cooler Weather Expected Today

Somewhat cooler weather may be expected today or tomorrow, according to the Weather Bureau, and it is predicted that the humidity will be higher.

Yesterday's peak was reached shortly before noon when the mercury rose to 91 deg. The average of November high temperatures is 72. The humidity at noon was 16 per cent against a November average of 40.

Pun Punctuates Divorce Decree

Pundits pun, Superior Judge Burnell proved yesterday while granting Mrs. Anna G. Burden a divorce from Alan Erie Burden. The wife complained that her husband carried on "an unseemly affair" with another woman from whom he received endearing letters and that he remained out at night associating with her.

"You want to get rid of your Burden?" smiled Judge Burnell, and gave her a decree.

FITTS TO QUASH MACKAY CHARGE

Former Aide of Keyes Will Escape Retrial

Was Accused of Accepting Lasker Bribe

Reversal in Davis Case Basis of Action

Donald MacKay, chief trial deputy under former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, tomorrow may be freed from a cloud of suspicion that has been cast about his reputation for the last two years, when Robert P. Stewart, chief deputy under Dist.-Atty. Fitts, will appear before Superior Judge Schauer and ask that a bribery charge against MacKay be dismissed in view of the recent ruling of the Supreme Court in the Harold L. Davis case.

Davis was convicted upon testimony of Ben Getzoff, State's witness in the Julian bribery cases. The Supreme Court held that Getzoff's testimony was that of an accomplice, and, therefore, without corroboration, was insufficient to convict. Inasmuch as Getzoff was the principal witness against MacKay, who is accused of accepting a bribe from A. I. Lasker, auto finance promoter, to dismiss a case against him in 1928, the District Attorney has decided to request dismissal because of the Davis decision.

MacKay was tried once on the bribery charge, but the jury failed to agree and was discharged. His retrial has been pending since, awaiting the higher court decision in the Davis case.

Since the date of his indictment, MacKay has maintained that he is innocent of the charge, asserting that he was named by witnesses who sought only to obtain favor for themselves.

NEW CHARGE DIRECTED AT R. M. CANNON

Hotel in Bay City Adds to Check Accusations Aimed at Son of Bishop

A new warrant charging issuance of a worthless check was awaiting service yesterday on Richard M. Cannon, son of Bishop James R. Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, as the result of action taken by a hotel in San Francisco.

Cannon has been sought since early last month on charges concerning checks assertedly worthless totaling more than $1600, but service has been delayed on account of his absence in Washington, D. C., where he journeyed to visit his father.

Authorities at El Monte, where the warrants are accumulating, have been unable to locate Cannon, and said yesterday that they have been informed that he has not yet returned to Southern California.

When informed in Washington of the issuance of earlier warrants and the return from the bank of his checks marked "no funds," Cannon asserted that the charges against him will be answered "satisfactorily at the proper time and place."

Officials of the El Monte Military School, formerly operated by Cannon, and who some two months ago purchased the institution, assert that they have been receiving "no-funds" checks from various places that bear the signature of Cannon. Some of them, they assert, were written while the son of the bishop was en route to Washington.

Cannon has charged that he has been made the target of attacks because he is a son of Bishop Cannon. About a year ago similar charges on checks were settled for Cannon when his father arrived here to straighten out affairs in connection with a school he was conducting at La Crescenta.

Flood Control Legal Contract Action Delayed

Members of the Board of Supervisors yesterday agreed to continue for sixty days the contract of Attorney Vincent Morgan of the law firm of Hill, Morgan & Bledsoe, as special counsel for the flood-control district. The firm has been employed by the county for the past ten years at an annual retainer of $12,000. Attorney Morgan, however, handled the work.

As the time approached for renewal of the contract opposition to such action developed on the part of some of the members. It was agreed to put the matter over for sixty days to let the new board, organized after the election, act.

Are You Protecting Your Income?

In this prolonged period of "cheap money", many people are faced with the problem of placing their investment funds where they will earn an adequate and dependable income. Many people have money for reinvestment, but they cannot afford to have their incomes reduced, nor can they afford to jeopardize their principal. Their problem, therefore, is to find an unquestionably sound, time-tested investment that will give them a sure return of as much as 6%.

Thousands of private investors, as well as numerous banks, insurance companies, and other institutions throughout the United States and in foreign countries, are finding a satisfactory solution to that problem through the purchase of our Insured First Mortgage Certificates on a 6% basis.

Why not protect your income as well as your principal by placing your funds in these Certificates now?

An investment in these Certificates produces the highest possible yield consistent with the exceptional protection provided, as shown by a comparison with securities of comparable strength.

For the benefit of those who may not be familiar with the important advantages of this form of investment, we summarize the following outstanding features:

The Security Feature

Having originated these Certificates to meet the highest requirements of institutional investment, it was necessary to devise a loaning system of extreme conservatism. The principles and policies of this system, from which we have never deviated, were adopted seventeen years ago, and stand today as they have stood through peace and war, prosperity and depression, are the ultimate protection for the investor. First-lien loans are made only on select improved real estate, and never exceed 50% of the uniformly low appraisal values. Thus, Certificate owners are protected by prime underlying security (widely diversified geographically and otherwise) having a sound value of more than twice the face value of their holdings.

The Insurance Feature

These Certificates are further protected by the fact that every lien back of them is accompanied by a policy of insurance against any loss of either principal or interest. These policies are issued by this Company under the Mortgage Insurance Law of California. Back of them are the Campany's capital, surplus and undivided profit of more than nine million dollars.

The Freedom-From-Care Feature

As these Certificates are not bought and sold on the exchange, they are not subject to the fluctuation of listed securities, and holders have no occasion to worry about the ups and downs of the market. While the Certificates are, in effect, fractional liens (representing actual, pro rata ownership of the liens deposited in trust for Certificate holders), all legal and technical details in connection with the executing of liens, collection of interest, supervision of property, etc., are handled by the Company, and Certificate holders are therefore completely free from care and responsibility of any nature.

The Optional-Interest-Dates Feature

Interest is paid by check on due dates (thus obviating the clipping of coupons) either quarterly or semi-annually, at the option of the investor. Moreover, interest begins to accrue the very day on which Certificates are purchased. Hence, these Certificates are adaptable to any investment program at any time.

The Legal-for-Savings Feature

These Certificates are legal investment for State and Savings Banks, trust companies, insurance companies, trust estates, etc. They are widely purchased for institutional requirements, in amounts ranging up to $1,000,000.00 and more.

The Convenience Feature

These Certificates may be obtained in convenient maturities and in denominations of $100.00 and multiples thereof, enabling the investor to keep his fund closely invested and thus avoid interest losses. Moreover, they are registerable and therefore replaceable in the event of loss or destruction. Investors who desire to put their holdings away and "forget" them, may do so with a perfectly free mind, and may even arrange to have their funds re-invested on maturity dates (at the then prevailing rate of interest) without any loss of interest.

The Sponsorship Feature

These Insured First Mortgage Certificates are originated and distributed by the Mortgage Guarantee Company—the oldest institution authorized by the State of California to insure and guarantee mortgages, the leading mortgage insurance company of the West, and one of the strongest institutions of its kind in the United States.

Inquiries are invited from all who are seeking the highest possible type of protection for both principal and income, and we shall be glad to have you call, telephone, or mail the coupon for a copy of the descriptive booklet.

BANK SEES TRADE TONE UNCHANGED

Business Activity Holds Quiet Levels of Recent Months, Says Survey

Save for seasonal development in some lines October business in Los Angeles and Southern California generally showed no appreciable change from the preceding month, the fall upturn being less vigorous than usual and activity in practically all lines less than in October last year, according to the summary of the Security-First National Bank issued yesterday.

"The decline in local business activity which has lasted more than a year and the retrenchment of manufacturers during that time would seem to have gone a long way toward placing industry in Southern California on a basis where production is fairly well adjusted to consumption," the report states. "Manufacturing activity during October, however, showed no fundamental change from that of September. Most firms reported activity as being less than in October, 1929. Industrial employment has been held at relatively stable levels in recent months but has declined about 20 per cent compared with last year.

"Distribution of goods at both wholesale and retail during October continued at approximately the levels of last month and was less than in October, 1929. For the period from January 1 to November 1, 1930, the dollar volume of department-store sales in Los Angeles and in Southern California generally, was approximately 6 per cent under the corresponding period of 1929.

"The strong position of the banking structure is a favorable element in the present business outlook. Small declines in deposits, loans and investments characterized the banking situation in Los Angeles during October compared with September. When comparison is made with October, 1929, slight increases occurred in deposits and investments and a decrease in loans during the current period."

SHELL EXPANSION COSTLY

Nine Months' Net Income 95 Per Cent Less Than Year Ago; Fixed Charges Up 135 Per Cent

BY EARLE E. CROWE

While the Shell Union Oil Corporation is away to a running head start over American companies in the operation of an oil business on a nation-wide scale, the cost of this coast-to-coast drive has plainly impaired the financial efficiency of the Royal Dutch-Shell's subsidiary in this country.

Hardly had Shell Union completed the framework of its expansion by the building of eastern refineries, pipe lines and retail outlets when the petroleum industry ran into a price-cutting orgy and the general business depression. Gross revenues declined, fixed charges substantially increased through new financing, and net income dwindled away.

In the third quarter of this year the company reported net income before Federal income taxes and preferred dividends of only $1,107,-659, compared with $9,172,746 a year ago.

DECLINE MARKED

Nine months' earnings tell the story much more clearly. In the first quarter Shell Union reported a net loss of $3,155,008.42 before taxes; in the second a net profit of $2,874,031.96, making total net income for the nine months, including the third quarter's results, of $826,683.

A year ago the company reported net for the nine months of $18,-682,406. The decline this year has amounted to $17,855,723, or 95 per cent.

Earnings for the nine months, moreover, did not cover dividends on the preferred stock. The total dividend charge was $1,650,000, leaving a deficit after payment of the dividends of $823,317.

In the surplus account is where the difficulties of Shell Union are fully reflected. At the beginning of the year the surplus stood at $35,-265,642.25, but after payment of two dividends on the common and three on the preferred, the account shows a decline for the nine months of $9,972,184.12. Surplus of $25,293,-458.13 as of September 30, last, is an amount, however, that not many other oil companies can equal.

FIXED CHARGES SOAR

If it were not for the financing last year to provide funds for the eastern expansion program, Shell Union probably would have worried through as other large companies have without passing common stock dividends. Approximately $120,000,-000 has been raised by Shell Union through the sale of securities in the last two years, culminating in the offering in September, 1929, of $50,000,000 5 per cent debentures.

Cost of the financing late last year has swelled interest charges on the funded debt by 135 per cent. In the first nine months of 1929 interest charges totaled $2,015,-637.18. For the same period of this year the total was $4,729,641.09, an increase of $2,724,008.91.

Since Shell Union passed its dividend on the common, the decline in net income has been explained occasionally by extra heavy charges to depreciation, etc., to make net income look worse than it actually is. As a matter of fact, the charges for depreciation, depletion, and drilling costs for the nine months of this year are $392,000 less than in the same period of 1929.

A.I.B. Chapter in New Offices

New quarters of the Los Angeles chapter, American Institute of Banking, in the Bankers' Building, were dedicated last night. There are nine class rooms on two floors with the administration office and lounge rooms occupying spacious quarters on the second floor. The office of the official publication Southern California Banker is also located on this floor.

During the evening dedication program, Harrol R. Smith, president of the local chapter during the present fiscal year, introduced C. E. Lones as chairman of the housing committee who officially presented the new chapter rooms to the membership.

Coca-Cola Net Earnings Gain

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (Exclusive) Coca-Cola Company reported today September quarter net profits of $4,899,091 after charges, but before Federal income-tax reserves, against $4,661,321 in the third quarter of 1929.

Net profits for the nine months ended September 30, amounted to $12,080,903, against $11,153,285 for the same period a year ago. Capital stock consists of 1,000,000 no-par Class A shares and 1,000,000 no-par common shares. Quarterly dividends of $1.50 on the common and semiannual dividends of $1.50 on the Class A were declared.

Gasoline Price Cut in Detroit

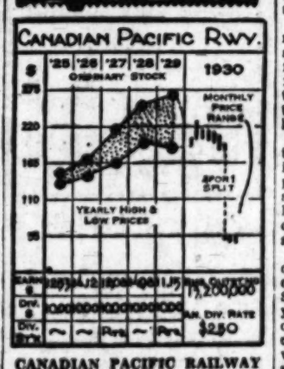
DETROIT, Nov. 3. — Three major oil companies here reduced the price of gasoline today to 12.5 cents a gallon, or eight gallons for $1, from 14.3 cents a gallon. White Star Refining, Cities Service Oil Company and Indian Refining Company were among those making the reduction.

Sunny Service Oil Company, an independent chain of twenty-five stations, has reduced the price to nine gallons for $1. Other major companies, including Standard Oil Company of Indiana, are expected to meet the competition.

BOND OUTLOOK GOOD

Pointing out that it now appears reasonably certain that easy money will prevail at least well through 1931, Dean Witter & Co.'s Investment Quarterly, just issued, holds this factor alone is sufficient to justify an optimistic attitude toward the bond market.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

The lines of this largest privately-owned railroad in Canada extend from St. John and Halifax on the Atlantic Ocean to Vancouver on the West Coast, and practically every important Canadian city in the interior is served. Besides its mileage north of the boundary, the company operates or controls about 5000 miles of track in the United States, its lines extending to Minneapolis, Chicago, Boston and other important railroad centers in the northern States. Large investments are carried in a number of Canadian enterprises which furnish considerable traffic to the road, such as grain elevators, a chain of hotels, eighty vessels engaged in ocean-going, coastwise and inland water trade, and several large mining and smelting companies.

Decreased crop yields in Western Canada last year brought about a shrinkage in earnings of around 26 per cent, and this downward trend has carried through into 1930 as the result of poor business condition throughout the territory served. Net income for the first eight months was off about 30 per cent from the corresponding total for the 1929 period.

General Bronze Omits Dividend

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Directors of General Bronze Corporation omitted today the quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago the corporation reduced its common dividend from 50 cents to 25 cents quarterly.

A statement by the company said recent weeks have not produced "the hoped-for expansion in building construction and injurious competition continues for the reduced amount of architectural metal business." The statement added the company is developing new equipment and new methods as well as new lines of products.

Sales of Mail Order Unit Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Montgomery Ward & Co., today reported October sales of $30,092,894, an increase of 41 per cent over September, but a decrease of about 6½ per cent compared with the same month in 1929.

Sales in September, 1930, were $21,-332,576 and in October, 1929, $32,-181,217. During the first ten months of this year sales were $221,246,015, or $4,633,987 less than during the same period in 1929, a decrease of 2.05 per cent.

B. Frank Harron, formerly manager of the Pico and Bronson branch of the Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank, has been appointed manager of the Seventh and Alvarado branch, succeeding Earle R. Hilbert, who was recently elected junior vice-president and transferred to the Central Manufacturing District branch as manager. Herbert D. Ivey, president, announced yesterday. Howard N. Weigand has been appointed manager of the Pico and Bronson branch and C. E. Perkins appointed assistant manager of the Plaza branch.

ASSOCIATED OIL PROFITS SHADE OFF

Third-Quarter Decline in Earnings Attributed to Gasoline War

Associated Oil Company and wholly owned subsidiaries reported yesterday consolidated net profits for nine months ended September 30 of $4,896,561.55 after all charges, including taxes, equal to $3.01 a share on 2,290,412 common shares outstanding, against $5,313,292.67, or $2.32 a share for the same period a year ago.

Net earnings for the first six months this year, according to the statement, were larger than in the first half of 1929, while net profits for the third quarter fell below those of a year ago, due to the disturbance of the retail gasoline market in July.

Domestic gasoline sales continued to increase over corresponding periods of last year, although the company curtailed to a marked degree its shipments of gasoline to the Atlantic seaboard rather than make deliveries on an unprofitable basis, according to the report.

State taxable gasoline figures recently reported showed that Associated increased its sales in the State over the second quarter this year by 6,296,781 gallons, or 23.1 per cent, the largest gain of any major company over the period. Compared with the third quarter of 1929 its sales increased 8,798,993 gallons, or 35.6 per cent.

The company also reported a decrease of $10,696,491.33 in total sales, due chiefly to the curtailment of shipments to the Atlantic seaboard and decrease in fuel oil sales, due to competition of natural gas transported from the oil fields by pipe line.

Pacific Gas to Liquidate Liens of Subsidiaries

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Another step in the program of Pacific Gas and Electric Company to retire as rapidly as possible the funded debt of subsidiary companies will be taken on January 1 when the outstanding bonds of Feather River Power Company and Modesto Gas Company will be paid off. The operation will be effected out of cash on hand, no new financing being necessary.

Officials of Pacific Gas announced today the directors have voted to redeem the $5,390,000 of outstanding Feather River Power first mortgage 6 per cent bonds on January 1. Being a serial issue, part of the bonds mature on January 1, 1931, and consequently will be paid off at par, while the others are redeemable at a premium of ½ per cent of their unexpired term. Control of this company was acquired last March when San Joaquin Light and Power, Great Western Power and Midland Counties Public Service were bought from the North American Company.

There are only $154,000 of Modesto Gas Company first mortgage 6 per cent bonds due 1945 still outstanding in the hands of the public, and they will be retired on January 1, next, at 105. Pacific Gas owns 76 per cent of the common stock of this company.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—An early advance in cotton, promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and favorable reports from the dry goods trade, was followed today by partial reactions under some southern and local selling which may have been promoted by the easier ruling of wheat.

Business was comparativeir quiet, however, and there seemed enough buying on the setbacks to give the market a fairly steady tone at 2 o'clock. New December was selling around 11.20 and May 11.84, or 9 to 13 points net lower.

Few Earnings Records Compiled as Offset to Montgomery Ward Report of Loss

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—When George B. Everitt, president of Montgomery Ward & Co., announced that his company had lost $3,948,000 for the first nine months of this year, it sent a chill down the backs of many investors who feared for the future of every blue-chip stock. The Montgomery Ward Company common stock dividend of 75 cents, due last week, was passed and the dividend money, nearly $3,500,000, was kept in the treasury for use in the company's program of future expansion.

But many other businesses, instead of showing a loss in net profits, are showing an increase, or at least are making an excellent showing in comparison with 1929.

Here are a few, comparing them with the 1929 record:

First nine months (000's omitted.)

	1929	1930
Beech-nut Packing	3,427	2,268
Briggs Mfg. (bodies)	3,310	4,533
Caterpillar Tractor	5,359	6,147
Corn products Refining	10,969	10,479
Diamond Match	1,977	1,499
General Foods	14,998	15,140
Hershey Chocolate	6,998	6,611
Lambert (listerine)	5,796	6,888
National Biscuit	13,978	13,999
Texas Gulf Sulphur	11,440	10,793
Union Carbide and Carbon	31,379	28,865

Not much to worry about in the above record!

M. Bata, at one time an employee in a Boston shoe-manufacturing establishment, but now Czecho-Slovakia's outstanding manufacturer, is not discouraged by the fact that the United States has an annual capacity of 900,000,000 shoes and a demand for but one-third of that number.

For this shoe manufacturer, a foremost exponent of the mass-production methods, in the midst of the world-wide deflation, is just completing plans for forty new reinforced concrete buildings to be erected in the larger cities of Czecho-Slovakia to better take care of his ever-expanding business. This new expansion is in addition to the new six-story building which he has just completed at Carlsbad, and other new buildings at Melnik, Zvolen and Znojmo.

These buildings, in addition to being shoe and repair shops, will contain apartments for clerks and working men in the Bata organization. They are located in the larger cities of Czecho-Slovakia.

Mr. Bata, in his early forties, got his shoe training in the United States. He watched mass production methods used in the Massachusetts factories, studied how the shoes were sold and the business financed; then he returned to his native country and began his spectacular and successful career by copying American mass-production methods.

Today he is called the "Ford of the shoe industry of Southeastern Europe."

HARTFORD (Ct.) First-quarter earnings of $900,391 and second-quarter earnings of $1,202,140 bring the total net profits for the nine months ended September 30 up to $3,252,145, which is equal after preferred dividends to $1.30 a share on 2,076,716 common shares. This compares with $7,249,-831, or $3.74 a share, a year ago.

National Air Transport, Inc., controlled by United Aircraft, reported September quarter profits of $229,-165 after all charges, equal to 35 cents a share on 650,000 capital shares, against $243,221, or 38 cents a share, on 635,000 shares in the third quarter last year.

GUY WITTER RETURNS FROM EASTERN VISIT

After a month's absence in the East, Guy Witter, resident partner of Dean Witter & Co., members of the New York Stock exchanges and leading Pacific Coast exchanges, returned yesterday to Los Angeles. During his trip, Mr. Witter attended the Investment Bankers' Association convention held in New Orleans.

STOCK MARKET TRADING QUIET

Usual Preholiday Dullness Marks Session

Range of Prices Narrow, Changes Minor

Several Less Active Issues Set New Lows

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. With an eye on the elections, which left the stock market to the floor traders today.

It was the usual dull market, irregular and narrow. Enough of the leaders were unconditionally higher to lift the composite price of ninety issues a fraction half a point.

The extent of the quietness was brought forcefully to the financial community's attention by the figures on collateral loans of stock exchange members published after the close. They showed a enormous decline of more than $900,000,000 last month brought the total of these borrowings to the low level of $2,556,124,087, and this with a drop of $710,000,000 from the previous week. The figures inclusive Federal Reserve loans. Brokers' loan figures during the same period.

The business news was mixed. Coca-Cola earnings reports. Coca Cola showed a gain in the third quarter over the same period a year ago, but the stock was heavy. The Northern Bank finds in its monthly review the income of 88 corporations decreased 45 per cent in that quarter in comparison with a year ago, and Standard Oil Company estimated industrial earnings as a whole would show a decline of 30 to 35 per cent for the year.

Montgomery Ward's October sales were 41 per cent above September but 4.8 per cent under October, 1929.

Many of the stocks that closed more than a point, either up or down, were low-priced issues. Trading was exercise comparatively little interest on the market. There was enough selling to bring out numerous new lows, notably in the Gillette, Burroughs Adding Machine, Timken Roller, Coca-Cola preferred and Atlantic Refining. United States Steel declined unchanged at 145 3-4, after selling down to 145 and up to 146. Fractional net gains were shown by American Can, General Electric, Du Pont, American Telephone and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Atchison lost nearly 3 points on a decline in Coca Cola was a few points.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Turnover in the bond market dwindled to the smallest proportions for a full session in many weeks today as the eve of the election found many traders absent and investors indifferent. Total sales were only $6,390,000.

A few investment rails and public utilities attracted most of the inquiry and were a little firmer, but domestic bonds generally were dull and subject to small fluctuations either way. United States governments receded slightly from the high levels reached last week, although the Treasury 4¼s of 1940-43 established a new 1930 maximum of one sale. Changes in the foreign list were mixed, with leading European and South American issues firm.

American Telephone debenture 5s of 1960 and International Telephone debenture 4½s advanced more than ½ point each.

Industrials were soft, while speculative and stock privilege issues were mixed. American Natural Gas 6½s dropped 11 points to 55, a new low. Atchison 4½s and Rock Island 4½s were improved. Paths 7s with warrants rallied 7¾ points to 87½, compared with a recent low of 36.

The foreign list was liberally sprinkled with gains of a point or more. Queensland 6s reacted 11 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

METAL MARKET STATUS CLOUDY

Copper Buying at Ruling Low Price Improves

Prospect for Upturn Before March 1 Remote

Zinc and Lead Hold Steady at Old Levels

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS

Editor the Mining Journal, Phoenix

In anticipation of a move that may start the price of copper upward, buying has improved somewhat. The price remains at 9 1-2 cents f.o.b. Connecticut points and 9.80 for export. Zinc has stiffened a little so that the bid and asked price remains at 4.00 f.o.b. St Louis. Lead has maintained an even tone at 5.10 f.o.b. New York.

While the undertone of the lead market remains steady, the demand for the metal has fallen off materially. Lead cable manufacturers who figured as large buyers recently and who might have taken additional tonnages, have been discouraged from doing so by the sharp drop in the price of copper. The sensational decline in this metal has destroyed consuming confidence in the stability of the market. It is admitted that lead prices are low and seemingly attractive, but there is a tendency to wait before making any commitments.

DEADLOCK HOLDS

Efforts are still being made to solve the zinc situation through the European cartel, but without much success. There have been various meetings but technical difficulties have arisen in the assigning of production quotas and no agreement reached. The arrangements of the conference of last July still maintain, although it is evident that further action is necessary if the market is to be strengthened. Mexican mines controlled by American interests are participating in present conferences.

World production of slab zinc, excluding Belgium. The Netherlands and Poland, which no longer report their outputs, totaled 89,607 tons in September, compared with 93,188 tons in August and 93,771 tons in July. The September figures represent a decrease of 3378 tons from August. Of this total, the United States contributed 40,485 tons, as compared with 41,099 tons in August, while Canada contributed 10,085 tons, against 9749 tons in August.

Total world production of slab zinc for the first nine months of this year was 968,042 tons, of which the United States furnished 398,890 tons; Germany, 85,514 tons; Canada, 86,004 tons; France, 76,633 tons, and Australia, 46,268 tons.

OFFERED TO FEBRUARY

Practically all producers and custom plants are now offering copper at the new low price, 9 1-2 cents delivered, to the end of February. A few producers are out of the market, primarily because they have contracted for their production. The fabricating plants and manufacturers have issued new price lists based upon this price, which indicates that it is anticipated to stay for awhile.

Up to the time of the publication of the September copper statistics, producers were reluctant about booking orders as far ahead as January, but the hopelessness of the situation, without drastic curtailment, has caused books to be opened at the end of February. This situation might quickly change with a curtailment agreement.

It is not difficult to understand the lack of enthusiastic buying by domestic consumers. They have lost all confidence. They bought all the way down and took a very large tonnage at 10 cents, expecting that that was the bottom of the market. The market, having broken through this resistance point, makes them wonder now if there is a bottom.

EUROPE CONSUMPTION DOWN

The drop in copper price for export brought larger buying and created more interest than in the domestic market. A careful checking of the customs returns of seven consuming countries discloses the fact that Europe's copper imports from all sources are running about 21 per cent lower this year than a year ago.

This probably does not mean that consumption has decreased 21 per cent, as falling prices have caused buying to be deferred this year, whereas last year rising prices led many consumers to accumulate large working reserves of copper. It is improbable that actual consumption has decreased over 15 per cent.

The copper bought for European account so far this year seems to have been almost wholly for immediate consumption. It is the common opinion that there will be no further appreciable decrease of consuming demand. Conditions are thus right for a considerable buying movement to develop when the first signs of improvement appear.

It is generally conceded that the one thing that the copper industry has needed is a drastic curtailment and the delay in any announcements along this line has served to keep the market weak and uncertain. It has been pointed out that, while the world curtailment has amounted to 33 per cent, United States mines have cut down 38 per cent.

South American mines have cut down practically the same as the mines of this country so that the combined shrinkage of the United States and South America is 37 per cent. Canada has more than doubled her production since early 1929 and Africa has added approximately 50 per cent to her output in the same period, thus neutralizing, to a considerable extent, the value of the curtailment of the mines of United States and South America.

African producers of copper are now learning that the "survival of the fittest" policy is not conducive to reasonable profit and representatives from the principal producing mines of that country are in the United States for the purpose of entering into some agreement to cut production down to consumption. The United States mines have cut production down below the amount that would be needed if the rest of the world would follow suit.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Holds Generally Firm as Trading Lags on Eve of Election

Security trading languished in a slough of inactivity as the week's operations were resumed yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange with pre-election uneasiness and closing of the market today seeming to preclude any definite movement on the part of the public or professionals. Quotations held within narrow limits and closed irregularly after an unusually quiet turnover. 2400 shares slipped another 1-4 to 17 1-2. Security-First National again sold down to the record bottom of 92, but recovered 1-8 to mark a net loss of 3-8. Citizens' National which fell more than 5 points Saturday was not traded, the closing bid standing at 92. Pacific Mutual Life yielded another 1-2 to 62 1-4 and Pacific Finance dipped 1-8 to 15 1-2. An odd lot of Seaboard National Bank crossed the board at 39 3-4, a new low, off 5-8.

Ten shares of Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred sold at 92 for a net loss of 2 1-4 and establishing a new minimum.

Sales totaled 9789 shares valued at $247,970; previous day, 5705 shares valued at $170,885.

OIL NEWS

BY PORTER FLINT

The new potential for the State has been set at 1,149,970 barrels daily as against the old figure of 1,206,180 barrels, showing a decline of 56,180 barrels, according to a report released yesterday by the advisory board of the fact-finding committee on State-wide oil curtailment.

Much of the decrease was recorded in the Kettleman Hills field. Its new potential was set at 66,-000 barrels as against 90,000 barrels daily, and similar declines were noted in the Signal Hill and Santa Fe Springs fields. Increases were per-mitted in the Ventura-avenue and Huntington fields. Huntington Beach showed no change.

Although the Kettleman Hills field's potential dropped from 90,-000 barrels to 66,300 barrels daily, the entire oil field's potential in-creased from 23,450 barrels to 34,-000 barrels daily. Its most recent well, the Elwood field's potential of 126,000 barrels instead of 63,000 barrels daily, and the Santa Fe Springs potential dropped from 63,000 barrels to 144,800 barrels daily. Despite new deep sand de-velopment at Signal Hill, that dis-trict recorded a drop of 1600 bar-rels in potential—it was set at 202,-000 barrels daily.

Meeting Planned

The next meeting of the committee of experts recently appointed by Ralph Reinhardt, chairman of the Kettleman Hills oil and gas con-servation committee, to draw up the final draft of the unit plan of de-velopment of the Kettleman Hills field, is expected to take place early next week. It has not been deter-mined where the committee will hold its session.

A. L. Weil, general counsel for the General Petroleum Corporation, and Conner Sutro of the Standard Oil Company, both are in San Fran-cisco and other members of the committee are awaiting word from Mr. Weil, who was requested to call the experts together to select a chairman. Other members of the sub-committee include R. M. Gates of George F. Getty, Inc., C. C. Perry, Union Oil Company; C. Black, Continental Oil Com-pany; E. J. Parsons, General Petro-leum Corporation, and T. E. Swigart of the Shell Oil Company.

Increases Yield

Daily production from the C. Ed Wolfe No. 3 near the corner of Thirty-sixth avenue and Trolley line in the Venice field is increas-ing, according to officials, and is running at the rate of 2400 bar-rels of oil a day from a depth of 6730 feet, along with 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The Wolfe No. 3 is the first of the operator's eight projects to be brought on production in the Venice field. Three other tests are drill-ing ahead and a location has been made for Wolfe No. 5 near the cor-ner of Forty-seventh avenue and Trolley.

Buy One Surprises

Just the Star Petroleum Com-pany has opened a deeper produc-ing zone in the Los Cerritos field, to the northwest of the Signal Hill field, is the belief of scouts who noted the completion recently of the company's Colby No. 2 at the rate of 60 barrels of 30.1-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 8600 feet.

The Star's Colby No. 2 is near the in-tersection of Thirty-seventh and Cherry streets and where considerable drilling activity started to prospect the deeper zone proven by a number of wells several months ago. The Colby No. 2 effected a water shut-off with four and three-quarter-inch casing set to 8470 feet and hole drilled open from there to the bottom. The oil is clean.

On Steady

The Shell Oil Company's Taylor No. 81 in the Ventura-avenue field, which started to flow by heads, has settled down to a daily yield of about 1000 barrels of 29-deg. grav-ity oil from a depth of 6934 feet. The Shell Taylor No. 69, with bottom at 6975 feet, is expected to com-plete drilling soon and attempt will be made to complete it in the shal-low zone.

Extended New Peak

A new production record has been set by the Venice field. Yesterday the Bentley-Knight at the rate of 34,575 barrels daily and may increase dur-ing the week, due to excellent flow obtained from the shallow zone.

Another discovery of the field last week was by the Ohio Oil Company, more than seventy wells have been drilled on production, fifty-eight of which are flowing. Nine are being cleaned out and a few of these are expected to be cleaned out to restore to production.

The Goodfield Oil Company's No. 1 was in yesterday for 1500 barrels and A. T. Jergins Trust's Lease No. 1 recorded an initial flow of 800 barrels daily. D. Maria's No. 1 started flowing at the rate of 1000 barrels daily and is expected to step up, while the C. Ed Lewis No. 3 is reported to be mak-ing better than 100 barrels of oil an hour, according to company officials.

Gas Rush to Complete

The Graham & Loftus G. & L. No. 1 in the east Coyote district has been placed on the pump and is making about approximately 100 bar-rels of oil a day from a depth of 6000 feet. It was plugged back from a depth of 6730 feet. There is no water in evidence at present and the project may be re-deepened to shut it out.

Work Continues

Construction work on the Gen-eral Petroleum Corporation's two wells on the coast in the Seacliff field is nearing completion and two more, one for Ferguson No. 3 and another for Needham No. 1 are expected to be started soon. Gen-eral's Ferguson No. 2 at the end of the 1000-foot pier is standing re-drilling at 3075 feet to shut out water. Oil bottom is at 3580 feet.

OIL PROFITS OFF

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Skelly Oil Company in the third quarter reported net earnings equal to 48 cents a share on the common stock as against 89 cents a share in the corresponding quarter and $1.47 a share in the third quarter of 1929. SLAYER TO LEARN FATE TOMORROW

Reyna to Go Before Court for Sentence in Fatal Shooting of Officer

Convicted of manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon in the fatal shooting of Verne Brindley, Los Angeles police officer, Juan Reyna, Mexican youth, is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Hardy at 10 a.m. tomorrow for sentence.

The jury, which yesterday afternoon returned its verdict, had been out for nearly seventy-two hours before reaching a decision.

Reyna was tried once before on the same charges but the jury in Judge McComb's court failed to reach a verdict and was discharged.

It was charged that Reyna, when arrested on a traffic charge, seized the revolver of Officer Brindley and shot him to death. Nathan O. Freedman, defense attorney, contended that Reyna did not seize the gun and shoot until after the officers had beaten him over the head with their guns.

The case was prosecuted by Ugene Bialock, deputy District Attorney.

Two Bandits Rob Oil Man in His Home

LONG BEACH, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Two bandits strode into the home of W. F. Garrison, well-to-do oil operator, at 274 Cerritos avenue, during the dinner hour this evening.

Mrs. Garrison, who had answered the doorbell, retreated before them as one of the men prodded her with a pistol.

The bandits, of whom one was about 27 years of age, and the other 20, tightly bound Ralph Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, and then proceeded leisurely to search the oil operator. Mrs. Garrison watched silently, having been told, as had her husband, that an out-cry would mean death.

From the oil operator they took a two-and-a-half-carat diamond ring valued by him at $3750, and his purse, check book and key ring. His purse, he said later, contained no money. The bandits then de-parted, warning the Garrisons to make no outcry until ten minutes had elapsed.

Trial of Three in Refrigerator Case Put Off

On the stipulation of defense and prosecution attorneys, the trial of Carl Jaeger, William Suester and Albert Laurits was continued yes-terday until December 3 by Super-ior Judge Crawford.

The three defendants are charged with conspiring together to sell stock in an iceless refrigerator com-pany in a scheme which the Dis-trict Attorney contends was fraudu-lent.

The indictment against them sets forth seventeen counts of grand theft.

WORK BEGUN ON PORT TERMINAL

West Basin Freight Project Gets Under Way

Plans Call for Most Modern Type of Structure

Total Estimated Cost Fixed at $1,500,000

BY WALDO DRAKE

Building of the port's $1,500,000 West Basin freight terminal, to be the most modern and complete unit of its kind yet constructed, got under way yesterday as the Mer-ritt, Chapman & Scott Corporation, contractor, began casting concrete bulkhead anchors for the 1260-foot wharf. Dredging of the channel directly in front of the terminal is expected to be started within the fortnight, as is driving of the con-crete-bearing piles; these two phas-es of the project to require four months.

Designed by George F. Nicholson, Harbor Engineer for Los Angeles, the West Basin terminal will ex-tend across Berths 144, 145 and 146, being planned to provide two 630-foot berths. A single steel transit shed, more than 1000 feet long and 120 feet wide, will be provided with ship-load refrigeration units as well as a fireproof storage chamber for assembly of single shiploads of case oil products. The transit shed will set back thirty-three feet from the wharf head, to provide for two ship-side railroad tracks. The big termi-nal, scheduled to be ready for use in the fall of 1931, is already pro-vided with ample highway facilities in the concrete Harbor Boulevard along the east shore of West Basin.

In designing the bulkhead for the long pier, Mr. Nicholson has utilized both concrete and the new sheet-steel piling in ingenious fashion. The sheet piling will present a solid bulkhead, reinforced first by con-crete waling strips and also by sev-enty-foot structural steel tie rods running from the bulkhead back to huge concrete anchors.

YACHT CONCERN HEAD HERE TO OPEN BRANCH

Irving Cox, chairman of the board of Cox & Stevens, Inc., prom-inent New York yacht designing and brokerage firm, arrived from the East last night in connection with the opening of the firm's new Pacific Coast headquarters at Ham-ilton street and Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills. The new offices will be in charge of Carl Schilling, him-self a veteran yachtsman.

Cox & Stevens has designed a large proportion of the big power yachts built for American yachts-men in recent years, Pacific Coast boats of their design including James Talbot's Carissima and Maj. Max Fleischmann's Haida.

Seven off-shore liners, displacing approximately 130,000 tons and em-barking or discharging 1000 passen-gers, were in port yesterday morn-ing to swell the day's business. The leaders were the Panama-Pacific liner California, out at daylight for New York, via the canal, with 350 passengers and 5000 tons of Cali-fornia products, and the Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorship Chichibu Maru, in from Yokohama with 150 travelers.

The Panama Mail intercoastal liner Venezuela got away for New York, via Central American ports, last night with 100 passengers, and the Dollar trans-Pacific steamer President McKinley sailed for Shanghai and way ports at noon with a similar number. Hamburg-American Line's Oakland was in from the north yesterday morning, and sailed last night for North Eu-rope, the French liner Wisconsin sailed for the north, while the Japanese around-the-world liner Montevideo Maru, of Osaka Shosen Kaisha fleet, was in yesterday morning via Buenos Aires with 150 passengers.

Southbound ships due in port yes-erday morning from the North Pa-cific were all delayed by unusually heavy fog in the upper Santa Bar-bara Channel. Among those arriving late were the Oakland, Lochatrine, Humboldt and Pacific Pine.

A brighter fu'ure for the charter market is heralded by General Steamship Corporation, in its monthly review of the market re-leased yesterday. Inquiry is noted for several motorships for long pe-riods, and a number of operators are said to consider the market has reached rock bottom and that they will not be able to secure tonnage at rates lower than the present. Tankers, however, are still in the doldrums, and several are laid up in California ports. One clean fixture at 18-6 to Australia for December is reported.

Chestnuts, the edible kind, have resumed seasonal importations, sev-eral thousand cases coming in yes-terday on a liner from Japan. A number of cases were detained for fumigation because of minor moth infestation. Japanese chestnu's have become a competitor for American markets against nuts from Italy, heretofore the principal source of shipments into here.

Customs offices will be open for entrance and clearance of vessels only between 10 a.m. and noon, to-day, as elections make it a legal holiday.

ALCOHOL KEG BLOWS UP AND FIRES HOUSE

DETROIT, Nov. 3. (AP)—Explosion of a keg of alcohol in a Charlotte-street basement early today set fire to a house and revealed to police the source of some of the "imported" liquor and beer sold in Detroit. The keg, charred, was wired and an electric current passed through it in order to hasten the "aging" of its contents, Patrolman William Kurtz said. Too much current is believed to have caused the explosion.

CALIFORNIANS VOTE TODAY AS CLIMAX TO HOT RACES

City Will Decide Important Issues; Ballots in State Expected to Reach Total of 1,347,000

The polls in today's general election will open at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

More than 10,300 precincts throughout the State have been organized to care for the 2,345,328 registered voters. In Los Angeles county there are 3402 precincts, of which 1852 are in the city. Voters desiring information concerning the location of voting booths, or other election-day matters, may obtain the same by telephoning the Registrar of Voters, MUtual 9211, or, for information relative to the city propositions on the ballot, the City Clerk, Trinity 3211.

With more than 2,245,000 California voters registered and eligible to participate in today's election one of the most important political campaigns in the State's history reaches a climax at the ballot box.

It is estimated that the aggregate vote today will approximate 60 per cent of the total registration—in round figures, 1,347,000.

Observers of campaign activities in all sections of California predict victory for the entire Republican ticket, including Rolph for Governor, Merriam for Lieutenant-Governor, and all other party nominees for State offices and for the State Senate and Assembly.

Locally, the fight for seven places on the Superior Court, for Sheriff, and for Supervisor in the First and Third districts is expected to bring out a representative expression of the electorate.

MANY BOND ISSUES

Bond issues for State and local purposes aggregating $50,000,000, and including $20,000,000 for veterans' aid, $10,000,000 for San Francisco harbor, $6,000,000 for improvement of the Los Angeles sewage system, and $13,500,000 for the local power issue are on the ballot.

There are forty State and local propositions on the ballot in Los Angeles city, most of which have been thoroughly discussed and analyzed by disinterested sources seeking to present facts and reliable information to the voters.

Belief for the proposed daylight-saving law by a heavy majority is indicated, with varying opinion as to the fate of the other proposals.

INTERESTING CONTESTS

The contest between the Republican and Democratic nominees, particularly for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, has drawn more than the usual degree of election interest, due not only to the fact that the Democrats are sharply divided on the wet issue, but the State-wide issues of action and purpose among the Republicans.

Evidence in a State-wide victory for the entire list of Republican nominees was voiced on the eve of election yesterday by M. B. Harris, director of the Republican campaign in Southern California.

"No serious anxiety arises at this time over the possibility of a light vote," said Mr. Harris. "We do not, however, that the defeat of a great Republican leader on election day has been made sufficiently plain and that the loyalty of our party members will be unshaken."

ROLPH MAKES PLEA

San Francisco Mayor Rolph, Republican nominee for Governor, issued a statement urging support of the Republican slate, and particularly emphasized his support of the candidacy of the Republican nominee for Lieutenant-Governor, State Senator Merriam of Long Beach. A similar appeal was made by Southern California in which Governor pictured Rolph as deserving of the votes of Republican electors throughout California.

Election of State Senator McFadden in this county is regarded as certain, McKinley's opponent is Democrat Milton Bryan, Democratic Party Success, also, for all the anti-Republican nominees for the Legislature from Los Angeles is anticipated.

CLOSE RACES SEEN

A close finish in the two Superior contests is indicated. In the First District former Mayor Fletcher of Whittier is opposed by Judge Gardner, and in the Third District Sidney T. Graves, incumbent chairman of the board, is opposed by J. Don Mahaffey. Judge and Graves are thought to have a lead over their respective rivals.

Success of the re-election of the incumbent candidates for Superior Judge is indicated by counters reports. The incumbents are Judges Keetch, Shaw, Hazlett, Hardy, Crawford and Bishop. The race for Sheriff, former Captain Clyde I. Plummer.

CHEST WORKERS GIVEN WARNING

Drive Lags Behind Last Year, Kerr Announces

All Urged to Use Up More Shoe Leather

Total Reported at Present Time $1,196,771

Affairs in the Community Chest campaign yesterday had reached a stage which called for a warning and a plea from Campaign Chairman Kerr to the 500 or more workers who met at the Biltmore for the daily report luncheon on the progress of the drive.

"Comparison of our present progress," said Mr. Kerr, "with that at the same time last year is not favorable and if we are to finish this job up properly by the end of this week, it means that every one of us will have to put everything else aside and get busy making contacts with the prospects who have not yet been solicited.

"We are $169,250 behind the point we had reached at this time last year. That means just one thing. It is absolutely necessary to bring more shoe leather into action. There must be less of this letter-writing business and telephone calling and more personal contact. For it is not only this year we are working for, but we are also laying a foundation for the years to come by building a better understanding of the Community Chest and selling the public in its favor. We cannot afford to start something in this community that we are unable to finish."

Reports yesterday showed the total subscriptions to date amounting to $1,196,771, or 37.40 per cent of the total goal of $3,200,000. Over the week-end $101,163 was subscribed and the total number of persons who have subscribed to date is 78,616. There is $2,003,229 yet to be raised in the four remaining days of the campaign.

After an invocation delivered by Dr. Thomas Holden, past pastor of the Wilshire Crest Presbyterian Church, Fred W. Beetson, representing the motion-picture industry, was the speaker of the day. Due to the fact, he said, that the motion-picture industry is a highly organized one and because its members are accustomed to concentrate on any job until it is finished, he believes the studios will make a better showing in their campaign this year than they ever have done in the past. To date, he said, they have received subscriptions totaling $74,934, or 43 per cent of the quota, with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios leading with the highest percentage to date.

MILLION DOLLAR TEAM

Central division reports showed a total to date of $788,275, or 45.04 per cent of the total quota of $1,750,000. In the million dollar committee the Ballard team is out in front with 55 per cent of its quota, with the Chandler group reporting 22.15 per cent of its quota. YOUNG MOTHER WINS BACK HER BABY

Court Awards Her Child's Custody Despite Agreement

POVERTY is not a crime in California. And a young mother, though poor in worldly possessions, after bringing a child into the world is entitled to its custody unless it can be proved that she is an unfit person to care for it.

Such was the ruling of Superior Judge Crawford yesterday when he returned Dolores Dunn, 10-month-old baby girl, to her mother, Mrs. Marguerite Dunn, 18 years of age, of 5417 Sierra Vista avenue.

The court order removed the infant from the custody of Mrs. Elsa Laird of 226 Niagara street, Burbank, who took the child from her mother when she was only ten days of age and reared her as her own. When the order was made, Mrs. Laird wept heartbrokenly as she returned the girl to her mother.

AGREEMENT ADMITTED

The case came up before Judge Crawford under a petition for a writ of habeas corpus brought by William Christensen, attorney for Mrs. Dunn, demanding that the child be returned to her mother. The mother and her attorney admitted that she had once signed a paper giving custody of the child to Mrs. Laird, but it developed that she was only 17 years of age at the time and the document therefore was held illegal.

During the testimony taken to decide who should have custody of the child, Vetran Ricca, attorney for Harold Laird and Mrs. Laird, sought to show that Mrs. Dunn is financially unable to care for the child. Judge Crawford ruled that poverty has nothing to do with a mother's love and excluded the testimony.

HOME TO BE PROVIDED

Later during the hearing Attorney Christensen brought out testimoney from H. E. Wyatt, an uncle of Mrs. Dunn, that he and his wife have promised to make a home for the child and her mother and to educate the child until she is 21.

Mrs. Dunn testified that when she agreed to sign over custody of the baby to the Lairds, she was ill, nervous and irresponsible. Since then, she said, she has undergone two operations and has recovered her health.

George Dunn, the woman's husband, is working as a traveling salesman in Ohio. Mrs. Dunn testified. She told the court that although they had separated shortly before the baby's birth, a reconciliation has been effected during the last sixty days and that her husband now plans to return to California and contribute to the child's support.

Attorney Ricca announced that the question of appealing has not yet been decided.

BOARD WILL NAME CHIEF TOMORROW

Steckel Expected to Get Permanent Appointment to Police Department Post

Holding that it would not be proper to consider proceedings for the reorganization of the police department until a permanent chief is appointed, the Police Commission yesterday postponed until tomorrow consideration of Chief Steckel's plan of reorganization which it was to have taken up yesterday at a special session.

Certification of the civil service eligible list of names for Chief of Police, which contains but two, Steckel and Inspector David A. Davidson, could not become effective until 5 o'clock last evening, the required five days after tentative approval of the list.

Had there been any protests filed against the test, the list would not have become certified for two weeks. As none were filed it is practically certain that the commission tomorrow will make its choice of a permanent Chief of Police.

While the commissioners declined to forecast what they intend to do, they would not deny that Chief Steckel, who tops the civil service list and is favored by the Mayor, will be their choice.

Ice Cream Sale Results in Fine

Pleading guilty to violation of a county ordinance prohibiting the sale of edibles on a State highway, Smith M. Williamson, 25 years of age, of Anaheim, yesterday was fined $25 in the San Dimas Justice Court, $10 being suspended.

Williamson was arrested Sunday afternoon while selling ice cream from a truck on Foothill Boulevard near San Dimas. The infraction of the law was reported to the Sheriff's office by State Highway Commissioner Ward of Azusa, who requested the arrest.

STATE LOSES SHEFFIELD CASE PLEA

Supreme Court Supports Appellate Ruling Giving ex-Officer New Trial

Upholding the Appellate Court, the Supreme Court has denied the petition of the State for a rehearing in the case of Maceo B. Sheffield, Negro, former policeman, granted a new trial on bribery charges.

The Appellate Court, in a decision written by Justice Schmidt, pro tem, found that Sheffield's constitutional rights had been prejudiced by court errors and misconduct on the part of the prosecution.

According to a copy of the minutes of the Supreme Court received by the Los Angeles office of the tribunal, Justices Seawell, Shenk and Curtis voted for a hearing, but the other four justices of the tribunal held contrary views.

Sheffield was declared to have accepted "protection" money.

NEW BRUSH FIRES QUELLED

Dangerous Blazes in Beverly Hills and Tujunga Wash Checked by Desperate Work

Brush fire hazard, due to high temperature and low humidity, continued strong throughout Southern California yesterday and only prompt action by fire-fighting agencies brought under control two new fires that threatened for a time to become as disastrous as those that last week swept through Ventura county and the Santa Monica Mountains in Los Angeles county.

Shortly after noon yesterday a blaze was reported on the ridge of Higgins Canyon, back of Beverly Hills, and the Los Angeles city fire department rushed reserves to the scene. With modern equipment they brought the fire under control in less than two hours, with the loss of only twenty acres of valuable watershed.

At 2:53 p.m. another fire call came from Big Tujunga Canyon northwest of Roscoe Road and another battle with a brush fire began, the Los Angeles Fire Department again bringing the blaze under control in two hours with but scarcely more than twenty acres burned over.

County Fire Warden Turner, who returned home last night for the first time since flames broke out in the Santa Monica Mountains and left a scar eight miles long, parallel to the Roosevelt Highway, mostly on the Ventura side of the county line, said the major fire threat is definitely under control.

"There are still about 300 men patrolling the lines," Turner stated. "There are hot coals inside the burned area and we have about chased our legs off scurrying after whirlwinds that lifted live ashes from the inside of the burn into brush outside.

"The blaze might spring up again at any point near the brush line and we will stay on it until there is no danger.

"In my estimation less than 10,000 acres of brush land were burned

COUNTY ACTS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Graves Names Committee for Conference

Will Meet With Chamber and City Officials

Austin Letter Outlines Plan of Action

That Los Angeles county will take part in the effort to relieve unemployment here was evidenced yesterday when Supervisors Shaw, Quinn and Wright were appointed as a committee to meet with one from the city and executives of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at a conference—wherein a plan of action is to be mapped out.

The appointment of the committee was made by Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the board, in response to a communication received from John C. Austin, president of the chamber, urging co-operation on the part of the county in a county-wide move to meet the unemployment situation.

PLANS OUTLINED

Eight steps toward a plan for the relief needed are outlined in President Austin's letter. Among them is one wherein preference would be given to residents of the city and county in the matter of employment.

Another one is a recommendation that everybody purchase local manufactured products as much as possible to keep factories here running and workers employed.

President Austin also asks that a conference be called immediately of city and county officials, deputies of the County Welfare Bureau and the heads of the street, parks and engineering departments of the city and county to co-ordinate efforts in furnishing employment by the application of funds now available.

PRISON FARMS

The chamber official also recommends that dependent transients be registered and provided work in the parks in exchange for meals and lodging.

He also declares that the city and county could establish prison work farms for able-bodied transients and vagrants who evade work, instead of housing and feeding them in comfort and idleness at the County Jail.

One of the recommendations is that support should be given city and county police organizations in enforcing all vagrancy regulations.

Supervisor Shaw declared last night that he will call his committee together immediately and they will confer with chamber officials relative to fixing a date for the coming conference.

FUNDS APPROPRIATED

The Board of Supervisors yesterday appropriated $11,000 for two jobs of work for the flood-control district which will employ forty-five men.

One of the jobs is clearing the basin, about 100 acres, that will hold the water above the Big Tujunga Dam that is now being built eight miles north of Sunland. Bids for the work will be advertised for at once. The work will cost approximately $10,000 and employ thirty men.

The other piece of work is the building of a fire break of some fifteen acres in extent below the Big Tujunga Dam.

The Supervisors yesterday also awarded the contracts for the preliminary geological work that is to be done in the San Gabriel Canyon at one of the three sites chosen for the trio of new dams proposed to take the place of the abandoned high dam. McGuire & Young were awarded the contract for making the tunnels in the side of the canyon on their bid of $6000, and Cannon Brothers will make the borings with diamond drills for cores of the earth under the surface to determine rock conditions. Their bid was $10,000. About twenty men were put to work yesterday. More will be added as the job continues.

OPTOMETRISTS TO MEET

The Graduate Clinic Foundation of the American Optometric Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Monday at University of Southern California. Papers on "Duction Tests" and "Phoria Tests" will be read respectively by Prof. E. A. Teleaven of Columbia University, and J. Robinson Cohen, president New York Optometric Society. Dr. W. LaVern Salter of Glendale will preside.

Charles, Jr., and Sydney Chaplin

OVERHEAD OF CHAPLIN BOYS LESS

Comedian's ex-Wife Files Accounting With Court of Sons' Expenses

Charles Chaplin, Jr., and Sydney Chaplin, young sons of Charles Chaplin, film comedian, are costing less each year to rear, it is pointed out in the third annual accounting of expenses for them, filed yesterday in Superior Judge Crail's court by their mother, Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of the actor.

But at that it cost $2996.96 to see that Charles, Jr., 7 years of age, was properly cared for during the past year, and $3008.64 for his brother, 6, according to the accounting filed through the mother's attorney, Roland Rich Woolley.

Each child receives $500 a month from a $600,000 trust fund to be used in caring for them. Since she was appointed legal guardian of the two boys three years ago Mrs. Chaplin has cut total expenses for both boys from $10,792.21 the first year, $7252.40 in the second to this year's total of $6005.60. Both have savings accounts of approximately $6670, the residue of each year's allowance being deposited to their credit.

In itemizing expenditures for the boys in her latest report Mrs. Chaplin stated it cost $2100 apiece to board and provide a nurse for them last year.

Each boy also was charged with $150 for automotive expenses, $48.65 for shoes and $100 for travel and vacation.

Charles was clothed for $273.66 and Sydney for $271.16, while cleaning bills for the former amounted to $9.06 and for the latter to $3.65. Druggist bills for Charles totaled $10.52 and $7.42 for his brother.

The rest of the money listed was expended for insurance, attorney fees and miscellaneous expenses, including laundry and barber bills.

Woolley, who has aided Mrs. Chaplin in handling the trust funds for the children for the past two years, according to her petition, stated that the mother and children have been in New York for two months.

Mrs. Chaplin is on the legitimate stage there.

CITY HALL WILL CLOSE

Due to today being election day, the City Hall will be closed throughout all its offices.

WEEK-ENDERS DIE IN CRASH

Two Dead, Four Injured in Return From Arrowhead; Boy Killed by Truck, Man Succumbs

Two persons were killed and four injured in a party of six when the auto in which they were returning to Los Angeles from Lake Arrowhead crashed into a telephone pole Sunday and turned over several times in the outskirts of San Bernardino.

The dead are: Mrs. Edna Miller McDermott of 1805 North Kingsley Drive and Arthur H. Lyon, Jr., of Santa Ana.

The injured: Melvin Stark of Beverly Hills, driver of the car; Lenore Dermeler and Iris Ford of Los Angeles and Charles Read of Santa Ana.

At an inquest conducted by Coroner Ralphs at the Mark B. Shaw Mortuary in San Bernardino yesterday a verdict of accidental death was reached, Stark being absolved of any blame for the tragedy. It was brought out that the car had skidded as is passed over a streetcar crossing on Mountain View avenue at the mouth of Waterman Canyon. The four injured persons had been kept at the Ramona Hospital overnight, but their injuries consisted only of minor cuts and bruises and they were all able to leave the hospital and attend the inquest.

Struck by an ice truck in front of the Alpine-street school, Steve Percy, 7 years of age, of 828½ South Beaudry avenue, was injured fatally yesterday noon. He died from a skull fracture while a police ambulance was on its way to convey him to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

The ice truck, according to detectives, was driven by Mario Deiro of 233 North Chicago, who was held pending an investigation of the accident. The boy, police say, was playing in the street at the time.

Sherman Paddock, 55, 3323 Madera street, died yesterday at the Torrance Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries received Sunday night when an automobile in which he was riding collided with another car at the intersection of Orie Hun-

STANFORD would get along much better in the game if the rules were changed and a feather pillow with handles substituted for the football.

They drop it, fooule' it, fumble it, fall over it, stumble over it and lose it.

THE AUTHOR

Incidentally, it might help if Pop Warner relaxed his literary labors long enough to offer the team some kindergarten instruction in football. Us authors can't keep our minds on other jobs.

A BRIGHT GENIUS

I don't know who manages the Los Angeles traffic signals, but he is a bright boy. Sometime he will attempt some difficult mental feat like counting as far as ten and rupture a blood vessel in his cranial cavity—accent on cav-ity.

The army of automobiles coming from the football game Friday night found the traffic signals at Crenshaw and Adams Boulevards turned off. Had it not been for a smart high-school boy who leaped out of a car and took charge, the traffic jam would have been there yet.

MAKE 'EM WORK

There is no good reason in the world why the Army should not be used during the summer months to patrol the forests of California. It could do much toward preventing these terrible fires.

The Eleventh Cavalry is at Monterey; there is more cavalry at the Presidio at San Francisco.

Should it ever come to a war our troops are likely to have need of knowing the trails through the forest reserves as they know the way to their own mouths. If cavalry is ever again to be good for anything it will be for scouting—not battle. And it is not learning much practical scouting in an Army post at a summer resort.

POLITICAL PLOT

Incidentally, that post should never have been at Monterey. When it was so located Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commander-in-chief of the Army, told me frankly that it was due, to politics: that the location of troops there—especially cavalry—was a military absurdity.

FILIPINO MARRIAGE

The Ri...side official who wants to deny a white girl the right to marry a Filipino will have a tough time proving him to be of Mongolian race. The Filipinos are straight Malay. In fact it has always been called into question if marriage licenses can legally be denied to Japanese to marry Caucasians.

DESERT WINDS

These fall desert winds are tough to take; but there is this consolation: In "California, a Geologic Wonderland," Prof. Gilbert Ellis Bailey said that when the desert is settled and watered—hence cooled—it will change the climate of California and of the whole West.

JOHN WIT BEING SOUGHT

Reported missing yesterday by his wife, John Wit, 41 years of age, contractor of Temple, is being sought by deputy sheriffs. Wit, according to his wife, Mrs. Angela Wit, was last seen Saturday night when he left his home at 146 South Cloverly street, Temple, to go to a store. The missing man took neither of his two automobiles and during the afternoon preceding his disappearance had been in a highly nervous state, his wife said.

MURDER QUEST PROVES FUTILE

Lack of Clews in Mrs. Ells's Death Balks Officers

Ex-Spouse, Held as Suspect, Adheres to His Alibi

Coroner Schedules Inquest in Case for Tomorrow

Investigation yesterday of the shotgun murder of Mrs. Merle Ells, 22 years of age, as she lay in bed with her 18-month-old boy at the home of a sister, Mrs. James Cannon, at 323 East Ninth street, early Sunday morning, left police in a quandary.

Emory Ells, 26, divorced husband, held in the City Jail on suspicion of murder, continued to adhere to his alibi that he was working in a cafe at Glendon and Santa Fe avenues, from 6 p.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Sunday. Assuming that what a neighbor of the Cannons thought was the backfire of an automobile was the sound of the fatal shot, Captain of Detectives Davidson has placed the time of the murder at 1:35 a.m. Sunday. While this can be taken only as a supposition, Davidson points out that, if true, it serves to strengthen Ells's alibi, for Cesar Powell, owner of the cafe, has stated that the only time he did not see Ells in his establishment was at about midnight, when he left to take his wife home. Ells was washing dishes when he left, he said, and was engaged at the same task when he returned a half an hour later.

STATEMENT CONTRADICTED

Another statement attributed to Ells regarding his recent relations to his ex-wife, has been discredited, however, Davidson asserts. Ells, according to Davidson, not only declares that he knows nothing of the murder, but also asserts he had not seen or been near his ex-wife since four weeks ago, at which time he visited her to see their baby boy. Two neighbors of the Cannons, however, have stated they saw Ells in the driveway of the Cannon home as late as Holloween, Davidson says.

The supposition that Mrs. Ells was slain because she had threatened to expose asserted activities of her ex-husband also was discarded, according to Detective Lieutenants Baggott and Hickey, when an attempt yesterday to have Ells identified in a recent robbery failed. Ells denies the implication also.

The detectives have definitely decided that Mrs. Ells was killed with the old rusty shotgun which was found on the floor near the bed. It contained one empty and one loaded shell and the barrel showed that it had been fired recently. Shot taken from the wounds also correspond with the contents of the loaded shell, the detectives say.

The fact that the sound of the shot was not heard by Mr. and Mrs. Cannon was accounted for yesterday by the detectives when a survey of the house was made, showing that the Cannons' bedroom is separated by several rooms and clothes closets from the glassed-in porch on which Mrs. Ells was sleeping. So far the detectives have been unable to determine how the slayer entered or left the dwelling.

Minute examination for fingerprints likewise, has failed, Capt. Davidson admits, none being found on the shotgun, bed or other polished surfaces in the house that have not been identified as belonging to occupants.

Alfred Ells, brother of the suspect, still was held yesterday as a material witness. The ex-husband was arrested at his home at 5188 Elizabeth street on Sunday by Detective Lieutenant Savage of the Seventy-seventh-street division. The inquest will be conducted at the Coroner's office at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The slaying of Mrs. Ells was discovered shortly after dawn Sunday when her child, failing to awaken her, ran to the Cannons' bedroom crying. Police were called at once and the investigation started which resulted several hours later in the arrest of Ells and his brother.

ored and Ninetieth street and Normandie avenue. The body was taken to the undertaking parlors of Stone & Meyer, Torrance, pending an inquest.

Three members of a family suffered fractured skulls and probably mortal injuries, and two others were less dangerously hurt yesterday in a 300-foot plunge of an automobile down a slope in Topanga Canyon.

Those with fractured skulls expected to die are Earl T. Irvy of 1927 Fiske street, Pacific Palisades, and two of his children, Maxine, 9, and Marjorie, 6. The two others are Mrs. Irvy, wife of Mr. Irvy, and a third child, Earline, 7.

Mr. Irvy lost control of the automobile in some way when it was three-and-a-half miles up the canyon. He and the others, constituting the entire family, are in Santa Monica Hospital.

Inquest into the death of Gabriel Mingarez, 28, sailor of the steamship Admiral Watson, fatally injured late Sunday night when an automobile in which he was riding collided with another automobile at Carson avenue and Alameda street, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at the Moreland mortuary, Compton.

A Coroner's inquiry also will be conducted tomorrow morning at the undertaking parlors of Todd & Leslie, Santa Monica, into the death of Dr. F. O. Berket, 58, retired dentist 2758 Forestry avenue, Mar Vista, killed last Saturday in a traffic accident on the Roosevelt Highway.

WIFE DIVORCES MATE SHE BROUGHT HERE

After she had staked her husband to transportation to join her here, he refused to live with her, Mrs. Marguerite R. Allen yesterday complained in winning a divorce from James Allen. She said they married in Vancouver, Wash., June 7, 1927, and separated September 22, 1927. Mrs. Allen charged non-support and desertion. He couldn't support her, so she came here and got a job, the wife asserted. Superior Judge Westover granted her a divorce.

HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT TODAY

To vote for a candidate stamp a cross opposite the name. To vote for a proposition stamp a cross opposite the word "Yes;" if against, "No." The crosses on the ballot below represent the recommendations of The Times on the several candidates and propositions appearing on the general election ballots. The latter, however, vary according to the districts where they are to be used and no one ballot carries all the names shown below. This ballot is a composite of all the district ballots. Where there is no contest the office is omitted. Where no cross appears The Times has no recommendation to offer.

TWO NEW BRUSH FIRES QUELLED

over in Los Angeles county. The rest was in Ventura."

In answer to an assertion reported to have been made by a ranch foreman in the Malibu district that Turner did not send men to the foreman's aid when the fire might have been checked in one of its most serious runs last Friday, the Fire Warden declared he received no message from the foreman.

"Instead of aiding us," Turner stated, "many residents in the endangered section complicated the situation by touching off backfires on their own account without notifying us or taking care that the reverse blazes did not spread out of the intended bounds.

"The result was that several new lines of fire sprang up that did more harm than good. We were concentrating our forces where they could do the most good and to have outsiders starting more fires in order to save a barn or two endangered other property and lives."

BEVERLY HILLS BLAZE

The Higgins Canyon fire was at a point about four miles back of the Beverly Hills Hotel and if it had spread it would have threatened many estates and fine residences. Assisting two companies of the Los Angeles Fire Department in fighting it were men and equipment from the Beverly Hills Fire Department and laborers from the Doheny ranch, the Bel-Air development and men in the employ of Bundy & Albright. After the fire had been brought under control a detail of men was left to prevent its flaring up again.

Hardly had the fire crews got this blaze under control when Deputy Chief McDowell, who was directing the battle, received word to proceed to the fire in Big Tujunga Wash. There he found fire companies from the Van Nuys and North Hollywood stations and sixteen men from the drill station at Pasadena avenue and Avenue 20 battling the flames. After seeing that this blaze was under control, he again left a detail to prevent its flaring up.

WATERSHED HIT

Ten acres of Pasadena's watershed were consumed last night when flames raced up Eaton's Canyon, near the Hart ranch, in Pasadena Glen, before a crew of 100 men could halt the blaze.

United States Forest Ranger Coulter, Deputy County Fire Warden Lang and J. W. Ritzell of the Pasadena Water Department, took charge of the crew and succeeded in keeping the flames from reaching heavy brush. A water-pump engine of the Federal service was mainly responsible for winning the fight against the fire in two hours.

Although not definitely established, it was believed by investigators that a carelessly tossed cigarette started the blaze.

HOW'S ESTATE VALUE GROWS

"Millionaire Hobo" Left $232,000, According to Attorney

The estate of James Eads How, known as the "millionaire hobo," is worth $322,000, instead of $105,000, Attorney S. C. Schaeffer reported to Probate Court yesterday after returning from St. Louis, where he went to investigate the property. Holger How of Los Angeles, adopted son of the eccentric, but nationally known philanthropist, and Louis How are his only heirs.

How was the grandson of Capt. James B. Eads, who built the Eads bridge, and was a member of a wealthy and prominent St. Louis family.

REPRIEVE TO BE GRANTED TO KEATON

Motley Flint Slayer Will Get Temporary Stay as He Waits Appeal Action

Frank D. Keaton, convicted slayer of Motley H. Flint, Los Angeles banker, and sentenced to hang on the 21st inst., shortly will be granted a reprieve while his case is appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Information of the expected reprieve came when Warden Holohan of San Quentin Prison, where Keaton is confined in death row, announced receipt of formal notification that request for an appeal had been taken.

According to the notification to Holohan, which he indicated will be followed by formal notice from the high court to halt plans for the execution, fifteen grounds were cited in the request for appeal. They include, among those of usual legal nature, misconduct of the trial and misconduct by the District Attorney.

Keaton shot and instantly killed Flint in a court room last July. He made no attempt to flee and was arrested at the scene. He pleaded guilty to the murder, but went to trial on an insanity plea. A jury found him sane and the death sentence was imposed.

Unused Clothes and Linen Given to Needy Persons

Thousands of new garments and household linens for distribution in needy homes were collected yesterday by the Los Angeles branch of the Needlework Guild of America at its temporary headquarters, 229 South Hope street.

The guild annually collects a stock of new garments and linens to supplement the needs of charitable organizations and to meet emergencies in investigated private cases. The moral effect of the possession of new garments is believed to be an especially helpful one, according to Mrs. Florence M. Kreider, 877 South Lucerne Boulevard, president of the local branch.

Children's school clothes, old people's warm sleeping garments and underwear, shoes and sweaters for all ages and both sexes and overalls and blouses for big boys are most needed this year, Mrs. Kreider said. By contributing two or more new articles of wearing apparel or household linen or by donating a sum of money one can become a member of the guild. Collection of new garments will continue daily until Thursday.

The Needlework Guild of America is reported as the only national organization in the world which has the specific duty of collecting and distributing new clothes to the needy. It was founded in 1885 and now has a membership of approximately 1,000,000. The Los Angeles branch is assisted in its work by a junior auxiliary.

ANGUAGES TO BE TAUGHT

Courses in French and Italian will begin at University of California, extension division, on the 11th and 16th inst., respectively. The former will be given in Room 714 and the latter in Room 813 at 815 South Hill street. Jerome Gazzo is to be the instructor.

POLICE AFTER DEAD BANDITS

Ex-Convict Slain in Branch Bank Hold-up

City Through Fooling With Gunmen, Says Officer

Outlaw Brought Down as He Tries to Escape

"Let it be a warning that the Los Angeles police are through fooling with bank bandits and other gentlemen of gunmen."

That was the terse comment of Chief of Detectives Taylor last night as he read the complete reports of Detective Lieutenants Woolman and Malina, who yesterday morning shot John Steindl, former convict, to death just after Steindl had robbed the Sunset Boulevard and Vine Park avenue branch of the Bank of America and was attempting to escape with $1025.

Malina and Woolman revealed in their report that Steindl had been observed prowling about the Bank of America branch and a Citizens' Trust and Savings Branch bank, directly across the street from each other Sunday night. The detectives watched him at that time, they said, as he made a survey of the property and decided they would be on hand when the banks opened this morning.

ROBBER APPEARS

"They had not long to wait. Shortly after 10:30 a.m. Steindl stepped up to the main window of the Bank of America branch, where E. E. Bodell, bank manager, was cashing a check for Mrs. Lenore Ruth Davis, 1434 Fairbanks Place. A 38-caliber revolver was in the gunman's hand.

"Open that drawer and give me the money!" commanded the bandit.

Bodell opened the drawer halfway and passed over $300 in currency.

"Open that drawer all the way; I want to see if you have a gun," said the bank robber.

Bodell complied and at the same time Mrs. Davis, who had stepped aside, started to walk out the front door.

"Come back here," ordered Steindl, nervously fingering his weapon.

COLLECTS MONEY

Mrs. Davis retreated from the scene and the bandit again directed his attention to the bank employees. Cashier A. Bruner and Horace B. Thomas, tellers, stood by different teller windows; L. W. Gullette, bookkeeper, and Marion Porter, stenographer, were in the rear of the bank.

"Bring me all the money you have," directed the bandit, turning his gun toward Bruner and Thomas.

One teller picked up a roll of $20 bills and the other a roll of $5 bills and passed them over to the bandit. Large amounts of other money that remained in their drawers were hidden from the sight of the bandit.

"Now all of you stay where you are and don't try to follow me," warned the gunman as he backed toward the door.

SHOT BY POLICE

Detectives Malina and Woolman take up the story.

"We saw him come out of the door with his gun in his hand," they said. "He ran across the street and started south on Echo Park avenue, we after him. As he got across the street we started to shoot. He crumpled and fell on the sidewalk but he still had his gun in his hand and he was trying to use it. We emptied the magazine of our automatic pistols at him and he fell back to the sidewalk."

Hurried to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, Steindl died a few minutes later. At the County Morgue it was found that twelve of the detectives' bullets had pierced his body.

Furnished with fingerprints from the body, the police identification bureau soon announced the identity of the bandit. Police records show that Steindl was 43 years of age and that on Aug. 10, 1918, he was arrested in San Francisco on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. On May 1, 1921 he was sentence to San Quentin prison for robbery, and was discharged from that institution on Dec. 8, 1929.

HAD NO FUNDS

Later yesterday, Malina and Woolman asserted that they had discovered that Steindl had been living in a third-class hotel on East Sixth street. Lodgers of the place declared that the bandit had made friends with no one. Two letters from other ex-convicts were found among his belongings. No money was found in the room and only a nickel was in Steindl's clothing, other than currency taken from the bank, and the investigating officers believe that the man resorted to robbery when his funds became low.

An inquest over the body probably will be conducted tomorrow.

Candidate for Sheriff Accused in Damage Suit

Suit for $100,000 for asserted "assault and battery" was filed against Clyde H. Plummer, former head of the District Attorney's dry squad and candidate for Sheriff, by J. P. Roman, arrested for a Wright Act violation June 6, 1929.

The suit was filed by Attorney S. S. Hahn, who also represents a newspaper that is strongly opposing Plummer's candidacy.

The asserted violence accompanying the arrest so affected the defendant, it was stated, that he was "practically out of his mind" for several months and that he still is suffering from injuries received.

MANY LEAVE ON MEXICAN TRIP TODAY

Chamber to Set Record by Sending Its Largest Excursion Into Country

One hundred and sixty-one Angelenos, comprising the largest excursion to Mexico ever formed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will leave this city this afternoon on a Southern Pacific special for a three weeks' tour of the leading cities of the neighboring republic. The train will leave the Arcade station at 3:15 o'clock.

The excursion is the sixth to be sent to Mexico by the Chamber. The party this year will be headed by President John C. Austin, with Charles P. Bayer, field secretary, and Clarence H. Matson, foreign-commerce manager, handling details of the itinerary involving contracts with officials in the cities visited, and trade connections. A large number of business men will be in the excursion party, many for the purpose of establishing trade and business contacts.

Members of the excursion will make their first stop in Mexico when Hermosillo is reached tomorrow afternoon. From that point on, the itinerary calls for stops at sixteen leading cities, including two full days at Guadalajara, the second largest city, and six full days in the capital, Mexico City. The party will return to Los Angeles on the afternoon of the 22nd inst.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN PROPOSED

Councilman Williams Calls for Move to Aid in Unemployment Situation

A resolution asking that a general clean-up campaign be inaugurated, which will improve the appearance of the city, aid realty values, lessen the fire hazard and lighten unemployment, was introduced in the City Council yesterday by Councilman Williams. It was referred to the Public Welfare Committee.

Williams asks that a general appeal be issued to all property owners and that the Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations be asked to participate.

Under his plan the Board of Public Works will register the names and addresses of all property owners who can furnish such employment and also those desiring the work.

The plan, according to Williams, will result in the elimination of rubbish dumps, debris, weeds and dry grass from vacant lots and other property.

"RECORD" CONTEMPT TRIAL DATE FIXED

While members of the State Supreme Court found themselves unable to agree on a petition for a writ of prohibition to prevent Superior Judge Collier from hearing contempt proceedings against the Los Angeles Record, Chief Justice Waste announced yesterday the case will be resubmitted and heard in Los Angeles in December. The petition, filed by the publisher and two editors of the newspaper, contends that Judge Collier was biased and prejudiced and that he gave advice to the local Bar Association, asserted to be the most interested party in the action. The proceedings against the Record grew out of publication of cartoons relating to Dist.-Atty. Fitts and the Julian Petroleum case.

That natural finish and how to get it

WITH THIS NEW BEIGE POWDER FROM PRIMROSE HOUSE

If you want more color in your skin, use rouge to get it, but never look for it in your powder box. Light shades leave the skin spotty. Extra dark powders make the face hard and old. Primrose Beige powder is exactly right. So fine in texture it actually becomes a part of the skin, giving that natural finish to the complexion that every woman wants. It will not cake or harden and the way it clings is a perpetual delight. A luxury of course, but you'll see how important if you'll just try a dollar's worth of this $3 powder. In boxes, $1 and $3. PASSING THEM UP
Arizona towns are painting their names on their roofs so that aircraft may know where they are. One paint company is supplying material to every neighborhood of over 1000 inhabitants. Evidently Cactus Abe does not intend anybody shall pass him over.

THROUGH THE WINDOW
It may be all right to send bills the first of the month; but it peeves us to have it advertised in the little glass frames on the front side of the envelope. They should copy wedding invitations and not a hoosegow entrance, into which all may look and see our delinquencies.

PINCH-HITTER IN PARKING
William Wrigley, part-time resident of Southern California and all-time owner of the Chicago Cubs, sends his chauffeur downtown in the Windy City early in the morning to find a suitable parking place. Later the chewing-gum king arrives and occupies the coveted spot. This is what may be called pinch-hitting in parking.

ALL WET
A modern Noah, Pryor James of Kentville, N. S., became inspirited and built him an ark for another flood. The police also had a hunch of something wet and appeared at the door of the big boat. Noah came out with a shotgun and got a bullet instead of an olive branch from the peace officers. Thus are the reigns of another flood subsiding.

DOGS BORED
Two Los Angeles dogs were recently decorated with wreaths and photographed for the papers because they had shown special heroism. However, both looked bored and one had his tongue hanging out from being dragged around in the limelight. If they were really thinking of honoring the pups and wished to make them happy, they should have given them both a hunk of hamburger. Humans are funny animals!

BIGGER AND BETTER SPANKINGS
The old-fashioned spanking administered in the woodshed was frequently an impressive rite. The results were also often wholesome and lasting. The boy became more obedient and thoughtful. It was a real incident in the lad's life.

But there is precious little spanking going on in the world these days.

If mother gravely tells Willie that she will have father attend to his case when he comes home the angel child will give a snort of derision. He is worldly wise and he knows that parents no longer use this means to encourage good behavior.

Like conditions prevail in the public schools. The ruler is no longer the emblem of authority. If a worn and harassed teacher whacks a turbulent and refractory child over the knuckles in the ancient manner the lad's parents would be at the schoolhouse the next morning demanding the scalp of the teacher. The Board of Education will be appealed to and there will be threats of court proceedings. The parents do not propose to have their innocent little lamb beaten up by an ogre.

The average child of today may reach man's estate without ever having experienced physical correction at the hands of either parents or teachers. Yet it is sometimes good medicine for disobedience, discourtesy and other juvenile offenses, and frequently very effective.

Now the head of President Hoover's crime commission is seriously suggesting a study of flogging as a method of punishment for certain offenders. He may bring back the cat-o'-nine tails for bad men. In England, in Canada and in our own state of Delaware the lash is still invoked as a penalty for wrongdoers. It has always been highly efficient. Some criminals would almost as soon go to the gallows as to the leather.

BATTLE FOR CONGRESS
Since only once in fifty years have midterm elections failed to modify the complexion of Congress in the direction of reducing the majority of the party in power, Democratic gains and Republican losses are to be expected today as the normal course of events. Many normally Democratic Congressional districts were swept into the Republican column in 1928 by the Hoover landslide and many of these will go back this year. But neither primary nor preliminary election results indicate that the Republican majority in either Senate or House will be wiped out. Maine, it will be recalled, gave its customary Republican majority in its September election.

California will today, according to all indications, send to Washington a Congressional delegation identical in makeup with the present one—nine Republicans and one Democrat; in the Third District, a special election will be required to select a successor to Congressman Curry, who died since the primary but in all probability a Republican will be chosen when the election is held. No Senators are elected from California this year.

Robert H. Lucas, directing the Republican national campaigns, predicts a "normal majority" for his party in the next Congress, but has not put the word "normal" into figures. The present majority, conceded to be somewhat abnormal, is seventeen in the Senate and 103 in the House. Jouett Shouse, understudy to John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, says he expects, or at least hopes, to see the capture of six Senatorships and seventy Congressional seats, which would not overturn the nominal Republican majority in the Senate, but would give the House to the Democrats. The Republican majority in the Senate, however, is not entirely dependable since it contains several Senators who are Republican in name only.

There are some eighty fairly close contests the country over, of which the Democrats have to win nearly all to carry out Shouse's prediction or hope. While the business depression is conceded to be the most serious since that of 1893, and this is bound to have its political repercussions, there is no general indication that the voters blame the Republican party for the slump; but that, on the contrary, they realize that it is part of a world-wide depression. That President Hoover has done everything possible to alleviate it, far more than any President has ever done before under similar circumstances, is generally admitted.

Of the contests outside California, the Senatorial fights in Illinois, Ohio, Massachusetts, Nebraska and Colorado are probably the most important and that in Alabama the most interesting. The only gubernatorial contests of note are in New York, where Gov. Roosevelt is having a hard fight against Charles H. Tuttle, and in Pennsylvania, where former Gov. Pinchot, renominated by a party split, has in turn caused a party split which seems to endanger his election.

In Illinois a chance to regain the Senate is conceded to James Hamilton Lewis, largely through the customary treachery to the Republican ticket on the part of Mayor Thompson of Chicago. In the Republican primary, Thompson worked off an old grudge against Senator Deneen by supporting Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, and now is working off a grudge against the McCormicks by supporting Lewis. Mrs. McCormick will carry Illinois, outside of Cook county, by 100,000, or more, and if she gets a reasonably even break in Chicago will be elected, according to pre-election indications. But Lewis claims Chicago by 150,000.

In Ohio Senator McCulloch, serving the unexpired term of Senator Burton, has failed to rouse much enthusiasm for himself and may be defeated by Robert J. Bulkeley, Democrat. While Bulkeley is campaigning as an antiprohibitionist, many votes will be influenced by personality rather than issues.

In Massachusetts, former Senator Butler, Republican, and Marcus Coolidge, Democrat, are the nominees. Neither is a very colorful candidate and a light vote is expected with the result in doubt.

In Nebraska the candidates are Senator Norris, nominal Republican, and former Senator Hitchcock, Democrat. The bolt of Norris from Hoover in 1928 is a prominent issue in the campaign and Hitchcock is personally liked, so that an upset is not beyond possibility. In Colorado, there is a stiff fight for the seat of Senator Phipps, who declined renomination, between George H. Shaw, Republican, and Edward P. Costigan, Democrat. The tariff and electric power are the principal issues and prohibtion is not involved.

Alabama sees Senator Heflin running as an independent, having been ruled out of the Democratic primary, which was won by Congressman Bankhead. As there is no Republican candidate, Heflin is hoping to get the bulk of the Republican vote, but his well-known Ku Klux affiliations and other Negro-baiting activities make such expectations doubtful. It is not expected more than 50,000 Democrats will bolt the ticket to vote for Heflin and Bankhead's election is regarded as probable.

In New York, Gov. Roosevelt has a stiff handicap because of recent revelations of Tammany corruption, which he has done nothing to uncover and little to cure, and he has no enthusiastic newspaper support in consequence. His opponent, former United States Attorney for the New York district, has been pushing this advantage fully and his election, with the consequent elimination of Roosevelt as a Democratic Presidential possibility, is considered not improbable. The Pennsylvania campaign is largely based on personalities and local issues and such outstanding Republicans as W. W. Atterbury and Samuel M. Vauclain announced support of the Democratic nominee after Pinchot went out of his way to attack them. This nominee is John M. Hemphill, who might conceivably become Democratic Presidential timber in case of success.

LEE SIDE O' L.A.
By Lee Shippey

HERE are two stories of Hollywood repartee which are too good to keep.

A famous wit, one story goes, was invited to a pretentious dinner party at the home of a multimillionaire. He accepted, and when the toastmaster called on him for a few remarks responded generously.

But next day he sent his host a bill for $500.

The host felt aggrieved. He had given a wonderful dinner party at which many famous people had been present. He had done his best to make it a dinner they would remember all their lives. He felt it was a privilege for a mere humorist to be included in such a party. So, having made his money by being a man of action, he followed his natural impulse and called up the wit.

"I was very much surprised," he said, pleasantly, "to receive a bill for $500 for your services as a speaker at my party. I am under the impression that this bill was sent by your secretary without your knowledge, as I take it for granted you would not wish to send a bill for being one of my guests. It was, of course, a purely social invitation, not a professional invitation."

"On the contrary," replied the humorist, "I regard it as purely a professional invitation—as my wife was not invited and the wives of other guests were."

Horse of Another Color

The other is the story of an actress whose hair once was dark, but now is another color, and of a director who used to be her husband, but now is not.

She was in the cast and she was directing. She forgot her cue and was silent when she should have spoken.

"Oh, do wake up!" he exclaimed. "This is dragging terribly."

"You're always picking on me," flared back the actress. "You never pick on the rest of the cast. I suppose it's because you were never married to all of them."

"Heavens forbid!" murmured the director, prayerfully. "There's no need for anyone to take what I said personally. I was speaking to everybody."

"Well," exclaimed the actress, "you know how to make me mad. You always did. You never should have married a red-headed woman."

"I didn't," murmured the director.

And then everybody smiled and the rehearsal went on as if nothing had happened, for the show's the thing and cannot be hindered by personalities.

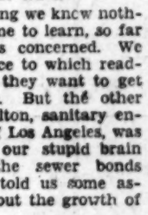
All Comes Out in the Wash

Politics is something we know nothing about and decline to learn, so far as this colyum is concerned. We want it to be a place to which readers can turn when they want to get away from politics. But the other day Willis T. Knowlton, sanitary engineer of the city of Los Angeles, was trying to get into our stupid brain his reasons why the sewer bonds should carry and told us some astonishing things about the growth of Los Angeles.

Most of us never think of a motion-picture studio as a user of water, but Knowlton says that Warner Brothers studio turns a daily average of 500,000 gallons of water into the sewers, the Technicolor Corporation a daily average of 1,000,000 gallons and two other studios similar amounts, the smallest water user among them turning as much waste water daily into the sewers as would all the residents and business houses of the average town of 15,000 inhabitants. That shows that the studios still are doing some business and developing a few feet of film. We also have here what is said to be the largest laundry in the world, as well as many other laundries and some canneries which use as much as 1,500,000 gallons of water daily. One downtown city block covered with height-limit and near-height-limit buildings will use more water than the entire city of Ontario, say, or will at least turn more waste water into the sewers, as water used to sprinkle lawns does not go into sewers. Nearly all industrial plants consume quantities of water of which the average citizen has little conception, and the number and size of industrial plants here have grown amazingly in the last fifteen years.



Joshua Little Says

The need for wars is certainly past. The automobiles kill off just as many people, with no time out for peace conferences.

The "Eagle Rock Artists and Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce" jointly sign invitations to an art exhibit November 3-16. Where but in Southern California can you find a tie-up between artists and a chamber of commerce?

Whenever there's a really great human need some inventive genius finds a way to meet it. Now some one has invented a mechanical device to shuffle and deal bridge hands.

A real efficiency expert is one who recognizes the fact that there are some people it is a waste of time and money to try to make "efficient."

RAZ OF RAZZES
At a cost to the subjects of his small and not particularly wealthy kingdom of more than $3,000,000, Raz Tafari Makonnen on Sunday became Emperor Haile Selassie I, Lord King of Kings of Ethiopia, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah (see Revelations v:5,) the Elect of God and the Light of the World. Raz Tafari claims direct descent from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba (a scandal not referred to in the Bible,) but Solomon in all his glory never had the nerve to spend $3,000,000 on a coronation, even if he had that much money, which is doubtful. It is to be feared the descendant, instead of inheriting Solomon's brains and the Queen of Sheba's beauty, has (with apologies to Shaw) inherited Solomon's beauty and the Queen of Sheba's brains.

This Raz of Razzes has not even the excuse of novelty for the outlay, since he has been governing Abyssinia for fourteen years as regent. However, it was a good show and may have been worth it; at any rate, if publicity is worth anything to the Light of the World, he has had his money's value in that. Also he gets a couple of fine motor cars and other valuable presents from the King of England, an equally spectacular set of gifts from the President of France and presumably some envious thoughts from the Exile of Doorn and other discrowned monarchs. It is not announced what King Carol sent him—maybe a few discarded mistresses.

Unfortunately the royal airplane cracked up a few days ago under the apparently inexpert guidance of a New York flyer whose credentials seem to have impressed the emperor more than they should. The Raz gave the pilot the razzberry.

YOUTH WILL BE SERVED
This is a young man's world, all right. In half a dozen States the political plums are falling into the laps of youths who never bothered to tarry at Jericho until their beards had grown. In Alabama the Democrats are reasonably certain to elect as Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., who is only 32 years of age, but who has already been Speaker of the State Assembly. They are picking them young all over the South. They are far enough away from the Civil War for that.

BUYING NOW
Those who have regular employment or money in the bank may safely enter the "Buy now" movement—in fact, they make a mistake if they do not. Merchandise will not be any cheaper and think of the opportunities that are offered in the selection of Christmas gifts at this time.

BOBBY'S BALL
Bobby Jones says he is in favor of the new and bigger golf ball that will appear on the links the first of the year. This confirms the opinion that the Atlantan plans to enjoy his game from this time on.

THE NEW GRAFTER
By James J. Montague

In the earliest days of the race, I am told,
Men were grasping and greedy at heart;
Their hunger for riches were avid and bold
And graft had a pretty fair start.
When the strong wanted bear skins, or deer meat or grain
They took what they needed by force
And their right to this high-handed method of gain
Seemed a time-honored matter of course.

The rude robber barons who came by and by,
In their power supreme and secure,
Resorted to graft to obtain their supply
Of money and food from the poor.
They had little wit, and they used no finesse,
But their nerve was serene and undaunted,
And by using all possible modes of duress
They managed to get what they wanted.

When nations were founded and statutes were made
Graft still was a flourishing custom
And the tribute the people unwillingly paid
Was so great that it threatened to bust 'em.
Still they wore a brave smile, and when fuel ran low
They burned up their floor boards and rafters,
For their bitter experience taught 'em to know
How hard were the fists of the grafters.

We are dwelling today in a civilized age,
The grafter more crafty has grown,
No sinister war on the world does he wage
As he did in the times that have flown.
But he goes in pursuit of a far greater loot,
He gathers more riches each year,
For he uses his brains in amassing his gains
Instead of a club or a spear!

THE MEXICAN LABORER

BY KARL De LAITTRE

Chairman of the Committee on Immigration, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, President, Bovey-DeLaittre Lumber Company, Minneapolis

[Reprinted by special permission from Nation's Business]

To the average citizen the Mexicans and questions arising out of their immigration to the United States have been regarded as of local concern to the people of the section adjacent to our southwestern border, where the great proportion of our Mexican immigrants are domiciled. But there is a phase of the subject which brings Mexican immigration more closely home to us—to our very dinner tables, in fact—and emphasizes that this is a question of national scope and of intimate concern to citizens of the entire country.

This broader estimate of the importance of Mexican immigration as a national rather than a localized or sectional question comes from the realization that the Southwest—California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Southern Colorado—produces annually from 300,000 to 500,000 carloads of vegetables truck and fruits, which are transported across the continent and distributed to all parts of the United States. In the production of these vegetables and fruits—estimated to aggregate about 40 per cent of the nation's supply of these products—the humble Mexican immigrant has had an important part.

The development of the highly intensified agricultural industry of the Southwest has made it possible to a large extent for the average American wage earner, as well as the person in more affluent circumstances, to have fresh vegetables and fruits on his table virtually the year around, no matter where he may live.

The Mexican immigrant in the last decade has become an important factor in the Southwest's economic life, principally as a common laborer in agriculture, on the railroads and in the mines. He is a natural cowboy and is found in numbers on the ranches. He has contributed appreciably to the productive wealth and prosperity of that section. In sugar-beet culture in certain limited areas of the North Central States the Mexican laborer has taken a place of similar relative importance. According to reliable estimates, Mexicans constitute from 65 to 85 per cent of the common labor used in agriculture in the Southwestern States. In sugar-beet production they perform about 65 per cent of the hand work in the fields; on eighteen of the principal western railroads they comprise from 54 to 87 per cent of the section and extra gangs and in the Southwest mines about 60 per cent of the workers. More than 80 per cent of the perishable commodities produced in the Southwest are handled in the field by Mexican farm laborers, who also are the dominating labor supply in the Southwest cotton industry.

A large proportion of the crops grown in the Southwest, and also sugar beets, on which Mexicans perform most of the common labor, are designated as "stoop," "knee" and "bend" crops. These terms indicate the nature of the work required in planting, thinning, weeding and harvesting them. It is work that requires much back bending, stooping, kneeling and, in some cases, even crawling across the fields on all fours, or working in a stooping posture all day, day after day, until specific operations are completed. Obviously it is arduous, tedious, repetitive, monotonous and exacting work, often requiring the laborer to toil in the dirt, dust and heat. It must be done out in the sun—in the Southwest frequently in temperatures ranging day after day from 100 up to, in extreme cases, 145 degs. in the fields.

Because of the great variety of crops produced, the cropping process continues practically the year around in the Southwest. Naturally a great deal of the work of the agricultural laborers there is seasonal, and an immense army of casual migratory workers must be available to meet the growers' demands.

At certain periods of varying extent in all parts of this section many casual workers are needed in addition to the regular farm hands, for planting, irrigating, cultivating and harvesting various crops. Time is an important factor in nearly all these operations. Delay of even hours in a ripe-crop emergency at harvest time often may mean the loss of the farmer's entire year of production efforts and an aggregate loss of millions of dollars to the growers.

Surveys of the common labor needs of California agriculture show that the slack demand for workers is in December, January and February; the need in March, April, May, June and November is more than 90 per cent greater than in the slack time; the period of greater need is July, August, September and October, with nearly three times the demand of the slack period. September makes the heaviest demand for farm labor. Studies of the casual labor needs of California agriculture show that its requirements for transient or seasonal workers (in addition to regular or permanent hands) ranges from 27,955 the latter part of February to 76,877 workers the latter part of September.

In connection with California's seasonal labor demands it is interesting to note that of the 136,400 farms in the State, 100,000 are of less than 100 acres, and 85,000 are of less than forty acres. Eighty per cent of these farms are virtually one-man propositions except at harvest time, when they require from five to possibly 100 casual laborers each for a relatively short time. The small farmer there is as vitally concerned in having an adequate common labor supply as are the big farmers or companies that operate extensive industrialized tracts.

It readily may be seen why the employment of the agricultural laborer in the Southwest under methods now in vogue is not continuous in any locality, but may be for periods ranging from a few days or weeks to a few months, and then the worker must go to another farm, another locality, or possibly to another State to market his labor. Considerable time is spent in seeking and traveling to new jobs. The laborer must be away from home and family much of the time unless he can move his family with him on his migrations.

All these difficult aspects of the work in Southwest agriculture combine to demand peculiar fitness, adaptability and disposition on the part of the workers. Some of the uninviting features surrounding common labor in Southwest agriculture apply also to maintenance-of-way work on southwestern railroads which have extensive trackage in the arid and semi-arid regions, much of it across desert sands, and to the surface work required by the Southwest mines.

Apparently the Mexicans are especially well adapted to the common labor tasks required in the Southwest; they are fond of outdoor life and rural occupations and are accustomed to the section's climatic conditions. They easily enter a nomadic mode of living which permits them to meet the seasonal, migratory demands of Southwest agriculture, and they remain in farm occupations more loyally than other groups, the growers say.

A great majority of the growers and other employers of the section assert that the Mexicans are essential, as an acclimated, adaptable common labor supply, to the continued progress and prosperity of the Southwest; that to cut off Mexican seasonal labor, without providing a satisfactory alternative, would bring serious interruption to their agricultural operations, and to sugar-beet production in the North Central States as well; that it would force the farmers to reduce their acreage, or possibly practically abandon production, of the more profitable intensive products and compel them to turn to growing general farm and field crops of which there already is a surplus, and that it likely would result in higher cost for farm labor and increased transportation charges.

It is further pointed out that a considerable decrease in production of present crops would mean heavy loss in tonnage and revenue to the railroads; would cripple industries built up in the Southwest as a result of and dependent on existing agricultural operations and would depreciate land values and investments incidental to these operations. Injury to the economic activities of this large section undoubtedly would be reflected in other parts of the country, for experience has shown that depression in any considerable region of the United States affects conditions in other localities.

These are some of the economic disadvantages which many students of the question as well as leaders of the Southwest predict would result if the supply of Mexican common labor was cut off. Another result which must be faced, and which the average American consumer probably will appreciate more readily, is that, if Southwest growers are obliged to curtail their production of vegetables and fruits or to abandon them, a large portion of our people will be deprived of an important food supply.

RIPPLING RHYMES
by Walt Mason

HELPING THE FARMERS

Today I ate four loaves of bread, tomorrow I'll eat five, that agriculture, nearly dead, may raise itself and thrive. The cooks are busy at their stoves, they toil on tireless feet, that I may have the seven loaves I have agreed to eat. This country cannot have a boom, nor shake off its despair, while all the farms are full of gloom, and farmers full of care. The price of wheat has sunk so low the farmers toil in vain; it doesn't pay a man to grow that once prized brand of grain. It doesn't pay a man to reap, he threshes at a loss; and so the growers sit and weep, beneath their heavy cross. And when the farmers have no coin, all commerce feels disease; the butcher sells no tenderloin, the grocer sells no cheese. The merchants see stark ruin come, and all men wail and croak; the plumber cannot sell a plum, the auctioneer goes broke. We're anxious to be neat and trim, we diet-crazy guys; and so our figures may be slim, we cut out bread and pies. The honest grub our fathers ate to us appears a crime; we're anxious to be underweight in this fad-ridden time. But I've decided to return to good old-fashioned ways, so that the lamp of hope may burn for honest rustic jays. What boots it if I do grow fat, or if my waist expands? I'll help the farmer come to bat with profits from his lands. It is my duty to assist the husbandman, I wot; I also ween and likewise wist this scheme will hit the spot. The price of wheat will surely rise, go soaring overhead, when I get back to eating pies and many kinds of bread. There will be joy in rural groves and gladness everywhere, when I consume the fourteen loaves that form my bill of fare.

PEN POINTS

The vogue of the miniature seems to have included bathing bones.

Note on rouge: Color doesn't make a bum picture any better.

Come to think of it, the average Frenchman would be equally embarrassed by a menu printed in American.

"Money goes farther now." Yes, the money invested in a car goes about 20,000 miles farther.

A hick town is a place where you needn't ask the waiter to translate the menu.

Now that chemists have found a better way to make postage stamps stick, they might try it on amendments.

A radical is one who has nothing to lose by a change; a conservative one who has nothing to gain.

Americanism: Laboring to save the half-shot; taking a little interest in the shot.

It might be worse. Sometimes nature required the help of a 800-pound pull when the baby came for your hair to come out.

Out in the country you find the middle class, the capitalist and the laborer, but the average farmer is all of them.

Teachers say Mother Goose rhymes make a wrong impression. There's one, for instance, about a pocket full of rye—and it's nearly always corn.

They are happily married when the one who finally gets up to answer the phone doesn't jump at the other.

Hard times are those when people stop feeding the cows and wonder why there are no milkers.

For that matter, you can't train a dog just by saying "Don't" at half-hour intervals.

There is now a household contrivance to regulate electricity. It isn't called an automatic.

Correct this sentence: "I'd rather go back to plowing than be the young climber, who has to steal the ideas of those who have arrived."

Too many people have the habit of doing a thing twice instead of once.

Stand For Prohibition

REDONDO BEACH, Oct. 31.—To the W.C.T.U. of Redondo Beach wishes to express appreciation of your stand on prohibition, for the enforcement of the law. There is so much newspaper space now given to disseminate written propaganda of the wets, seeking to make the public believe that prohibition is a failure in the country, that an opposing stand is much appreciated by this organization.

PIONEER OF OLD WEST RALLIES KIN

Mrs. Lockard Hostess to Long Line of Relatives at Birthday Fete

With four generations of her family grouped about her and amid vivid memories of a romantic life in frontier days during the winning of the West, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lockard celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday anniversary at 977 North Wilton Place yesterday. With her were her daughter, grand-daughter, great grand-daughter and a great, great grand-daughter.

Strong and vigorous, with an amazing memory and a deep sense of humor, Mrs. Lockard recalled with alertness and precision dates of her life and the stirring times when, with her husband, she followed the great trail of steel rails westward to the driving of the golden spike at Ogden, Utah.

From Lexington, Mo., where she was born, the pioneer woman began her travels early, visiting St. Louis and other frontier posts, and lived for a time at Nashville, Tenn., with members of the Daniel Webster family, of which she is a descendant.

After the Civil War she married a dashing trooper who swung his saber under the guidons of the Second California Cavalry. He had enlisted while in the West as a mule driver. With him she followed the trail of steel and lived in pioneer settlements in Washington and Oregon, a true daughter of the West.

Those were the memories that came back to her last night as with a lusty breath she leveled the flickering flames of eighty-eight candles adorning a large birthday cake prepared for her by Mrs. Iveen Lawrence, her grand-daughter.

For Old Man Time she has sneers, and for happiness and longevity she recommends hard work and a strong regard for truth—always.

"If we work hard and constructively," Mrs. Lockard said, "we may go to bed at night and sleep soundly. And there will be no worries to trouble us providing we always stand firm to the truth and do unto others as we would wish to be done by."

Mrs. Lockard's chief pride is a laughing, blue-eyed baby, Jacqueline Heart De River, 6 months of age, her great-great-grand-daughter.

The five generations included in the party last night were Mrs. Lockard, Mrs. Ida Crowe, her daughter; Mrs. Lawrence, a granddaughter; Mrs. Lawrence, a grand-daughgranddaughter, and her baby, Mrs. Lockard's great-great-grandchild. She has a total of four children, seventeen grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Lockard has ridden in the ox-cart and the prairie schooner and all modes of transportation since, excepting the airplane.

"I think an air ride would be a great thrill," she said, "but I think I'll wait until my 100th birthday—one really should, you know, be of mature age to appreciate the thrill."

BRIEGLEB'S CHURCH TO BUILD HALL

Action Taken to Utilize Gift of $25,000 Made by Charles H. Crawford

The congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church within the next three days will be asked to take definite action toward the construction of a parish hall. This decision was made last night at a meeting of the united board of the church which announced after their conference that a building committee will be appointed soon.

The decision to proceed with plans for the erection of the parish hall followed the gift announced by Dr. Gustav Briegleb, pastor of the church, from Charles H. Crawford, Los Angeles politician.

Crawford's gift of $5000 with a pledge of $20,000 additional will be raised to $160,000 by the congregation, the church officials said, and a modern building erected, including a gymnasium, private class rooms, sewing rooms and a gathering place for the community.

harbor district leads all others with subscriptions amounting to 49.20 per cent of its quota.

Before calling upon vice-chairmen of the residential district to make reports, Mrs. Albert Crutcher, residential chairman, paid a tribute to the fine quality of leadership and devotion which has characterized Mr. Kerr's conduct of the chest drive, not only this year, but also in the two years past when he served in the same capacity. Her sentiments were echoed in the applause with which campaign workers greeted her remarks. The residential district to date reported 34.31 per cent of its quota of $200,000, or $68,609 subscribed.

Music for the luncheon was supplied by the Rainbow Gardens Orchestra under the direction of La-Rue Hilliker.

Regardless of the fact that today is election day, there will be a report luncheon, at which Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin will be the chief speaker. Rabbi Julius A. Leiber of Temple Emanu-El will deliver the invocation and Earl Burtnett and his Biltmore Orchestra will provide the music.

DIVORCE BREWED IN HOME OF CLERIC BY HOME BREW

The drinking of home-brewed beer by the wife of a minister of the gospel, is no less embarrassing because he happens at the time not to be preaching, but teaching in a theological seminary, Rev. William Aaron Minesinger of Pasadena testified in Superior Judge Fleming's court yesterday.

Nor was the ignominy of the deed assuaged by the fact that the defendant, Mrs. Frances Merel Minesinger, did not deal with a bootlegger, but rather made the beer herself.

"Was it good stuff?" asked Judge Fleming.

"You mean, did I drink it?" responded the plaintiff. "Of course not, Your Honor. I was greatly embarrassed by my wife's attitude toward the liquor question, and by other things.

"She drank beer in the presence of my friends, and when I demanded that she give it up, because it interferred with my employment in a valued position, she refused and demanded that I leave home. I did."

Judge Fleming granted the divorce.

M.-G.-M. Will Produce Fifty Foreign Films

Production of foreign-language pictures on the basis of picture for picture with English-speaking talkies, will be under way within a month at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, it was announced yesterday by Arthur Loew, in charge of the company's affairs outside of the United States, and now in California to confer with Louis B. Mayer, Irving G. Thalberg and other production heads.

The announcement means fifty foreign-language pictures to be made during the coming year. The majority of these will be in French, German and Spanish. The schedule will more than double the total output of the studio. It means the importation of many new European screen artists, directors and writers, extensive new construction and other development.

Students Give Musical Show at Westwood

University of California at Los Angeles students presented "Campus Capers," semiannual musical revue, yesterday in the auditorium at Westwood.

The production, under the direction of Fred Harris, consisted of five units, embodying soloists, a co-ed chorus, eccentric dancers and a campus version of "Old Heidelberg." The latter number was sung by the Men's Glee Club, which also introduced a new university Victory Song.

The next campus stage production will take place Thursday and Friday evenings with the presentation of "Outward Bound" by the University Dramatics Society.

Students to Take Charge of Store

Theories of salesmanship learned in the classroom will be practiced tomorrow by more than 250 high-school students when they enter the employ of the Broadway Department Store for the day in observance of the establishment's seventh annual High-School Day. They will take places behind counters and cash registers, at wrapping desks and in executive offices, and at closing time will receive a day's wages for their work. In addition they are to receive high-school credits for their efforts.

Before the store opens for business the initiates will convene on the street floor for final instructions and assignment to their respective tasks. Throughout the business day an octet from John C. Fremont High School will provide vocal numbers on the mezzanine floor. High-school atmosphere, provided by pennants, class colors and football trophies, will prevail in all departments.

The event is the Broadway's way of co-operating with the Board of Education.

Alienists Say Letter Writer Dangerous Man

"Too dangerous to be at large" was the professional opinion expressed yesterday by Dr. Paul A. Bower and Dr. E. H. Steele, alienists, concerning Thurlow G. Rickman, on trial for his sanity before a jury in Superior Judge Craig's court. Rickman is accused of sending George L. Eastman demands for $1,200,000 as "damages" for having been placed in a psychopathic retreat and under parole. Dr. Victor Parkin, alienist, had testified Rickman is "dangerous."

After the prosecution rested yesterday the defense called as its first witness Rickman's brother, Rev. Charles H. Rickman of Pasadena. He asserted his belief that his brother is sane. The hearing was continued until tomorrow and will consume the rest of this week.

ELEVEN CENTS PERIL LIBERTY

Negro May Spend Rest of Life in Prison If Convicted on Burglary Charge

For the asserted theft of 11 cents Veby McCarroll, 40 years of age, a Negro, may spend the rest of his life in the penitentiary. McCarroll was arrested early yesterday morning as a suspicious character by Officer Martin in an alley near Fifth and Gladys streets. A purse found in his possession, according to the officer, was identified by P. C. Hendrix as having been taken from his room at 507 Towne avenue. The purse contained exactly 11 cents.

Police records show that McCarroll has served three penitentiary sentences, twice in San Quentin and once in Folsom and, if convicted a fourth time will became a habitual criminal and liable to a life sentence. He is held on suspicion of burglary.

Business Tour Proves World's Trade Reviving

Improved business conditions the world over were reported here yesterday by Frank Goldberg, head of the Goldberg advertising agency of Australia and New Zealand, with headquarters at Sydney, after a tour to many of the leading countries.

At the Biltmore Goldberg said that in his opinion England has faced the most baffling situation, with the dole system offering serious complications.

Manufacturing centers in the United States produced a favorable impression on the visitor, who said he saw evidence of increasing activity at the majority of such places.

Goldberg will visit San Francisco and Seattle before returning to his home.

Of Interest to Women

Society

By JUANA NEAL LEVY

Uniting two families of prominence in the Southland, the marriage of Miss Susanna Elizabeth Brant, daughter of the late O. T. Brant and Mrs. Brant of 3151 South Figueroa street, to Alexander Rittig King, son of the late Frank W. King and Mrs. King of 738 South Bonnie Brae street, was solemnized yesterday, the ceremony taking place at high noon at the Brant home, Father Rev. Martin O'Malley officiating.

The house was a bower of flowers and foliage.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Alfred Thomas Brant, while Louis Chan and James Dunham served as best men.

The bridal gown was of white satin with long rats of lace veil from Spain held in place over a high comb in tantilla motif, three gardenias at one side. The bride carried a white prayer book with shower of lilies of the valley on narrow white satin ribbons.

Two little nieces of the bride, Susan Elizabeth and Phoebe Diane Bayly, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bayly (Helen Marie Brant), were flower girls, while Thomas Brant, Jr., and Harold Bayly, Jr., were their escorts. The little maids wore quaint frocks copied after the famous Velasquez painting, with full hooped skirts of gold cloth, the bodices low over the shoulders being of pink and gold brocade, and they carried sprays of remembrance in Spanish moss, feather and rose in their hair completing the picture.

Their small escorts were clad in blue and pale yellow suits, respectively. After a wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. King left for a honeymoon in Mexico City, and will make their future home here.

Mrs. Brant received the guests in a white gown with touches of black, while Mrs. King, mother of the bridegroom, was in black chiffon, with hat to harmonize.

Lovely Affair

One of the lovely affairs of recent date was that with which Mrs. Frederick Ernest Potts entertained Sunday afternoon at her home in South Twelfth avenue in honor of Dr. Marcia A. Patrick of the Women's Athletic Club, who returned recently after a delightful six weeks with Mrs. Potts in Mexico. Charming favors from Mexico City were featured at the supper table where hand-made Mexican birds formed the place card bearing covers for Mrs. Potts, Dr. Patrick, Mrs. Bertha H. Cable, Mrs. Ada Williams, Mrs. Brinkerhoff of Pasadena, Mrs. Madge W. Hardenberg and Miss Janet Johnson.

Mrs. Potts's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ernest Potts, Jr., (Elizabeth Von Kleinsmid) whose wedding was a brilliant event of the season are in their own home at 1184 Windsor Place, having occupied the Potts home during Mrs. Potts's absence in Mexico.

Pi Kappa Sigma is the oldest national, educational sorority, having been founded November 17, 1894 at Michigan State Normal School, now Michigan State Teachers' College at Ypsilanti, Mich. Both U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. have chapters.

Halloween Party

More than fifty guests were honored at a Halloween masquerade dance last Saturday evening when the Misses Ann and Miriam Olden of Genesee street and Miss Bernice Chutkow of Hollywoodland entertained at the home of Mrs. B. M. Olden in Fernwood avenue.

Coming as a complete surprise to the assembled guests was the appearance of Signor Pietro Gentile, singer, who gave several solos.

Groah, 4629 Corliss street, Eagle Rock, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Tuesday with an elaborate reception at the Eagle Rock Lutheran Church with more than 120 guests attending. Members of the church were in charge of the decorations and refreshments and assisted Mrs. Groah in receiving.

A feature was the series of numbers, including "My Old Virginia Home" and "Whispering Hope" sung by Mr. Groah's sister, Mrs. Mary Cunningham, and his niece, Mrs. Marie Clark.

Mrs. Groah is a native of Pittsburgh, while her husband was born and reared in Virginia, within three miles of the Mason and Dixon line. Among the many vivid recollections of his childhood are several important battles of the Civil War and the glimpse he caught of President Lincoln at the time of the martyred President's second inauguration.

Mr. Reator was graduated from Yale, where he became a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and the Elihu Society.

More Interest

Alphabet noodles are always an incentive to the kiddies to eat their soup. They seem to enjoy seeing how many different letters they can pick out and the nourishing broth is down before they know it.

On the Luncheon Platter

If you have had no opportunity to buy patty shells for the creamed chicken for luncheon, remove the center of a piece of toast and fill with the chicken mixture. It is quite effective and the patty shells will not be missed.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

BOBBY COON'S MIXED FEELING

Feelings that are mixed are queer;
Their meaning is not always clear.
—Bobby Coon.

For three evenings Jimmy Skunk was first to reach Farmer Brown's woodshed and so was first to begin eating the dinner that always was ready there. Each time he found Farmer Brown's boy sitting on a box beside the dish of food. Jimmy was puzzled, but he didn't allow this to interfere with his appetite.

"I wonder what he is sitting here for," thought Jimmy. "He seems to like to scratch my head and smooth my coat. He is welcome to do it if he wants to. I rather like it. It makes me feel good, especially when he scratches me just back of the ears. Still, I don't see what he does it for."

On each of these evenings Bobby Coon arrived just a few minutes after Jimmy Skunk, and this meant that each time he must eat from the dish on the side farthest from Farmer Brown's boy. He was both glad and—sorry. So you see, his feelings were mixed. He was glad because not yet did he feel quite bold enough to eat so close to Farmer Brown's boy as Jimmy Skunk was doing. He was sorry because right down in his heart he was jealous of the friendship between Farmer Brown's boy and Jimmy Skunk. Not for the world would he have admitted it, but the truth is he envied Jimmy as Jimmy's head was gently scratched by Farmer Brown's boy.

On the fourth evening Jimmy Skunk was late. Some fat beetles delayed him. Jimmy is very fond of fat beetles. He stopped to look into an old stump that for some time he had been intending to look into. He found it half filled with rotted wood. With his little black paws Jimmy dug into this and—what do you think? He found a fat beetle! Then Jimmy became very busy indeed. There were more fat beetles in that rotted wood and Jimmy was perfectly happy. He forgot the dinner over in Farmer Brown's woodshed. He didn't remember it until after the last fat beetle had been caught.

So it was that Bobby Coon was the first to arrive at the woodshed. When he poked his head in and discovered that Jimmy Skunk wasn't there he stepped with just his head inside. Just as usual Farmer Brown's boy was sitting on a box beside the dish of food, but the position of the dish had been changed. The only place where one could reach to eat was close to Farmer Brown's boy. Bobby found that he was not quite so bold as he had liked to think he was.

"Now what does this mean?" thought Bobby suspiciously. "I don't like it. What is Farmer Brown's boy here for anyway? My, how good that dinner smells! I wonder where Jimmy Skunk is. Now is my chance to get the very best of that dinner, but, oh dear! I wish Farmer Brown's boy was farther away."

"My! How good that dinner smells!"

At last the smell of food was too much for Bobby. He went wholly in and reached for a mouthful. Then he hastily backed off with it. My, how good it tasted! Two minutes later he was right up to that dish and stuffing himself greedily. He had forgotten all about Farmer Brown's boy.

Suddenly Bobby had a queer feeling. It seemed to run all over him. It made him feel hot and then cold. At first he couldn't think what was the cause of it. Then he knew; he had been touched by Farmer Brown's boy! He drew back hastily. He looked up. Farmer Brown's boy didn't even appear to be looking at him. He was talking in a low soothing tone and the hand that had touched Bobby was motionless. Bobby was tempted to snap at it, but on second thought there seemed no real reason for doing this, so he merely growled. Then, as nothing happened, he resumed eating.

Once more he had that queer feeling as the hand of Farmer Brown's boy again touched him. For a moment he stopped eating, half afraid, half angry. Then he resumed his dinner and the fingers of Farmer Brown's boy began to gently scratch him back of his ears. Bobby tried to think he didn't like it, but all the time he did like it. It gave him a funny feeling, but all the same it was a pleasant feeling. Had he been a cat he would have purred. At the same time there was a vague feeling of fear that he could not overcome. Never had Bobby known such mixed feelings.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

DIET AND EXERCISES FOR HEART TROUBLES

It does not matter very much what form of heart trouble is present. The dieting regimen seems to prove beneficial whether one has leaky valves, enlargement of the heart, dilatation, endocarditis, fatty heart, angina pectoris or rapid heart. I have seen thousands of presumably incurable cases recover by following a simple regimen.

At the start of the treatment you should thoroughly cleanse the stomach and intestines of all food materials. This will not only reduce the gas pressure, but will cause the elimination of much toxic material from the body, a four or five days' fruit juice fast often proving beneficial. During the fruit juice fast and about a month longer a plain warm-water enema should be used daily to lessen the amount of poison absorbed from the bowels. The heart has less work to do during this fasting period so that the patient does not need to fear starting the fast because he feels weak, as he invariably feels stronger at the end of a short period without eating heavy foods, and the heart will be able to function more efficiently.

Following this fast the diet should be well regulated both as to quality and quantity of food. Three small meals daily should be used, keeping the quantity of food to the minimum of the body's requirements. All foods which you may find gassy, such as onions, turnips, garlic, cabbage, dried beans, etc., should be avoided, and for some time it is better to eliminate all sugars and heavy starch foods.

In some cases the fruit juice fast may be followed by a milk diet, as this seems to allay the inflammation which may be present in the intestinal tract and in this way reduces the flatulent tendency. I do not advise staying in bed except in the most acute forms of heart trouble. Carefully regulated exercise can be used, if one first takes this fasting treatment, and is really necessary for treating any form of heart derangement. The exercise should consist of calisthenics taken mostly in the horizontal position while lying on the floor. In addition to these exercises walks should be taken each day. Of course, with both exercises and walks it is very important to begin gradually and increase the amount slowly so as not to strain the heart. You should always rest if you feel the heart begins to pound, or notice any indication of overwork.

Exercise is important as the heart is an organ composed of muscle and like any other muscle in the body it can be strengthened by properly regulated exercise. Many doctors will tell you that no exercise should be taken with heart trouble, but as great an authority as Sir William Arbuthnot Lane says, "A limited amount of exercise is beneficial to the injured heart."

This plan of treatment explains in a general way the methods I have used successfully in thousands of cases of supposedly incurable heart trouble.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. All communications should be addressed to her office. Please inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers pattern for wearing of 1 teething the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal card and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, trainin in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, raisins, sugar and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is useful to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above lists Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SLEEPING BAG SOLVES COVER PROBLEM IN COLD WEATHER

When mothers express their ignorance about baby care, I hope they never think for one moment that I consider them "foolish." I find that even trained nurses admit difficulties when it comes to dealing with their own babies. We are anxious to help mothers, not to criticise them for their lack of knowledge. To take the attitude that one already knows everything is to simply paralyze progress.

Mrs. O. A. R. writes, "Your talks are so helpful and I do need help. My baby is now 15 months old, weighs twenty-two pounds and is thirty-one inches tall. Now these questions may seem foolish to you, but I am inexperienced and want to learn. Last winter my baby slept in a cold room. Do you think that best? I had baby bunting for him, but of course that won't do for the winter. He won't keep his arms covered and is so bad about kicking off the covers. How can I manage this?

WHAT CLOTHING?

"Should he sleep in a shirt, and would you use a petticoat under his rompers? Do you think if I got him a Jersey suit that he would catch cold when put into a wash suit? Do you think he should wear stockings in cold weather? I'm trying to train him. When he is trained, what should he wear in place of diapers? He takes viosterol. Is that all right when given in orange juice?"

The room in which any child sleeps should have a free circulation of fresh air, which can be managed without draughts or extreme cold. Keep on the heat and open the window about two inches at both top and bottom, which is better than a wider opening just at the bottom. Fabric screens, made of double thicknesses of stout muslin also allow for plenty of fresh air but prevent draughts. Make use of these and keep the room temperature at about 65 deg. during the night.

TRY SLEEPING BAG

I think it much easier to put baby in a sleeping bag than to try to keep loose covers over him. We have a leaflet on "Simple directions for making a sleeping bag" and also a leaflet on "How to dress babies and children in winter," both of which you may have for a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The untrained child should wear washable garments. I would not change from Jersey to cotton and back again. At night let him wear a cotton, knitted hand, a diaper, and his long-sleeved, long-legged, knitted nightgown. Ordinarily petticoats are not necessary in daytime, when he will wear the same part wool or all cotton band, heavy shirt, diapers, long stockings and rompers. If your house is very cold and changeable, a petticoat may be necessary. When he is trained, and do start now, he may wear knitted panties fastened to a waist with buttons. He'll not wear the band when diapers are discarded. A look around the department stores will give you lots of ideas. Viosterol may be given in milk or orange juice.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

HALIBUT CREOLE

Take a two-pound piece of halibut, cover it with boiling water, and allow it to stand for one minute, remove the skin, and cover it with cold water, drain, place it in an oiled baking dish, season it with salt and pepper. Place in a sauce pan two cupfuls of tomatoes, one cupful of water, three whole cloves, one slice of lemon, one-half of a bay leaf, and one chopped green pepper. Rub two tablespoonfuls of flour with two tablespoonfuls of butter, stir into the mixture, and allow to simmer for ten minutes. Pour half of this sauce around the fish and bake for about thirty minutes, basting three or four times with the remainder of the sauce. Place the fish on a hot platter, pour the sauce around it, garnish with quarters of lemon and chopped parsley.

PRUNE PUDDING

Beat to a cream one-third cupful of butter, and beat into it slowly one cupful of sugar, and beat until light and creamy, add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, and beat for three minutes. Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and three-quarters of a level teaspoonful of baking soda, add the flour to the butter mixture with two-thirds cupful of prune juice, and beat smooth, add one cupful of seeded, and chopped prunes, and a half a cupful of blanched almonds. Mix well, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, pour into a buttered and floured square baking dish, and bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes. Cut in squares and serve with an orange custard sauce.

FRIED CABBAGE

Cut one medium-sized head of cabbage fine, allow it to soak for ten minutes in cold water, drain, heat three tablespoonfuls of shortening in a saute pan, add the cabbage, one sour apple that has been peeled and cut in dice, and one-half teaspoonful of carraway seeds, add a half of a medium-sized onion chopped fine, cook slowly for thirty minutes. Just before serving season with salt, and paprika.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for personal advice will be published every Friday. (All rights in publication reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HILLS BROS. COFFEE is roasted as you would cook cereal

J. B. He stated that his new duties will not interrupt his other aviation activities.

Police Officer Quits Because of Heavy Debts

The resignation of Officer Daniel Jackson, who explained that he is deeply in debt and doesn't see his way clear to straighten matters out, was accepted by the Police Commission at a special session yesterday. Jackson did not state how his resignation was going to assist matters and the board expressed wonder at his decision.

Removal by Chief Steckel of Officer George H. Irwin for conduct unbecoming an officer was approved by the commission after Steckel stated that "Irwin had passed several checks with no funds and had failed to take steps to liquidate his just debts."

The commission approved the appointment of Margaret R. Connor, who recently topped a civil service test, as assistant secretary to Chief Steckel.

JUDGMENT AWARDED

Judgment of $3075 yesterday was awarded the Wohlman Picture Company against the Citizens' Bank of Monrovia, by a jury in Superior Judge Wilson's court. Berry represented the Wohlman concern, while Attorney Reeve Hobbie appeared for the bank.

BULLET FELLS STORE MAN

One of Foiled Bandits Fires Shotgun at Manager Already Knocked Down by Pistol Shot

In a successful attempt to frustrate a robbery of a Piggly Wiggly store at 1772 North Vermont avenue yesterday morning, I. C. Cripps, manager, narrowly escaped death when a bullet fired by one of a trio of bandits grazed his head, and a heavy charge of buckshot passed over him as he lay stunned in the street.

The attempted robbery occurred just after Cripps and a clerk, Keith Ford, opened the store. The bandits drove up in an old car and while one remained at the wheel the other two walked into the store and covered Ford with pistols. Cripps, standing behind a pile of goods and unnoticed by the bandits as they entered, ran quickly into the street.

Bandit No. 1 saw him, and whirling, cried to his partner, "Let's get out of here."

As Cripps leaped from the curb bandit No. 1 leveled his pistol and fired. The bullet struck Cripps a glancing blow on the side of the head, knocking him headlong to the pavement. Just after both bandits joined their confederate in their car bandit No. 1 picked up a shotgun, and, with a profane remark, fired at Cripps as he lay in the street. The charge missed him and crashed through the windows of a golf-course office across the street. With added curses the bandits then fled.

Cripps received emergency treatment at a physician's office near the store. The bandits were described as ordinarily well dressed, between 20 and 30 years of age. The two in the store wore dark glasses.

GYPSY FIGHTS POLICE BOARD

Palmistry License Refusal Brings Mandamus Suit

Woman Fortune Teller Cites Monopoly in This Field

Names of 'Steve' and 'Rose' Figure in Controversy

The names of "Steve" and "Rose" as applied to gypsies appeared in Los Angeles court records yesterday for the first time since the "kidnaping" of Aimee Semple McPherson when Catherine Adams, a gypsy fortune teller, filed a mandamus suit in Superior Court yesterday against the Police Commission and its members, to compel issuance of a license to permit the plaintiff to practice palmistry.

Mrs. Adams, in her petition, asserts that one "Steve" Uwanawich, whom she designates as "King of the Gypsies" in Los Angeles, operates two palmistry establishments, at 347 South Main street, in the name of Lena, his wife, and at 458 South Main street, under the name of Mary, his daughter. It also is asserted that another daughter, Rosa, gives readings at these places without being licensed to do so, and that Uwanawich through these relatives "has a monopoly of the gypsy fortune-telling business in Los Angeles."

The mandamus suit pleads that Mrs. Adams be given a license to break this monopoly. She asserts that she twice has applied for a license to practice her art at 238 West Second street, but has been refused, although her references were good, because "there are more than 100 gypsy fortune tellers at work in the city now, and the police department can't watch any more."

It also was pointed out at the hearing, it is asserted, that Mrs. Adams, born May 6, 1870, in Serbia, has been in the United States fifteen years without becoming naturalized, and that she is unable to sign her name, making her mark instead, on her application for a license.

STREET FUND SOUGHT

Councilman Webster yesterday asked for an allocation of $30,000 for the improvement of Barrington avenue from Dorothy street to Santa Monica boulevard. The matter was referred to the Finance and Public Works Committees. Webster pointed out that excessive cuts and grading ran up the cost of the project by $67,000, and as the improvement is of more than local benefit, it should have help from the general city funds.

DELTAS WIN SORORITY SING

"Pansies" Takes Trojan Contest Prize

Old Chant Tried Out

DELTA DELTA DELTA yesterday won the annual all-university sorority sing at University of Southern California. The victory was scored with "Pansies," official song of the sorority, and "Kappa Sigma Sweetheart," a fraternity anthem. Alpha Epsilon Phi was second and Alpha Chi Omega third. Seventeen sororities participated in the competition in the social hall of Student Union.

A feature of the event was the singing of a Gregorian chant by Miss Brownella Baker and Miss Betty Henninger, representing Alpha Delta Pi. The unique piece, lettered in the Italian language by fifteenth-century monks, is the property of the university. It was obtained some time ago by James Tarbottom Armstrong, curator of the Trojan museum.

The judges of the sing were Mrs. Lillian B. Wilson, college of music; Miss Florence Hubbard, school of speech, and Miss Ruth Price, physical education department.

Rum-Shooting Victim Sinking

The condition of Jesus Perez, 46 years of age, who was shot early Sunday morning during celebration of the baptism of two infants at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Valdez, 201 East Ann street, became increasingly critical yesterday. He was transferred from Georgia-street Hospital to General Hospital, where it is said he will not recover.

Miguel Flores, 36, of 215 East Ann street, is in custody charged with shooting Perez. He is said to have admitted the shooting, saying he was driven to it in self-defense. A quarrel over liquor is blamed.

'SON' TURNS UP TO FIGHT HORTON WILL

Texan Asserts Rancher of Saugus His Father When Court Sets Trial

Two contests over the $250,000 estate of George B. Horton of Saugus will be consolidated into one suit and tried December 11, according to a ruling of Superior Judge Stephens, after argument by counsel yesterday.

The latest contest was unexpectedly brought to Superior Court by James B. Norton, 62-year-old farmer, who came from Burleson, Tex., recently with the assertion that he is the son of the 84-year-old Saugus rancher, who never saw him and who specifically disinherited his offspring in a codicil to his original will.

Horton died shortly after his brother and partner in his ranch enterprise, Wade A. Horton, was murdered at the age of 88, leaving the ranch to the surviving brother. Wade H. Horton, Elizabeth Diehl and seventeen other surviving nephews and nieces have asked that the decedent's will leaving the estate to Walter E. Hewitt and Della Maud Berryman be set aside. After this contest James B. Horton appeared, asserting that his father abandoned his mother in Texas before his birth when she would not accompany him to California.

Savoy Funeral Set for Today

Funeral services for Henry Savoy, founder of the Savoy Auto Park System, will be conducted today at 9 a.m. at the W. A. Brown chapel, 1815 South Flower street. Interment will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mr. Savoy died Saturday. He was 49 years of age.

In Los Angeles since 1910, Mr. Savoy first went into the furniture-store business, later adding to this a transfer system. He bought and sold furniture stores, and was a broker in antiques. His home was at 240 West Fifty-second street.

AIR VETERANS TO MEET

The organizers of the Naval Air Post of the American Legion will meet tomorrow night at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. All United States naval war veterans who served in the naval air forces or United States naval air stations or plane carriers or who since the war have taken up aviation are invited to attend this meeting.

WARNERS PREPARE FOR WORK

Frank Fay Will Be Starred in Four French Farces; R.-K.-O. Negotiating for UFA's "Waltz Dream;" Walsh Picture to Be Made in Haiti

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

The clans are gathering over at Warner Brothers and First National studios, with a view to resuming production on or before the first of next year.

Irene Delroy, however, will not come back as soon as she expected. When she went east, she did not expect to go into a show. But it turns out that she is to play in the musical which also includes Ona Munson, namely, one to be produced by Ziegfeld. She will return to Warner Brothers' studio, when the show closes for the summer, or perhaps, sooner, if her services are needed.

Daryl Zannuck, Warner associate producer, has returned to Hollywood from his long hunting trip, bringing with him numerous trophies of his hunting prowess, including moose, deer and mountain sheep. The trip was a tough one, in which the nimrods encountered several blizzards. He was accompanied into the wilds by William Wellman, Ray Enright, Grant Withers and John Adolfi. Withers and Enright became ill on the trip, and Withers found it necessary to return. Enright recovered, and kept along. They were ten days packing-in distance from any railroad a good part of the time.

All express themselves as feeling all ready to tackle their jobs at the studio.

Frank Fay, instead of going into a New York show, is to return to Hollywood the first of the year, and will be featured in four French farces.

Joe E. Brown will return from his trip abroad Thursday.

George Arliss may remain in New York to produce a new play, in which case he will not come back to Hollywood to star in "The Devil" until next spring. Otherwise he will be here within the next few weeks.

John Barrymore still is in Southern waters, fishing from his yacht, accompanied by his wife and baby. He is due here December 1.

It is likely that the first picture which will be produced at the Warner Studio will be "Red Hot Cinders." Winnie Lightner will be starred, and Oleson and Johnson will support her in featured roles. The picture will be a straight comedy without music.

It is possible that simultaneously with the starting of "Red Hot Cinders," or certainly very soon after, the balloon story, not yet titled, will be commenced. Grant Withers will be starred.

Hal Wallis, First National executive, and his wife, Louise Fazenda, are returning next week from their flying trip abroad.

Efe Asher Injured

Efe Asher is hopping about, when he hops at all, on crutches. The film executive had the misfortune to break his foot on Saturday last as he stepped from his automobile.

He has been receiving all kinds of condolences, and yesterday was handing out a card bearing this legend:

"Believe it or not! I busted my leg getting out of my car. I wasn't trying to escape an irate husband, so don't make wise cracks or ask d——fool questions. How's the market?

[Signed] "EFE ASHER."

Barbara Bedford in Lead

When Buck Jones starts work today in his newest Columbia western, "Vengeance," he will have the womanly support in the leading feminine role of the gifted actress, Barbara Bedford. Miss Bedford was signed yesterday. She will undoubtedly give unusual charm and personality to the role.

BARBARA BEDFORD

Lewis King will direct the picture, which is one of a series of westerns he is guiding. Former ones are said to have been booked by numerous Paramount houses.

Ludwig Berger Abroad

Ludwig Berger, who has just severed his connection with Paramount, will leave Hollywood in two weeks on his annual Christmas trip to his home in Berlin.

Since first coming to this country, Berger has directed "Sins of the Fathers," "The Vagabond King" and Chevalier's "The Playboy of Paris."

R.-K.-O. NEGOTIATING FOR GERMAN STORY

When the R.-K.-O. organization goes after anything it is usually landed. Just now we find that the concern has a desire to film "Waltz Song," which was made last year very successfully by UFA. That concern still owns the rights.

It is rumored that UFA is not at all anxious to part with its property, but doubtless if enough inducements are held out, the company will succumb.

Haiti Film Locale

It is likely that "Women of All Nations," which Raoul Walsh will direct for Fox, will be filmed in Haiti.

RAOUL WALSH

Scouts are already on their way to southern waters to look for locations.

Meantime Walsh himself is busy preparing the story and taking screen tests for the cast, which will be headed, as heretofore announced, by Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe. The yarn promises to emerge an interesting and colorful film production.

Russian Director with M.-G.-M.

While there is nothing settled regarding the matter, it is understood that Sergei Eisenstein, Russian director, who recently severed connections with Paramount, will go to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In case this happens, he will probably direct "American Tragedy," we learned yesterday.

Stage Star With Paramount

Wynne Gibson, former New York stage ingenue, is to carry the second feminine lead in Jack Oakie's next starring picture, we were told yesterday.

WYNNE GIBSON

The actress is a recent arrival from the New York stage for talking picture roles. Among her eastern successes was her lead opposite Richard Bennett in "Jarnegan," the title role in "Little Jesse James," and the co-starring part in "The Gingham Girl."

Miss Gibson appeared in the title role in "Molly Magdalene" at a Los Angeles theater last summer.

Mary Nolan's Next

Universal officials are busy trying to decide on a story for Mary Nolan, who will arrive in Hollywood within a week or so.

It is likely, we learn, that she will star in a film talking version of "Up and Up," adapted from the New York stage play of that name.

Paramount Director Arrives

Rouben Mamoulian, one of the principal directors of the New York stage, arrived in Hollywood last night to start preparations for the direction of Clara Bow's next talking picture. Mamoulian accompanied B. P. Schulberg, on the latter's trip westward after a series of conferences in the east.

The director is best known for his work in guiding the stage productions of "Porgy," "Marco Millions" and "Wings Over Europe."

Being given the privilege of choosing his first Paramount star, he decided on Clara Bow. No story is as yet selected for her.

Officer Freed in Killing Dropped by Police Chief

Luther R. Weyant, police officer, acquitted October 1, last, of the murder of a 17-year-old Negro, was dropped from the department yesterday by order of Police Chief Steckel. The dismissal was attributed to Weyant's "unnecessary use of firearms in making an arrest for an offense that was not a felony."

Weyant shot the youth, William Teems, August 2, last, following a raid on a dice game at One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Wilmington Boulevard. Tried before Superior Judge Aggeler, he set up the plea of self-defense and was acquitted by a jury after a day's deliberation.

The discharged officer was appointed to the force January 11, 1926. He is 29 years of age.

Outlook Bright in Los Angeles for Film Making

Bringing back word that all of the major picture producing companies in Hollywood are about to launch heavy schedules for the coming year, B. P. Schulberg, managing director of production for the Paramount Publix Corporation, returned here yesterday following conferences in New York.

"National business conditions are growing sounder daily," said Schulberg. "Theaters, barometers of the public pocketbook, are in a healthy state.

"Heavy production schedules are about to be launched by all the major companies, including Paramount," he said. "Seven pictures now are being filmed at our western studios and within the next fortnight four more will be started. There will be no cessation of heavy and quality production."

Hazlett Heads Iowans' Society

William Hazlett, superior judge, was elected president of the Iowa State Society last night at the annual dinner-meeting of the board of directors at the City Club. He succeeds Ralph H. Clock of Long Beach. Fred H. Taft was named first vice-president, John G. Spielman of Long Beach, second vice-president; Col. H. N. Bigelow treasurer, and C. H. Parsons secretary. The latter has held the same office for thirty-one years. Judge Hazlett is a candidate to succeed himself in Department Ten of the Superior Court at today's election.

WOMAN TO ANSWER CHARGES OF YOUTH

Mrs. Lucy Granada of 671 Kern street was held to Superior Court for trial on charges of assault with a deadly weapon by Municipal Judge Turney yesterday. Similar charges against her husband, Joseph Granada, were dismissed. John Katangian, 19 years of age, Roosevelt High School athlete, testified that the two attacked him because, they said, he ran over their dog. The woman stabbed him with a knife twice, he testified.

ATTORNEY'S FUNERAL RITES TO BE TODAY

Funeral services for Guy F. Gricco, attorney, who died Saturday of pneumonia after a three-day illness, will be conducted today from the Ruppe mortuary, 950 West Washington street. Gricco was a member of a pioneer California family residing at 635 North Virgil street. He leaves his parents, four brothers and four sisters.

SHAW PROGNOSIS CLEVERLY DONE

"Apple Cart" Enjoys Bright Opening at Music Box

Civic Repertory Offering Draws Brilliantly

Alan Mowbray and Others in Cast Applauded

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

And now Mr. George Bernard Shaw takes his glimpse into the future. Indeed, he eyes it wittily, though he expounds it verbosely, in "The Apple Cart," which is being offered for the first time here by the Civic Repertory Theater, Ltd., at the Hollywood Music Box.

The Shavian prediction, or if you will, prognosis, arrives as the first of the organization's productions for the new season. And there is no question of its auspiciousness as an undertaking.

The opening brightened the boulevard in the Music Box section. There was even the suggestion of gatherers around the theater entrance to behold the advent of the audience, and a decidedly brilliant social representation among the first-nighters.

The Civic Repertory Theater emerges this year under the management of the Bowl Theater Association, and seems entering on a career more promising than at any time heretofore. Quality of presentation and public interest both disclosed this fact last evening, and "The Apple Cart" enjoyed both an attentive and an approving, as well as an amused reception.

This Shavian satire, declaredly a "political extravaganza," exacts no small toll of concentration from its audience. It also tests to the limit the memories of its interpreters. When it is considered that one single speech lasts nearly fifteen minutes, the extent of the demand may be conjectured. I might note that that particular oration—though it was not such in the rendering—was cordially applauded, as was also a rather lengthy discourse that immediately followed.

The first act of the Shaw play is by far the most polemical, and therefore the most taxing. When you combine the three acts of "The Apple Cart" together there is a considerable spell of entertainment. The second act, called an interlude, is a delightful scherzo, if one may adapt a musical phrase to describe it, and the last act is really rendered epochal by the appearance of the American Ambassador, with a proposal for the consolidation of Great Britain and America.

Shaw in this play exhibits the charm of the fantasy, without any of the obvious stressing of the imaginative. You feel constantly that he is avoiding any serious auguries of the future, yet often he spins thoughts that are radiantly poetic. Occasionally, a certain well-bred conventionality inspires the best of these thoughts as when the king speaking to his favorite creates a telling picture of the difference in their respective orbits.

Admittedly, one must climb over wildly strewn fences of words before he can reach the real vistas of enjoyment in this play, but the achievement of the destination brings abundant satisfaction. And throughout even the early scene one is listening to enriching thoughts and expressions that denote the struggle of an old order against a new one—and the peculiar strength of the old order's idealism.

There is, of course, a battleground in this Shaw play—or shall one call it rather a place for jousting, with one part well taken up by members of a futuristic British Parliament, conglomerate of personnel, and another held by the King, the eternal idol of the English public. The Parliament would disarm the King with the threat of a more republican form of government, but the monarch in the end succeeds in checkmating them. This is the plot, which may or may not mean much superficially regarded, but the incident that surrounds it is often most engrossing.

The interlude in the play is a purely human affair, and takes place in the boudoir of the monarch's cherished lady love. The repartee is fascinating throughout this very brief scene, and in true Shaw fashion the climax is a grotesque bit of comedy, where the King tries to escape the lady's embrace, falls on the floor with her, and is observed in this embarrassing situation by one of his secretaries who rushes into the room unannounced. Shaw can still contrive the diverting slapstick climax.

The final action of the play rather sublimates the spirit of the first in most admirable fashion. Consequently, this, too, affords unusual pleasure.

Indeed, in a variety of ways I found this Shaw play on the stage far more engaging than I had anticipated. Admittedly the British dramatist puts some of the comprehensiveness of his old-time prefaces into his first act in this instance, but aside from this "The Apple Cart" is not upset in the lease; in fact, it is a rather blithely moving vehicle.

Carewe Films Cabaret Scene

Russian cafe-cabarets of the Tolstoy period are being reconstructed by Edwin Carewe for "Resurrection" at Universal studios. The scene is one of the most pretentious settings since Universal's "King of Jazz" and looms as an important factor in the finished Tolstoy love epic.

Dimitri Tiomkin is responsible for the score of "Resurrection," which has been blended with the action of the Russian love story. A lilting lullaby by Tiomkin is sung by Lupe Velez, as she rocks her baby to sleep unaware that the child is dead.

LANG TO DIRECT

Walter Lang will start work in about a week on "The Command Performance," which he will direct for James Cruze. He is now busy choosing a cast and attending to other details of the production.

CAWTHORN AT WORK

Joseph Cawthorn is back at work at United Artists where he is playing a role in "Kiki," starring Mary Pickford.

Comedienne Provides Film Humor

Marjorie White

Plays one of the important roles in "Just Imagine," the present attraction at the Carthay Circle Theater.

BELASCO PLANS GALA AFFAIR

An elaborate welcome home is being planned for Dorothy Burgess by her many friends of the stage and screen when the actress steps out on the Belasco Theater stage Sunday night in the leading role of "The Bird of Flame."

Miss Burgess is one of the most popular members of the younger film set in Hollywood and many notable names are included in the reservation list.

In the torrid drama of the South Seas Miss Burgess will be supported by Bramwell Fletcher and Robert Frazer, both well-known stage and screen players. Miss Burgess made her debut at the Belasco two years ago as the Gypsy in "The Squall." She has enjoyed success since in pictures and behind the footlights. Her new role is said to be perhaps the most unique and exotic she has ever portrayed.

"Bird of the Flame" has been playing in San Francisco. The Belasco Theater management reports a heavy advance reservation for the engagement here.

'DERELICT' OPENS RUN THURSDAY

George Bancroft Plays Starring Role in Story of Seven Seas

George Bancroft's newest starring vehicle, "Derelict," will have its western premiere at the Paramount Theater Thursday, in conjunction with the first New York stage show, "Sky-High."

"Derelict" is a story of the sea, with Bancroft in the role of Typhoon Bill Rafferty, a rough and ready sea captain. The cast includes William Boyd, Jessie Royce Landis and several others. The picture was directed by Rowland V. Lee.

"Sky-High," the first stage show, is a Frank Cambria production. The current attraction is "The Virtuous Sin," with Walter Huston and Kay Francis.

Double Showing of Film Proves Success Here

Eastern showman said it was a good idea but not practical in other cities outside of New York or Chicago—this screening of the same picture at two major theaters simultaneously. But, according to reports from Warners' Hollywood and Downtown theaters, Los Angeles has disproved the contention with a fine show of patronage.

In successfully exploiting the double showing here, Los Angeles has taken on a new aspect to the powers of east, it is said by local Warner officials. M. A. Silver, general manager of Warner Brothers Pacific Coast theaters, is given credit for having faith enough in local conditions to try out the idea here.

The picture showing now at both Warner houses is "The Life of the Party," starring Winnie Lightner. As far as the executives of the film company have been able to ascertain, the double showing here is the initial attempt in Los Angeles.

Actress Plays Difficult Role in New Picture

Kay Johnson plays a new role in "Billy the Kid," the feature at the Criterion Theater. The actress has often been made love to by many handsome leading men on stage and screen, but in "Billy the Kid" circumstances required her to do the love-making.

It is said to be a most difficult role that Miss Johnson portrays, with consummate skill.

Wallace Beery has the role of Sheriff Pat Garrett in "Billy the Kid," while John Mack Brown plays the Kid. King Vidor directed.

HAROLDE PORTRAYS VILLAIN IN FILM

Ralf Haroide, the young heavy of "Check and Double-Check," now at the Orpheum Theater, accepted his role in that picture in preference to a leading characterization at another studio. Haroide avers the villain of a picture always ranks second in importance to the star and gives this as his reason for the preference above noted.

McLAGLEN PLAYS NEW FILM ROLE

Fox Actor Enacts Soldier of Fortune on Boulevard Screen Thursday

Still the "hard-boiled" soldier of fortune, Victor McLaglen comes to the screen again in "A Devil With Women," which will have its first local showing at the Boulevard Theater starting Thursday, as a happy-go-lucky soldier who sells his services to any country that happens to have a war on its hands.

Mona Maris, Argentine beauty, causes some consternation in the ranks of the film cast, it is said. Humphrey Bogart, Mona Rico and John St. Polis also play roles. Irving Cummings directed.

Romance mingled with comedy behind prison bars, is the situation that has been keeping Boulevard patrons in good humor for the past week, with the showing of John Ford's "Up the River."

NEXT FILM FOR R.-K.-O. ANNOUNCED

'Today,' Featuring Conrad Nagel and Catherine Owen, Starts Thursday

"Today," cofeaturing Conrad Nagel and Catherine Dale Owen, is the next attraction at the R.-K.-O. Theater, starting Thursday.

On the current program, Eddie Quillan headlines on both stage and screen. He stars in "Big Money," and is appearing in person.

"Today" is built around the collapse of the stock market a year ago. Nagel plays the part of a young financier who is thrown into bankruptcy by the financial catastrophe; while Miss Owens enacts his wife, a woman who finds she cannot forego the luxuries to which she has become accustomed.

The chief character part is portrayed by Sarah Padden, long a favorite vaudeville headliner and stage player.

Players Fight Famous Screen Battle Again

Gary Cooper and William Boyd make up the third pair of players to engage in the now-famous screen battle of "The Spoilers," which comes to the Million Dollar Theater Thursday.

"The Spoilers," in its talking version, has attained success throughout the country, it is said, and embraces a cast including Kay Johnson, Betty Compson, James Kirkwood and Slim Summerville.

"Let's Go Native," with Jack Oakie and the current vaudeville bill closes tomorrow night.

HAIRDRESSER WINS

Failing in all attempts to meet the girl of his heart socially, Jack Buchanan secures a job as her hairdresser in "Monte Carlo," which starts a three-day engagement at the Uptown Theater today. Gay and romantic complications follow this introduction, with Jeanette MacDonald playing the role of the girl.

"LIGHTNIN'" SCHEDULED AT CIRCLE

Will Rogers Vehicle to Follow "Just Imagine;" Current Feature

"Just Imagine," current at the Carthay Circle Theater, will be followed by Will Rogers in "Lightnin'," according to an announcement.

Rogers is said to be ideal as "Lightnin' Bill Jones," the prevaricating, shiftless, humorous and lovable old renegade of Reno, who passes out advice on matrimony, alimony, parsimony, polygamy and monotony.

Louise Dresser appears opposite Rogers as "Ma" in the film, which has been directed by Henry King.

The supporting cast includes Helen Cohan, marking her screen debut, and Joel McRea, in the youthful romantic leads. Joseph Kerrigan appears as the judge, Jason Robards as the lawyer, and Thomas Jefferson as the clerk.

"Lightnin'" as a stage play brought international note to John Golden, its author, and the late Frank Bacon, who originated the name role.

Plans of New Organization Taking Shape

Los Angeles as a producing center for the stage is adding to its laurels through "Women Who Take," which had its world premiere recently at the Mason Theater. Officials of Metropolitan Productions, Ltd., a subsidiary of Radio Pictures, which is sponsor of this new enterprise, feel confident that local patrons will welcome an opportunity to see the best works of prominent playwrights produced here for the first time.

William LeBaron, vice-president in charge of Radio Pictures production and managing director of the play-producing organization, declares the Mason is not in any manner a training school for talking picture players. Rather, he says, the organization is motivated by the desire to discover worth-while plays and present them in Los Angeles. Those found worthy will be sent to key cities throughout the country.

"We have in Los Angeles and Hollywood," says LeBaron, "a wealth of notable writers. We have many of the best artists from the stage. We have technicians that stand at the head of their profession. Therefore, with all these facilities at hand, it is reasonable to suppose that Southern California wants and will support an 'incubator' for new dramatic material."

Pietro Gentile Will Sing at Philharmonic

Pietro Gentile, popular young singer, has been chosen as the artist for the mother's memorial concert which will be given at the Philharmonic Auditorium the 14th inst.

Gentile was chosen by Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, founder of the Mother's Memorial through the recommendation of those who heard him sing in Washington recently where the young singer sang in a private concert for the President.

The purpose of the concert is to interest the people of the State in the California column which will be part of the memorial. This column will have carved upon it, the names of fifty of the great pioneer women of the State. There will be a column for each State and these surround the main building of the memorial.

For his program Gentile has been working with Los Angeles composers. Mary Carr Moore, Gertrude Ross and George Liebling will accompany him in their own songs. Homer Simmons, well-known pianist, has written a new song which he calls Sacrament and which he has dedicated to the Mother's Memorial. He will accompany the singer in the first presentation of this song.

Mrs. Campbell to Lecture on Speech, Acting

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, one of the outstanding exemplars of perfect speech, will give her noted lecture, "Beautiful Speech and the Art of Acting," Sunday night at the Vine Street Theater.

The magnetic Mrs. Campbell, whole beauty and charm set conservative British society on its figurative ear, has been a colorful international figure for years. Her success in the drawing-room as well as on the stage lends authority to her contention that in either sphere a woman may enhance her charm by a proper knowledge of certain speaking rules.

Many will remember the actress in "Ghosts," "Second Mrs. Tanqueray," "Magda" and "Pygmalion."

Majestic Will Offer 'Big Boy'

Al Jolson in "Big Boy" starts Friday at the Majestic Theater. Jolson appears once more in his blackface make-up.

CLAUDIA DELL

Alan Crosland directed this picture, which has a strong supporting cast, including Claudia Dell, Louise Closser Hale, Lloyd Hughes, Eddie Phillips, Lew Harvey, Franklin Batie and John Harron.

"The Office Wife," with Dorothy Mackaill and Lewis Stone will be shown for the last times Thursday.

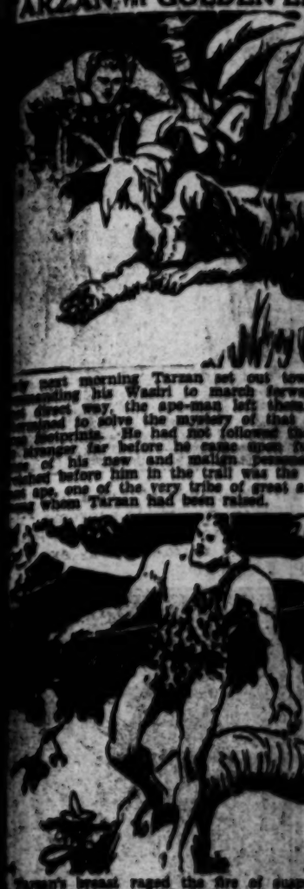
TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN L



The next morning Tarzan set out to... accompanied by his Waziri to march forward... the direct way the ape-man left them... determined to solve the mystery of their... disappearance. He had not followed the... stranger far before he came upon the... stranger's new and mailed... lying before him in the trail was the... body of one of the very tribe of great... among whom Tarzan had been raised.

Tarzan's breast raged the fire of... over the man-thing that is the... curse of the jungle-wild. He hastened... his pace. An hour after he had... made his discovery, his keen senses caught the... scent of others of its kind. Tarzan knew... the warriors, but warned of his approach... they also fight before they were seen... He did not see the apes often... he knew there were always those... who recalled him as a youth when he... was one of them.

Protruding from the Mangani's body was another of the machine-made arrows of civilization. The ape-man's eyes narrowed and a scowl darkened his brow. Who was this who dared to invade his sacred preserves and slaughter Tarzan's people? A low growl rumbled in the throat of the ape-man. With it went the thin veneer of civilization that Tarzan wore among white men. No English Lord was he now who looked upon the body of his hairy cousin—but another jungle beast viewing the bloody work of ruthless man.

Swinging freely and swiftly through the dense foliage, he came presently upon the giant anthropoids. Twenty there were, busy feeding. Tarzan paused upon a leafy branch and watched them. Every action and movement of the great apes recalled vividly to Tarzan's mind his childhood. Then, protected by the fierce mother-love of Kala the she-ape, he had ranged the jungle with the tribe of Kerchak. In these romping young he again saw Teets and his other childhood playmates, and in the adults the ape-man visioned the great savage brutes he had feared in youth.

OLD HURT PUTS MIX IN HOSPITAL

Ex-Screen Actor's Condition Worries Doctor

X-Ray Photographs Disclose Spine Injured

Trouble Due to Having Been Thrown by Horse

An old injury he received some years ago when he was thrown from his horse, Tony, as a result of a premature dynamite blast for a motion picture, yesterday placed Tom Mix, former screen hero, in the Hollywood Hospital. Dr. R. Nichol Smith, who is attending him, said Mix has shown improvement but that he is not at all satisfied with his condition.

Dr. Smith stated yesterday that he has taken a series of X-ray pictures of Mix's spine which were not at all satisfactory and that Mix will be subjected again today to the X-ray.

It was about three years ago that Mix was thrown from his famous horse when a blast of dynamite exploded prematurely during the filming of a motion picture, according to Dr. Smith. At that time Mix's condition was considered serious but he recovered more quickly than anticipated.

Mix was stricken last Friday and taken to the hospital the following day. He has refused to make any comment on reports that he and Mrs. Mix, who was known as Victoria Forde in pictures, have separated. Shortly following his return from a circus tour, Mix left his home in Beverly Hills and took a suite at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood.

SOUTHERN SUIT DELAYED BY ILLNESS

NATCHEZ (Miss.) Nov. 3. (AP)—Attorneys for Tom Mix, film star, and Zack T. Miller, owner of the 101 Ranch Shows, today announced postponement of the hearing of the $50,000 libel suit filed here by Col. Miller against Mix in Chancery Court, due to the illness of Mix.

The hearing had been scheduled for Wednesday.

Ex-Spouse and Attorney Sued for Damages

Asserting malicious prosecution, Chester Gury yesterday sued Ida Mae Adams, attorney and candidate for election to the post now held by Superior Judge Keetch, and his wife, Mrs. Zaida Gury, for $25,500.

Miss Adams represented Mrs. Gury who last November was involved in a divorce proceeding with her husband. November 9, 1929, Miss Adams, it is asserted, appeared at the District Attorney's office with Mrs. Gury and obtained a felony warrant against Gury charging kidnaping his child, David.

Gury was thereupon arrested in Long Beach and placed in jail for four hours. He was released when the District Attorney ascertained that an interlocutory decree had given the custody of the child to the father, it is asserted. Later the same order was written in the final decree, according to court records.

Britain's Policy to Be Protested

Britain's recently announced policy restricting immigration of Jews into Palestine will be protested tonight at a meeting in Philharmonic Auditorium.

Mendel B. Silberberg will preside. The speakers will be Mayor Porter, Rabbi Magnin, Benjamin F. Bledsoe, Dr. Edwin Ryland, Rex B. Goodcell, Rabbi S. M. Neches and Chaim Shapiro. Cantor Theodore Kittay will sing.

The promotors of the meeting, which opens at 8 p.m., contend Britain's new policy is a repudiation of the Balfour declaration.

COURT DECLINES TO PREVENT OPERATION

Superior Judge Doran yesterday refused to issue an order preventing Dr. Thomas Leonard, physician at the Spadra Hospital, from operating on Leslie Valentine Brown, 15 years of age, to prevent motherhood. The complaint was signed by Harvey Brown, the child's father, although written permission for the operation had been given by Mrs. Bessie Brown, the girl's mother. Brown asserted his wife was of unsound mind when she signed the order of consent.

"TIMES" ELECTION SERVICE

The Times has made arrangements to cover the general elections in California and other States today with its accustomed accuracy and dispatch and to make the results known as expeditiously as possible. Beginning at 6:30 p.m. and at frequent intervals thereafter until midnight or thereabouts election returns will be broadcast from KHJ, the Don Lee station. Results from other States will be given over a national hook-up of the Columbia system, with Frederick William Wile at the microphone in Washington. First California returns will be available probably about 7:30 o'clock, the polls closing at 7. In addition to the local and national broadcasts, returns will be made public in special street editions and by telephone to all who call The Times, MAdison 2345.

Skull Fracture Received in Jump From Third Floor of Hotel at San Pedro

Dorothy Burke, 19 years of age, of 11835 Dorothy street, Brentwood Heights, Sawtelle, is at Los Angeles General Hospital with a fractured skull and lacerations, following a leap from the third story of the Mission Hotel, 357 West Seventh street, San Pedro, at 2 a.m. yesterday. Her condition last night was reported good and she is expected to recover.

Miss Burke said she had fled an attempted attack by two sailors, William R. King and Willard E. Allison of the U.S.S. Tennessee yesterday told Detective Lieutenants Fuller and Vigneau that their entry into the case was when they heard groans as they were retiring, went to the alley and helped pick up her scantily clad form.

Detectives said Gus Litsky, owner of the hotel, declared the girl had frequented the hotel, but had been ordered to desist days before.

Auburn-Haired Actress Faints Self Into Jail

Miss Madge Walker, 20 years of age, has red hair and is an actress, and the police say she fainted herself into a cell in Hollywood station, where she remained last night.

The faint occurred in front of 1922 North Tamarind avenue. While walking along the sidewalk she fell over onto the lawn, and became so angry, say police, when they tried at Hollywood Receiving Hospital to ascertain the cause of her faint that Detective Lieutenants Coppace and Page were detailed to make inquiries about her.

Yesterday, in consequence, they arrested her on a charge of stealing a snappy roadster. On October 11, say police, she represented herself to be Joyce Langdon and rented the car from the Ted Stevens agency at 6164 Hollywood Boulevard. The charge against her is that she drove it to Oakland on a trip and then abandoned it.

Reeling Rope Tows Dry Men to 'Wet' Haul

Rum runners are minus an expensive sedan, 600 feet of rope and 152 cases of high-class smuggled liquor, according to a report yesterday to Deputy Administrator Peters. Dry agents walking along the beach near Dana Point came across a rope, operated from a winch 600 feet up the bluff by a truck, and stopped to investigate.

The rope was suddenly cut and the truck disappeared, they reported. The sedan was surrounded with the cases of liquor, as well as some choice imported wines. The liquor and wines were valued at $9000 and the car at $2000.

COURT CONTINUES HEARING OF BANKER

United States District Judge Cosgrave yesterday continued the case of Edison J. Young, former Hermosa Beach banker, accused of misapplication of bank funds, until December 8. At that time Young is to appear for entry of plea.

DECREE WON BY MATE OF POLICEMAN

Wealthy Officer Admits Living in Same Building With "Other Woman"

Admission by Warren S. Hudson, police officer, that he lived in the same building with the girl named in his wife's divorce complaint was made yesterday when he appeared in Superior Judge Craig's court, where Mrs. Naomi Hudson was granted a decree. Hudson explained that the building in question is a double bungalow, and that he and the girl had not lived together.

Mrs. Hudson accused the policeman of associating with Bea Walker at 510 South Kenmore avenue and also in Salt Lake City. The wife offered in evidence a photograph accompanied by a letter which her husband had sent to his father, describing the pictured girl as "the sweetest thing in the world."

Although Hudson did not appear originally to press his complaint, which charged desertion, Judge Craig subpoenaed him to explain discrepancies in the dates of marriage and separation appearing on his complaint and on Mrs. Hudson's cross-complaint. Hudson said yesterday that he may have made a mistake about the separation date. He denied assertions of unfaithfulness, although he admitted living in the same double bungalow with the other woman and of writing the letter to his father, describing Miss Walker.

In addition to giving the wife a decree, Judge Craig awarded her custody of the children, Warren, 9 years of age, and Patsy Jean, 1, and ordered Hudson to pay $80 a month for their support. A property settlement was effected out of court. Mrs. Hudson asserted that the community property totals $250,000. Attorney Raymond W. Stewart appeared for the wife.

NICHOLSON TAKES BRIDE HERE TODAY

Harbor Engineer and Widow of Realty Dealer to Have Church Wedding

George F. Nicholson, harbor engineer for Los Angeles, and Mrs. Enola M. Cossart, of this city, will be married at the Angeles Mesa Presbyterian Church, Baldwin Hills, at 11:30 a.m. today. The ceremony will be attended only by immediate relatives.

Mr. Nicholson, one of the nation's outstanding port engineers, has been associated with the Los Angeles Harbor Department since 1924, previous to which time he held a similar position with the port of Seattle. He also has served as consulting engineer on other world port projects, including Cobh and Cork, Ireland. He is a graduate of the class of 1906 at Rose Polytechnic Institute and is a lieutenant-commander in the United States Naval Reserve.

Mr. Nicholson's former wife, Fayelle Fisbeck Nicholson, died in 1926 following a long illness. He has three children, Dorothy, 16 years of age; Donald, 13, and Norman, 11. Mrs. Cossart is the widow of Benjamin Cossart, Los Angeles realty dealer. She has one son, Benjamin, 13. Mr. Nicholson is 47 and his bride is 31.

The wedding originally was set for the 15th inst., but has been advanced on account of an unexpected trip to Washington that Mr. Nicholson must make in connection with harbor matters.

Child's Death Held Accident

Death of James Watson, Jr., 2 years of age, fatally burned last Sunday in a gasoline explosion at his home at 3439½ Ramona Boulevard, yesterday was declared accidental by Chief Deputy Coroner Macdonald.

The child died Sunday night at General Hospital, where he was taken with his mother, Mrs. Edith Watson, 21, after fumes of gasoline with which the mother was cleaning clothes near a water heater caused an explosion, according to a Sheriff's office report. The mother yesterday was pronounced in a critical condition at the hospital.

Music Masters to Be Featured

Three great masterpieces will be the feature of the concert-lecture and symphony musicale to be given at Bullock's Store, Broadway, Hill and Seventh streets, tomorrow morning by Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley. They are Beethoven's "Egmont" overture, Schumann's piano concerto in A minor, and Berlioz's Fantastic Symphony.

The last part of the program will be devoted to interpreting various instruments of the orchestra, an enterprise which in the past has attracted large crowds.

SCHOOLBOY, YOUNG WIFE AND ELDER SEEK DEATH

Life lost its glamour yesterday for a middle-aged man, a young wife and a schoolboy, with the result that all three attempted suicide. The man alone succeeded. The woman probably will die. The boy is recovering.

For weeks, Charles F. Rich, 56 years of age, of 117 Bimini Place, had been despondent over financial difficulties. Yesterday his wife, Mrs. Margaret Rich, tried to cheer him, with some success. He promised to "buck up," so she went to escort their 7-year-old daughter Jean, from school. When she returned she found him dead on the floor of the breakfast room. A farewell note informed the wife "I can endure conditions no longer." Rich had swallowed poison.

The housewife, Mrs. Barbara Esterly, 32, tired of life because of a quarrel with her husband at breakfast in their apartment at 1016 1-2 Overton street. The husband, Daniel Esterly, hospital-service salesman, went to his place of employment at 448 South Hill street. Mrs. Esterly brooded a while, then picked up a .32-caliber revolver and fired a bullet into her left breast. A. D. Stockton, a tenant in the building, heard the shot and broke into the apartment. He took the woman to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where surgeons last night despaired of her recovery. Her two children, Jean, 3, and Billy, 4, are in the East.

Hyman Farber, 15, of 3367 Ramona Boulevard, swallowed poison at Eleventh street and Broadway because he had been low in his school grades at Belvedere Junior High School. His condition is not serious.

'Pop' Warner Shifts Men in Card Line-up

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—Coach Pop Warner converted Norm McLeod, 190-pound tackle on Stanford's third team, into a center today and promoted him to the second string. Warner said he was not satisfied with the work of Bill Marks in the U.C.L.A. game, and Mar Albertson and Perry Taylor are both on the injured list. The other shift in the line-up was the promotion of Ray Hulen, second string guard, to the first team. Hulen did good work in both the Southern California and U.C.L.A. games. George Grey, tackle, Don Colvin, end, and Bill Bardin, guard, continued to work out with the first team today.

Warner stressed offense in the workout, apparently content the Cards can hold the attack of the Washington Huskies when they meet here Saturday.

WHITTIER SEES GRID PENNANT

Quakers Hope to Beat Rest of Their Foes

Since the Southern California Conference grid race is a bit of a mess with San Diego State out of the undefeated class after a licking by Whittier Saturday night to a 19-13 tune, the eventual standing of teams is only a chance guess right now. Of course, Caltech remains with a clean slate, but how long it will stay so is a question.

CHIEF NEWMAN

The Poets, under the foxy tutelage of Coach Wallace (Chief) Newman, sprang their traditional upset by poking Walter Herraid's Aztecs in the nose. Newman's ambition for the season, an offense that will work, was realized on the border city turf last week-end. His boys are now working away to put Pomona in the has-been gallery when the two elevens clash on Hadley Field on Armistice Day.

The Engineers at the moment have a spotless record, but games with Occidental and San Diego State threaten to topple them from the lead. The two former outfits together with Whittier form a trio,

Thirty-two Athletes Will Go to Oregon Tilt

Spaulding to Take Squad North Tomorrow

Lack of Ends Is Bothering Westwood Mentor

Thirty-two athletes from U.C.L.A. will journey north to meet the University of Oregon next Saturday. Coach Bill Spaulding yesterday announced the list of men who would make the trip. The squad will entrain tomorrow night on the West Coast Limited at Glendale, and will arrive at Eugene Friday morning. They will leave immediately after the game on the same train, arriving in Los Angeles Monday morning.

BILL SPAULDING

Spaulding's worries as to the abilities of his wingmen are shown by the fact that he is taking eight end candidates with him. They are Dick Mulhaupt and Leonard Wellendorf, the injured regulars, "Chuck" Smith, Sven Sorensen, Walter Stickel, Les Haight, Howard Stoeffen, and Dick Waldron. Stickel, who never played in high school and who started out this year as a "goof," played a good game last Friday night against Stanford, and will probably be first choice along with Smith.

The tackles going north are Ed Bailie, Kerns Hampton, Lloyd McMillan, "Pat" Norfleet, Howard Willoughby and Meyer Zimmerman, and the guards are Ed Carter, John Duncan, Gordon Jones and Bob Reinhard. Maurice Goodstein, Ed Milum and Homer Oliver are the pivot men. Quarterbacks Bergdahl and Solomon; halfbacks, Decker, Forster, Guttormsen, Painter and Roberts and fullbacks Norman Duncan, Grossman, Lowe and Thoe constitute the backfield group.

Ends are again an unknown quantity at U.C.L.A. Spaulding tried out a number of end candidates in practice yesterday. Wellendorf and Mulhaupt, the two star regular wingmen, were not out for practice last night, being still on the shelf.

In past years, U.C.L.A.'s wings have been the weakest part of the forward wall, but this season saw these two take command. However, "Wallie" is still suffering from a pulled tendon, and Dick is limping

FOX HILLS PLAY OPENS

First Annual Invitational Golf Tournament Starts Today Over Championship East Course

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Having completed its preparations with lavish hand, the Fox Hills Country Club invites fellow-members of the Southern California Golf Association to its first annual invitation tournament, which starts today over the championship east course with the customary eighteen-hole qualifying test.

The golfer is given his preference of qualifying today or tomorrow for the match play beginning Thursday and winding up Sunday.

Competition for medal laurels in each of the four handicap groups, scratch to 6, 7 to 12, 13 to 18, and 19 to 24, is going to be brick with an entry of 300 players confidently expected. Instead of the usual low gross and low net trophies, eight prizes will be awarded for the medal play competition, two in each class.

Match play is limited to ten flights with a consolation round scheduled Saturday for the non-survivors.

The championship flight promises some exciting matches with more than a score of outstanding low handicap amateurs entered in the tournament. Fay Coleman of the California Country Club, Southern California amateur champion, is regarded as the one to beat. Fay has enjoyed a remarkable year, being runner-up in the California State championship, as well as a quarter-finalist in the national amateur at Merion.

FAY COLEMAN

There will be some stiff competition to face with Bill Jelliffe of Girard, recent winner of the Rancho invitation tournament; the runner-up in that tournament, Winston Fuller of Los Angeles, and the

CHARLEY ERB ON THE AIR THURSDAY NIGHT OVER KHJ

Charley Erb, former California quarterback, will be on the air Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock for The Times Sports Edition of the Air, being interviewed by Paul Lowry. Erb played quarter on the famous California teams of 1920, '21 and '22 and while he was barking signals the Bears never lost a football game. Quite a record for a quarterback! Charley will tell something of those old days and also give you the low down on the present California team which faces the Trojans at the Coliseum Saturday. If you have any questions for Erb to answer send them along to The Times sports department. Erb coached at Idaho several years and is exceptionally well qualified to speak regarding the Trojans and Bears.

PACIFIC COAST BALL MAGNATES TO GATHER

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS
President of Pacific Coast Baseball League

Several matters of interest, including the draft controversy with the majors, and consideration of a playing schedule for 1931, will come before the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast League in San Francisco on Friday. It seems to be the general impression that there will be balloting for the office of league president at Friday's meeting, although I have received no official notification to that effect. Personally, I am puzzled as to what the procedure will be, as my term does not expire until January 21, 1931. The election two years ago was not decided until January, although I believe with two exceptions, the election has taken place at the first session of the annual meeting in November. The second session of the annual meeting is held in January. I am not seeking to raise a technical point, but outlining a most unusual situation. It is possible that a president-elect can be chosen at Friday's meeting.

HARRY WILLIAMS

All that I know regarding the election is hearsay, except that some of the clubs have voluntarily offered me their support. Never have I asked a director to vote for me either at this or any other election. I have always felt that this is a business and not a political matter, and therefore, never have made alliances within the league with a view of retaining office. By some strange turn, those who were my enemies during the bitter fight seven years ago are now among my firm friends.

During the seven years I have served as president, the league has shown a gain in paid admissions of 1,985,971 over the preceding seven years, which represents an increased money intake during my term of approximately $1,500,000. Naturally, I am pleased with this increase, and feel that almost any institution would view these results with satisfaction.

JUDGE ADJOURNS SUIT AGAINST BILLY GIBSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—The complaint against Billy Gibson, co-defendant with Gene Tunney in Timothy J. Mara's suit to take a $500,000 slice of the former champion's bank roll, was dismissed today, and Supreme Court Justice Peter A. Hatting took under advisement a motion to throw out also the suit against Tunney.

Gibson was eliminated immediately after Mara's lawyers rested their case. Counsel for the guardians of Gibson, who has been declared incompetent to handle his affairs, moved to dismiss on the grounds the plaintiff has failed to prove a case against him. Martin Littleton, counsel for Mara, announced he concurred. Emery R. Buckner of counsel for Tunney then moved the case against his client also be dismissed, citing common law, whereby, he said, if a case against a co-defendant in a suit of indebtedness was thrown out because of failure of proof then there must of necessity be no case against the other defendant.

TRIAL ADJOURNED

Justice Hatting adjourned the trial until Wednesday. In the meantime Buckner will submit a brief and Littleton an answer.

Mara was the only witness in his own behalf. On his testimony and on a sheaf of letters and contracts—some of them unsigned by Tunney—he rests his case.

This forenoon Buckner hammered away at him on two points. It is Tunney's contention his sole agreement with Mara was that Mara should succeed in breaking down the opposition of the State Boxing Commission, which had taken the stand that, because Jack Dempsey had not fought Harry Wills, a Dempsey-Tunney match could not be staged in this State.

Mara insisted he had never agreed

Yale Charity Tilt Planned for New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. Edwin B. Redman, executive director of the New York chapter, was enthusiastic over the possibilities of aiding the unemployed by staging a mammoth sports spectacle at the Yankee stadium of the Polo Grounds, the use, gratis, of which has already been tendered.

Eastern Teams Not So Hot Following Games of Last Saturday

Former All-American Quarterback

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (Exclusive) Several teams which showed promise of creating a furore in eastern football circles a few weeks ago, dropped into the abysmal well of gridiron mediocrity last Saturday with a pronounced thud. Dartmouth, with one of the best rounded elevens ever fashioned in the Hanover Hills, failed completely to show anything exceptional against Yale, and had all it could do to keep the Eli team scoreless. Cornell, which looked mighty impressive against Princeton a short time ago, fell before the comparatively impotent Columbia team.

Battering Rally in Finale Earns Fidel Nod

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Fidel La Barba, curly haired Italian warrior from Los Angeles, tonight burst the bubble of invincibility that has surrounded Kid Chocolate in the featherweight division for the past two years and whipped the ebony flash from Cuba rather decisively in a torrid ten-round battle.

FIDEL LA BARBA

Once before La Barba, former king of the flyweights, and the dazzling "keed," fought ten rounds in New York and the decision, amid considerable protest, went to the battling Bomb Bomb. Since that night, almost two years ago, Chocolate has come on to great things, fighting lightweights on a basis of equality, while La Barba has busily gone about cleaning up the remainder of the 126-pound division.

So tonight, they met again, this time as the foremost battlers of the featherweight class although another holds the championship. And for the second time this year, the third time in his meteoric career, Chocolate left the ring a beaten battler. The decision of Referee Arthur Donovan and two judges was unanimous in La Barba's favor.

The aggressive, belligerent Italian boy from the west coast showed little respect for the famed boxing ability of the slender Negro with the wide, ivory smile. He lowered his head and never stopped charging, pounding through Chocolate's snappy left jabs, jarring hooks, flailing right crosses and uppercuts to whang eternally at the Negro's slim waist.

"KEED'S" STAMINA FADES

The plan of battle was successful as La Barba, a natural southpaw, dug one left hook after an-

CRIMSON TIDE IN ASCENDANCY

Southerners on Road to Top of Grid Heap

Eight Seniors Form Base of Pigskin Strength

Volunteer Outfit Gaining in Football Power

BY DAN E. McGUGIN
Football Coach, Vanderbilt University

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) Nov. 3. (NANA)—Alabama rolling over Tennessee Vanderbilt and Kentucky in succession merits a present standing at the top of everything south of a line running from coast to coast, passing just south of South Bend, Ind. I rank her the equal of Notre Dame, not only on performances but because of my respect for what she is.

DAN McGUGIN.

Kentucky, undoubtedly a great football team, was helpless against the Tide, and could make no impression offensively. Only Phipps of Kentucky's array of brilliant backs could make any headway at all, and along with the power and skill of her running attack, Alabama made brilliant use of the forward pass.

Seniors are not always at their best, and particularly when as sophomores or juniors they have played on victorious teams. Alabama has six seniors in her forward wall, and in Suther and Campbell has two brilliant ones for her backfield. Here are eight starting seniors, all of whom could be selected for an all-Southern team with some justification.

Three times last year, and a number of times the year before, they left the field in defeat. They have been coached so soundly and with such intelligence that they have reached the full measure of their capacity individually, and in combination a demonstration of the same ability, Saturday after Saturday, is possible, though unusual under the present days of hard schedules.

As the second best team in the conference on last Saturday, I would unhesitatingly place the University of Tennessee. In fact, because of the astonishing improvement of the Volunteers, even Alabama can be thankful that she already has this game in her record of victories.

For two years, Tennessee has had few injuries. Her men could go forward in customary combinations game after game. This year she has suffered injuries which would have demoralized nine squads out of ten. First, she lost the devastating McEver for the season, then Rug and Brandt, two of the country's great ends, and other men of ability have been taken to the sidelines by Old Man Injury. She met Alabama with ends who did their best, but were sadly handicapped by inexperience. But how these men have improved! So, by now, she has Derrberry, Reyburn, Holt, Clemmer, Allen, Disney and other men who would be enthusiastically welcomed on anybody's team. Only a stout-hearted coach and men of spirit and courage would have weathered such adversity with such a record and probably everybody excepting McEver will be fit and ready for the Vanderbilt game.

Clemson came to Knoxville with a good football team. Welch, Fordham, Yarborough and others are first-class. Clemson may have let down after her long list of victories, including the one over South Carolina. Clemson's big game of the year. On the defense the Tennessee line was adamant. The Volunteer secondary men broke up passes with regularity and coolness, and Tennessee's offensive line play was so brilliant and her mixture of backing, running, kicking and passing was such that the devil himself could not tell what she would do next excepting that he could know that it would be the unexpected, and so Clemson got what most other good teams would have received. Dodd and Hackman would drive any adversary crazy.

Florida won a moral victory, if there is such a thing in football, by holding Georgia to a tie. Georgia and Vanderbilt may question whether early-season excellence for Yale and Minnesota is wise.

Georgia Tech showed great improvement in her fine game with North Carolina. Louisiana State University won a great and crucial victory over Arkansas, a game L. S. U. greatly covets.

Tulane showed her consistent brilliancy by an enormous score over Miss. A. & M.; Maryland and Auburn gave evidence of constant improvement, and we turn into November with many great contests still ahead.

LIEB HONOR GUEST AT OFFICIALS' MEETING

Tom Lieb, coach of the Loyola Lions, will be the guest of honor at the meeting of the Southern California officials meeting Thursday night at Central Junior High School. Lieb rather startled the local football world last Saturday night at Wrigley Field, when his eleven held the highly touted Olympic Club of San Francisco to a scoreless tie.

WADE'S LAST YEAR

WALLACE WADE'S last year at Alabama seems likely to be one the old grads will remember for a long time.

A year that will make the old grads pinch themselves and wonder if they didn't do wrong in agreeing to let Wade get away from them at the end of the 1930 season.

The story of the separation is rather interesting. Wade knows football from A to Z and backwards. He is versed in its ups and downs.

He knows what the alumni think of a coach when winning teams are the rule. And how they howl when it's the other way around.

In 1925 and 1926 when Wade brought teams to the Pacific Coast the Crimson Tide was in its zenith.

The old grads slapped Wade on the back and told him he was a great coach. Wade is no politician. He smothered them with dirty glances, turned on his heel and walked away.

He declined invitations to talk at banquets where he could be glorified and his coaching made the talk of the day. He was no pep rally speaker or alumni greaser.

The 1925 and 1926 teams passed on, and the Crimson Tide slipped. The old grads were quick to leap on the man who was not exactly diplomatic when things were rosy, and he spit back just as quickly.

Result, they agreed to disagree.

THREE TOUGH ONES

AND now look at what Wallace Wade is doing to the other southern teams.

His boys have already licked Tennessee 18 to 6, Tennessee's first defeat in three years.

Next on the list was Vanderbilt, which beat Minnesota, 33 to 7, Minnesota a week later holding Stanford to a 0-0 tie.

Alabama beat Vanderbilt 12 to 7.

And last Saturday another stiff hurdle, Kentucky, was taken down the line to the tune of 19 to 0.

If Alabama should go through the Southern Conference schedule undefeated it is almost a cinch to play the New Year's Day game at Pasadena.

And this will bring about another odd circumstance, assuming that Washington State is the Coast choice.

Wade was a guard on the 1915 Brown university team which lost 14 to 0 to Washington State in the first New Year's Day game.

Wade has a line this year which is said to average close to 200 pounds, made up of seniors. Its reserve strength is also strong. In the backfield the Crimson Tide has spectacular ball carriers in "Flash" Suther, "Monk" Campbell and "Hurry" Cain.

THOSE SILENT BEARS

IT'S time to turn attention to a game of more currein importance than the New Year's Day struggle.

Sure, it's the California-S.C. game next Saturday.

Perhaps Pop Warner meant it when he said the Trojans are one of the three best teams he ever saw in action.

On the other hand, it was some such talk in print after the Trojans beat Stanford, 7 to 6, at Palo Alto last fall that had something to do, one week later, with the Bears' 13-to-7 victory over the sons of Troy.

That's something for Howard Jones to combat this week—overconfidence—and it's his own battle.

He had outside aid before the Stanford game. Pop Warner's remarks about dumbness helped immensely.

But Nibs Price isn't going to be of any aid at all, 'tis plain to be seen.

He's too busy to talk about the enemy.

He was last year, too, and the Bears won.

LA BARBA WINS SCRAP

other into the pit of the Chocolate's stomach.

The fire and dash went out of the "Keed" legs, his stamina faded, and except for fiery flashes the little Negro was caught in the strength, courage and doggedness of the game westerner, caught so he could never quite get away and do the damage he is accustomed to levy at long range.

The Associated Press score card gave La Barba a clear margin of five rounds, with three for Chocolate and two even. Each had one glorious round. La Barba in the third when he first made the Negro lad cringe under solid thumps to the ribs; Chocolate in the seventh as he drove the sturdy Italian before him with a volley of rights to the head that left the former Coast collegian weak and dizzy.

BATTERING RALLY

Fidel came back fresh to continue the fight, however, and won the battle decisively for himself with a surging, battering rally in the tenth that left Chocolate holding desperately for the final gong.

Once La Barba found the range of Chocolate's body with his thumping left hooks in the third round, he never stopped piling up points. He drove around the ring, pounding his sides, occasionally shooting sweeping lefts to the head, fighting off every Chocolate rally to win the fourth, fifth and sixth, as well as the third round. Adding the tenth and final session to the win column merely clinched the victory for La Barba.

The first round was even, as the flashy "keed" warmed slowly to his work, but Chocolate had a neat margin on the second, dropped the next four as La Barba worked on his body, rallied to take the seventh and hold the eighth even. Chocolate won the ninth with the cleaner punching, but could not quite carry a rally through the tenth that possibly would have earned him a draw. There were no knockdowns, and neither was marked or bleeding at the end of the struggle. Chocolate weighed 123 pounds, La Barba, 124.

The crowd was the best of the indoor season so far, numbering around 16,000.

When La Barba started to force the issue Chocolate opened up with both hands and made him hold on in a wild punching spree. The Kid was warned for butting in a clinch. La Barba forced Chocolate to the ropes with lefts and rights to the body. La Barba crashed a hard left to the stomach and then staggered Chocolate with two more lefts to the stomach in a clinch. La Barba's round.

ROUND FOUR

Chocolate stalked La Barba with straight lefts, but the Fiddler got in close and inflicted heavy body punches. Chocolate dropped a hard right against La Barba's ear. Chocolate timed La Barba with a hard right uppercut. He staggered La Barba with a series of rights to the jaw and Fidel was in bad shape hanging on for all he was worth. La Barba recuperated quickly and opened Chocolate's mouth with a left hook to the stomach. Chocolate's round.

ROUND FIVE

ROUND SIX

La Barba moved in fast with a body attack. Fidel lazzed the Keed with two left uppercuts and Chocolate hung on. Chocolate marred the action by holding. Chocolate opened up on La Barba with both hands. Referee Donovan thought the bell had rung and stepped in between the fighters, stopping the round. La Barba's round.

ROUND SEVEN

Chocolate opened up with everything he had and had La Barba holding. They traded left hooks to the body. Chocolate stung Fidel with a right hook of the ear. Chocolate forced La Barba to hold under a volley of lefts and rights. Chocolate stung La Barba with a series of rights to the jaw. Chocolate's round.

La Barba tried to force the issue once more but Chocolate timed him with rights to the jaw. La Barba hooked a left to the body but Chocolate was back with two rights to the jaw. La Barba hooked a hard left to the mouth. Chocolate's round.

ROUND TEN

La Barba stepped in driving lefts to the body and they mauled one another in the clinches. Chocolate hooked his right under the heart. La Barba forced Chocolate to the ropes with a series of lefts to the body. Fidel kept boring in with his left hooks forcing Chocolate to hang on. La Barba kept right on top of Chocolate and the Kid never had a chance. La Barba's round.

La Barba wins, decision. present Fox Hills champion and holder of the east course record, Johnny J. Mescall, among the contestants.

In addition the two Thompson brothers, Buddie and Harold of Oakmont, Ernie Combs of Long Beach, Guy Hanson of California, Rex Bailes of Virginia, Gail Stockton of San Bernardino, C. K. Manhart of Rancho, Milo Marchetti of Rancho and Chick Berdrow of Fox Hills are out to win, and will be among the favored players.

Since then, however, he made a trip back to Atlantic City where he captured the national Elks' title. He is also a former Southern California intercollegiate champion.

Entrants and members of the Fox Hills club will gather at a dinner tomorrow evening at the club.

The east course is in splendid condition for the tournament following several months of strenuous labor on the fairways and greens.

INJURY TO HIP RUINS BROWN

Andrews, ex-St. Mary's coach, has fashioned.

Last night's workout at Bovard Field consisted mainly of defensive drill against California formations as Jones saw them on Saturday. The Bears are using a modified Notre Dame shift.

By the end of the season the Trojans will be pretty well acquainted with this style of attack. Oregon State used it some of the time. California has it Saturday. Hawaii, here next week, employs it almost exclusively. Jimmy Phelan, of course, has it installed at Washington. So by December 6 the Trojans ought to have some idea of what Carideo, Savoldi, Brill and those other Irishmen are going to do.

around with his infected toe. Both men will make the trip to Oregon, but will play very little against the Webfeet.

A tough scrimmage battle against Oregon's pet formations, as reported by Hugh McDonald, line coach who scouted the Webfeet against Idaho week before last, will be the feature of today's workout, together with a continued drill on forward pass offensive. Spaulding is drilling the end substitutes, to function in an aerial attack calculated to upset Doc Spears's boys. Stiekel and Smith have both shown aptitude in this department.

TUNNEY BATTLE ADJOURNED

to this, nor had even been asked to do so by Tunney, but had made with Tunney an oral agreement whereby he was to get 10 per cent of Tunney's purse from a Tunney-Dempsey match and 25 per cent of his earnings as champion.

The other point involved an account of what Mara considered he did to help bring about the fight with Dempsey. This Mara said consisted chiefly of having arranged a bout for Tunney with Wills—a measure which, he said, he used as strategy to force Tex Rickard's hand in the negotiation for the Dempsey match. He had succeeded in getting Charles A. Stoneham, principal owner of the Giants, to promote the Tunney-Wills match at the Polo Grounds, he said.

WAS SINCERE

Under questioning by Lloyd Striker, counselor for Gibson, however, Mara said he had been sincere in his efforts to arrange a match with Wills. "I didn't go to Charlie Stoneham," he said, "with any idea of lying to him."

After Mara had left the stand, his counsel, just before resting his case, submitted to the jury a detailed list of Tunney's earnings as champion from September 5, 1926, the date of his first fight with Dempsey, to the end of 1928. The total was $1,742,282.04, and of this Mara claims one-fourth with interest.

EXHIBITIONS PLANNED FOR NEWSIE FUND

Carlo Curtis is busy sorting out the talent for the boxing and vaudeville show to be staged at the Main-street club on the 24th inst. to raise funds for the ninth annual Thanksgiving dinner for the Los Angeles newsboys. It is planned to stage five four-round bouts, a number of exhibitions and several vaudeville acts. Jack Dempsey will be on hand if other arrangements will permit, and Jess Willard and James J. Jeffries, two other former world heavyweight champions, have volunteered their services. Others who will appear are Tommy Ryan, Billy Papke and Joe Rivers. Practically every licensed referee in Southern California has volunteered his services.

FORDHAM AND ARMY BEST

Nebraska fought to deadlocks; Carnegie Tech fell before New York University's fast-moving attack; Harvard was humiliated by being tied by little William and Mary and Pennsylvania, although very victorious over Kansas, exhibited little in the way of line power, and failed disastrously to convince its thousands of loyal rooters that it has even a fair chance of withstanding the onslaught of Notre Dame next Saturday.

LOWERS PRESTIGE

The fact that Yale was beaten decisively by Georgia in an early season game tends to lower the prestige of the important outfits in these parts such as Army, Harvard and Dartmouth because of the results of their games with one another. Harvard was defeated by Dartmouth by the slim margin of a single tally. Dartmouth and Army played tie games with Yale, and the sons of Eli were beaten by the boys from Athens. Now all that is necessary to make the situation more muddled than ever is to have Georgia lose to N.Y.U. in their clash at the Yankee Stadium next week.

At the present time Army and Fordham appear to be the best teams in the eastern circuit, excluding the elevens below the Mason and Dixon line. The West Pointers although tied by Yale are unbeaten to date and have repeatedly demonstrated a brand of football that savors of fair success. And yet there is nothing particularly unusual about the cadet team.

It is well coached, aggressive and willing but it is very doubtful in the mind of the writer whether it will get over the high hurdles, such as Illinois and Notre Dame, which still lie in the offing.

Harvard is not a great team, yet Army barely nosed out the Cantabrigians. And Yale, while capable enough, is far from invincible, but the Cadets were glad to come off the field with a tie score. How then can Army, which apparently played up to form in these two contests, ever crush Notre Dame, or even Bob Zuppke's already vanquished Illinois unit.

Of all the eastern elevens Dartmouth two weeks ago was potentially the strongest in the estimation of football critics. The Green team had rolled up high scores against weak opposition and had illustrated a football finesse that seemed to surpass that of the great Hanover elevens of 1924 and 1925. In the game with Harvard which it will be recalled was played in a cold, driving northeast rain, the Indians, although held to a single touchdown, nevertheless manifested plenty of inherent power that augured well for future Green engagements.

But in the real test which came with Yale, Dartmouth revealed that it was just another strong team but not a phenomenal one. It stopped Albie Booth from cavorting all over the field in his customary fashion although the diminutive ball carrier did manage to slip through on one occasion. He ran through the Dartmouth boys for a touchdown, only to be called back because his team mates were holding. And thereby hung the victory which Yale might have had.

SENSATIONAL WIN

Perhaps the most sensational victory of last week was Columbia's defeat of Cornell. The Lions took a terrible smashing at Dartmouth two weeks ago, losing, 25 to 0, and consequently the triumphs over Gil Dobie's hitherto undefeated Ithacans was hailed as a masterful comeback. Lou Little, the new Columbia coach, although handicapped considerably by a dearth of reserves, is trying desperately hard to make Columbia football conscious and re-establish in New York the prestige on the gridiron that is now only a memory at the Morningside institution.

The present Columbia team will not be able to get by Colgate this Saturday, nor does it appear strong enough to weather the gale which Syracuse will blow up when it hits the big town.

Philadelphia football fans may not know it but they are watching one of the country's best wing men perform at Franklin Field every Saturday in the person of Young Riblett, right end on the Penn eleven. In every game this season this crack terminal has been in on every play, guarding his flank with the wild fury of a Hinkey, and going down under punts with consistent accuracy and deadly effect. On almost every play in the Kansas game when his team had the ball, his job was to take out big jarring Jim Bausch, the Jayhawk star ball toter. And the way that boy Riblett carried out his assignment was nobody's business. He cracked Bausch going full tilt every time with a terrific head and shoulder block until the big Kansas back couldn't stand up any longer and they helped him off the field. It was clean, hard, aggressive football of the brand that distinguishes all-American quality from the average.

Bruins, S.C. May Arrange Grid Contest

Sometime this week Arnold Eddy and Steve Cunningham, graduate managers of Southern California and U.C.L.A., will get together and talk over their football dates for next year. There is a possibility that the Trojans will offer the Bruins the opening date of the season. Reports have it that U.C.L.A. doesn't want this date.

Conference schedules are not made up until the first week in December and nothing definite will be decided until that time. It is said that if the Bruins do not care to take the opening date, as they have done in the past two years, the game may be dropped for the present.

GLICK BEATS PERLICK

TORONTO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Joe Glick, veteran Brooklyn lightweight, got off to a good start in the ten-round main bout at the Shamrock Athletic Club tonight and lasted long enough to gain the decision over Henry Perlick, clever Kalamazoo (Mich.) boxer.

RACING DRIVERS DRILL FOR SUNDAY'S CLASSIC

Headed by Francis Quinn, the "little giant" of the speed fraternity, more than thirty-five racing pilots got into town yesterday from Bakersfield with their cars in tow. Preparations are to be started in earnest for next Sunday afternoon's 100-lap fall classic at the Legion Ascot Speedway and the roar of motors in the vicinity of Alhambra Boulevard is expected to be heard from now until Fred Wagner brings down the checkered flag that will end one of the biggest events on the Southwestern racing calendar.

Quinn undoubtedly will be a hot favorite in the 100-lap grind as a result of his sensational driving at Bakersfield, which included the establishing of a new mile dirt-track record of 39.41s, and the winning of the twenty-five-mile event.

However, the veteran undoubtedly will decide to lock up his Dayton special, with which he won the honors in the valley town, and go back to his Gabhart special No. 3 for the coming race. The Dayton has a longer wheelbase than the latter car and is harder to handle on the steeply banked and abrupt turns of the Ascot course. The creations, one a Miller and the other a Fronty, are undoubtedly closely matched in speed.

The fact that Los Angeles drivers face a "threat" from outside competition in the event Sunday, was pointed out yesterday by local racing men who returned from Bakersfield. While Quinn won the race, "Stubby" Stubblefield was the only other Southland product who collected prize money in the twenty-five-mile jaunt. Johnny Krieger of Denver was second, Chester Gardener of Arizona third, Stubblefield was fourth, Vic Felt of Denver fifth, and George Young of Milwaukee, sixth.

Young is the pilot who accompanied Champion Billy Arnold to the Coast. He drives the same type of car as the champion, the mount being one of McCarthy's Chicago "jobs."

MURPHY ON HAND FOR HORSE MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Judge Joseph A. Murphy, one of the best-known officials on the American turf, arrived here today from Chicago to direct the twenty-five-day racing meet at the Tanforan track, starting the 19th inst. Predicting a successful meeting, Judge Murphy said thousands of owners, trainers and sportsmen were on their way to the Coast. "With the arrival of the Tanforan special train from Chicago tomorrow, more than 600 horses will be stabled on the grounds, with more than 200 others either on their way or preparing to depart," Judge Murphy said.

PRO BALL PLAYERS STAGE GOLF TOURNEY

Professional baseball players, wintering in Southern California, yesterday started their annual golf tournament at Brookside Park in Pasadena. The participants were to play eighteen holes yesterday, eighteen more today and thirty-six tomorrow in their seventy-two-hole medal event.

Players who did not get into action yesterday may play a thirty-six today, however, if they start before 9 o'clock. Tom Sheehan had low gross, with a snappy 79, while "Lucky Johnny" Rawlings of the Angels was next with an 80. Martin Dumovitch scored an 81-14-67 for low net honors, with "Babe" Herman second with 83-14-69.

O'Leary and Schalk Sign on Cub Staff

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Cubs today signed Charles O'Leary and Ray Schalk as coaches for 1931.

Schalk was with the Cubs as a coach during the 1929 and 1930 campaigns while O'Leary coached the New York Yankees. The employment of O'Leary was something akin to a coaching trade, as Jimmy Burke, another Cub coach this year, joined the Yankees with Joe McCarthy, former Cub manager.

Sammy Jackson rematch is signed by Louis Parente for Oakland, but no date has been announced.

BACKFIELD IS PRICE'S WORRY

Hank Schaldach may come through with sensational passes.

Price, at the present writing, feels his "boys" are not yet ready for the well-trained Trojans. Too many men on the California varsity are without the ease and precision of attack that comes only through experience, through playing several seasons with the same men. So Price reasons for purposes of expression in the press.

NEED GRIFFITHS

There is one thing for which Price is praying ardently, the recovery of Ed Griffiths. If this former Polytechnic High School star from Los Angeles is in shape the complexion of things will be much changed. Griffiths is not only experienced and heavy but gives the Bears a change of spirit that is lacking when there is a substitute in his place. Griffiths has been troubled the past several weeks with a bad ankle. In the St. Mary's game he looked bad on this account.

In Griffiths's place Price has Sheldon Potter, light and inexperienced. Potter did well in the Montana contest, but he cannot be expected to look hot against such men as Erny Pinckert, Marshall Duffield and Orv Mohler. Yet, if Griffiths is not in shape, Price will have to use Potter. Ed Kirwan, the only other possible quarterback, is out with injuries from the St. Mary's game.

In the halfback posts Price's best men, seemingly, are Bill McCutcheon, Hank Schaldach and Joe Hickingbotham. None of these men were regulars last season. Hickingbotham has had the most experience, but has not yet proved himself a valuable all-around man.

Schaldach has done some great playing at various times during the season to date, but he has only this season's varsity experience to rely upon. McCutcheon is working hard but is quite inexperienced. Ray East, a 10-second man on the track, was hot stuff against Montana's perspiring Grizzlies, but he probably will not look so sensational against the stronger, better-drilled Trojans.

NEED EXPERIENCE

Rusty Gill's understudy, Gus Castro, is only a sophomore; Clarence (Moose) Garrity continues to look good in practice, but he is not consistent in games. These men are good prospects, Price agrees, but prospects do not play at their best with 90,000 people looking on. It takes experience to do that, the California mentor agrees.

"The line is all right, but the backfield is not so strong as it should be for those sweeping runs of the Trojans. Many of the Trojan plays must be stopped by the secondary defense and there is not enough quick-thinking, experienced timber on hand for that."

Price will take a big squad south. The players will be followed by several thousand students. Many classes are being canceled in deference to the contest. If the Thundering Herd is to meet with an upset similar to that of 1929 the student body wants to be on deck to witness it.

YALE REGULARS GIVEN VACATION

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Nov. 3. (AP)—A football holiday was declared at Yale today to give the Eli regulars, bruised and battered in the Dartmouth game, a chance to recover. The first team will enjoy a layoff until Wednesday while the other members of the varsity squad will report tomorrow to prepare for Alfred, a "breather" on the Blue schedule, which plays here Saturday.

HAWAIIANS TO SAIL TOMORROW

Otto Klum's Team Starts for Los Angeles

BY RED McQUEEN

HONOLULU (Hawaii) Nov. 3.—Southern California, 54; U.C.L.A., 0. Such was the score of the annual Trojan-Bruin tussle.

When the Roaring Rainbows from Hawaii invade Los Angeles for a contest with the Trojans on the 15th inst. there'll be no such a score. Otto Klum's varsity went on exhibition here recently, hammering out a 28-to-0 victory over the Honolulu Athletic Club.

COACH KLUM.

Although the varsity was in danger only once during the game, the Athletics threw up a wonderful defense throughout and withal, gave the Rainbows quite a test. It was only in the final half that the varsity put the Athletics to rout. In the first half they blocked two punts that went for safeties instead of touchdoyns, and they were able to put over but one touchdown in the first two periods. But after halftime the collegians began to click, and what an attack they presented. They registered three touchdowns in the final two heats, but might have tallied seven. With a satisfactory lead, Klum injected his seconds for the experience and sent his varsity home for the night.

A 38-yard pass, Wise to Howell, accounted for the first touchdown. Another pass, Nobriga to Naukana, gave them their second score, while Kaakua streaked 28 yards for the third tally. Johnny Wise finished off a perfect evening with the fourth touchdown after a sustained drive from midfield which featured superlative ball toting by Kaakua and himself.

While the varsity gave a noble exhibition, we would not say that they were highly impressive in this game, due chiefly to the fact that Coach Klum has not yet started to point his team. U.S.C. is Hawaii's big game this season and Klum hopes to have his boys at the top of their form for this contest.

The Hawaii special leaves here the 5th inst. Los Angeles will see them the 15th inst.

Mercuries to Honor Stars

Five Los Angeles Athletic Club athletes and two from Hollywood Athletic Club will be awarded club life memberships at a dinner to be held at the L.A.A.C. Friday evening.

The awards are made by the board of athletic governors to stars who have done most during the past year to further club athletics. Herman Brix, Buster Crabbe, Mickey Riley, Paul Krempel and Dutch Smith are the Mercury champions to be honored, while Frank Walton and Tom Blankenburg are the Hollywood Athletic Club stars.

Brix has been one of the world's greatest shot putters for the past four years and set an American mark of 52ft. 5 3-4in. when the Mercuries won the national championship at Pittsburgh last August. He has been chosen captain of the Mercury track team for 1931.

Crabbe proved himself America's greatest swimmer during the past year and in the national championships at Long Beach broke world records for the 300-meter medley and 880 and one-mile free-style swims.

Mickey Riley and Dutch Smith, Fred Cady's great diving pair, have been winning national platform titles both indoors and out for several years.

Paul Krempel, L.A.A.C. gym team captain, was twice a member of Olympic teams and led his Mercury gymnasts to a national championship last June.

Walton and Blankeburg of Hollywood have both won national championships, Walton in the backstroke swim and the latter in the breaststroke. Leslie A. Henry, chairman of L.A.A.C. athletics, is in charge of Friday's program.

JOE BITTO FAVORED OVER BILLY WAGNER

Fans are installing Joe Bitto as the favorite over Billy Wagner in the eight-round main event at the Pico Bowl tomorrow night. Bitto, although not rated as stiff a puncher as the young San Fernando knockout artist, has a big margin in experience.

East side ring fans are to see the Burns twins in preliminaries. George will box Arnero Palacios, while Billy will meet Percy Rodriquez.

Lipton Hopes to Challenge Again in 1932

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton, perennial challenger for the America's Cup, arrived on the Leviathan this morning with the statement that he hoped and expected to challenge again in 1932 for the elusive yachting "mug."

Here primarily on a business trip, Sir Thomas will be presented with the "America's Cup" by admirers throughout the United States who consider him worthy the title of the "world's best loser."

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

Three Teams

THERE are three teams so far which have not only moved through hard schedules, but which have won every game in decisive fashion.

They are Notre Dame, Northwestern and Alabama.

There are others, a few others, who have won every battle, but there has been something slashing and outstanding about the way these three squads have come into the closing stages of the football campaign. Notre Dame has yet to be pressed, with the possible exception of her first contest against S.M.U. Northwestern has romped over such teams as Tulane, Ohio State, Illinois and Minnesota, despite the fact that Bruder and other stars have been out most of the season.

Alabama has shattered Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Kentucky in a row and these are all unbeaten, outside of the Alabama conquest.

Northwestern's hardest will be Notre Dame. It is quite possible this will be the feature game of the season, in so far as final rankings go. Northwestern can shoot for Notre Dame, but Notre Dame must be ready to meet Pennsylvania, Army and Southern California, in addition. Alabama invades Florida on Saturday, her fourth hard game in a row, and there is Georgia still on ahead.

None of the three teams mentioned is safe in port. The rougher waters and the breakers are still on beyond. Northwestern has the hardest single game to face in tackling Notre Dame, but Notre Dame has the harder stretch left against four of the strongest teams in football, winding up with Southern California in Los Angeles on December 6. All three had to start early against strong opponents, and the tough spot now is to keep them keyed up through another three or four weeks.

The Challengers' Camp

The heavyweight situation steps along toward winter in the most peculiar condition in its history.

The two leading challengers are Stribling and Sharkey and ordinarily they would be matched in a hurry with the full consent of both sides. But they came near eliminating each other when they met in Florida and there is a feeling that another meeting might lead to no happier results. Both are clever, both are good defensive boxers and their styles hardly lead to any promise of deep excitement.

In this connection Sharkey is more than eager to redeem himself. Stribling feels that Sharkey has had his share of chances and that it is now his turn.

There will be no chance to use Sharkey unless he can redeem his lost standing with the paying clients and Stribling is the only fighter who can give Sharkey a chance that means anything.

If the two meet and there is another battle of Miami Beach there will be no large flock of paying clients left, even for a heavyweight championship. Especially as Schmeling will have known only about four rounds of competition in two years.

Club Head Speed

It apparently occurs to only a minority of all golfers that one of the foundations of good stroking is club head speed. There can be little club head speed where the hands or wrists are locked. In that case the club head can't travel any faster than the hands are moving. There must be the feel of getting greater club head motion through flexible hands and wrists, not by hitting, but by swinging. You might imagine the difference in speed between throwing a baseball and putting the shot.

Harvard is now looking for the fiend in human form who insists on recommending William and Mary as a set-up and a rest game between hard battles.

That Georgia Schedule

No one can accuse Georgia of sidestepping any schedule responsibilities this season. The team opened against Oglethorpe, a lineup that beat Georgia a year ago. Then after Mercer there was Yale, North Carolina, Auburn and Florida. N.Y.U. comes next in New York. And after that all Georgia has to stop are Tulane and Alabama, two of the strong teams of the country, and then Georgia Tech.

This is a trifle more than any squad can face that hasn't at least three elevens ready. Georgia has the backfield material to go the route, but hardly the line allotment.

About ten mediocre football teams this season could suddenly become dangerous and hard to beat if someone could hand them a Benny Friedman, of which there is practically only one left.

Bob Zuppke and the East

Bob Zuppke of Illinois has many ways of enjoying life. In addition to being a football coach he is also a philosopher and a painter. He enjoys football coaching, but his main fun here is trimming the East, which he has nearly always done.

And when there is a big eastern game on his schedule, that game becomes his main target. Judging from records up to date it would seem that Illinois must be outclassed by the Army this time when they meet in New York on Saturday. But past records are not to be given much consideration when the Illinois director adjusts his signs for an eastern game.

The same thing happened some years ago when Nebraska and Michigan beat Illinois and Pennsylvania went unbeaten up to the Illinois test.

Whereupon Grange and his mates ran all over Pennsylvania on a snow-covered field. And the Army is smart enough to know that it will have to earn its victory over the Orange and Blue with all the football it can produce.

WHITTIER SEES GRID PENNANT

each of which has dropped but one fray. Each stands an even bet to finish the season without further smirches but the Poets having only Redlands and La Verne on the card, after the Sagehens, seem the surest. Occidental has yet to get by the Beavers and Pomona; the Aztecs must vanquish Redlands and Caltech.

"Whitey" Edwards at quarterback gave the Quaker backfield the necessary intelligent direction to produce tallies. Bill Krueger and Murle Mashburn have enough sparkle to make the Whittier offense dangerous and with these functioning in the Poet line-up they may prove to be dynamite for the Sagehens.

The Whittier line, capable of a stubborn defense, should be able to stop Pomona's thrusts to prevent any scoring. Groom at center and Gibbs at tackle have been consistently good for the Quakers.

JOE PIMENTHAL WINS OVER HERB RUSSELL

Joe Pimenthal outpointed Herb Russell in the four-round main event at the Culver City arena last night. In the semi-wind-up Howard Fritz won the decision over Kish Kickorean. Joe Arceniga scored a three-round technical knockout over Luke Skid in the special event. In the other bouts Ramon Navarro decisioned Jimmy Lucas, John Bedner won from Stan Garcia and Damass Anthuste stopped Ted Daniels in the third round of the curtain raiser.

BEARS TAKE LEAD IN ICE HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Sun Freze Bears took undisputed possession of first place in the Southern California Ice Hockey League at the Winter Garden Ice Palace last night by scoring a sensational 9-to-3 victory over the Gilmore Lions. Roy, a French Canadian playing his second game with the Bears, teamed with Woodly and between them they scored five of their team's goals.

BRUIN HOCKEY TEAM WINS OVER MONARCHS

The L. A. Bruins won an overtime game from the Hollywood Monarchs last night at the Palais De Glace Ice Palace by a 6-to-5 score. The teams played seven minutes over before the deciding goal was scored. Jack Roland of the Monarchs pulled a Riegels by scoring for the Bruins, thereby giving them a victory.

MUCH COIN GIVEN

CHICAGO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Illinois race tracks distributed $2,376,145 to purse winners during the 1930 season, a new record sum since the return of the sport in this State. The most valuable stake was the Arlington classic, which paid Gallant Fox's owner a gross $64,750.

Loughran May Get Suspended

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 3. (AP)—The State Boxing Commission today suspended Billy Mitchell, fight manager for the Antlers Fight Club, and the club for thirty days each because of alleged contract irregularities in the recent Tommy Loughran-Davie Maier fight here.

The commission said it found Mitchell failed to post a guarantee of $3500 given Loughran under a contract with the Philadelphia boxer which was not on file with the commission. The commission said Mitchell had two contracts for the fight, one listed with the State organization calling for no guarantee and another with the fighters.

The commission said it would write Loughran and his manager to show cause why they should not be suspended for failing to post 10 per cent of the guarantee received.

COURSE SELECTED FOR GOLF EVENT

ST. ANDREWS (Scotland) Nov. 3. (AP)—The British amateur golf championship of 1931 will be played at the Royal North Devon Club course of Westward Ho the week beginning May 18 and the open championship on the old course at Carnoustie the week beginning June 1, the Royal and Ancient Club announced today.

COOPER, DUTRA TRIM COLEMAN AND DAWSON

Two well-known professional golfers, Harry Cooper and Olin Dutra, defeated a pair of equally famous amateurs, Fay Coleman and Johnny Dawson, 3 and 2, yesterday in a match played over the Caliente Park golf course. A gallery of 1500 people witnessed the play.

OUT FOR NEW TALENT

Carlo Curtis is planning a drive for new boxing talent at the Mainstreet Athletic Club. In order to provide work for more boxers he will feature main events of not more than six rounds and will back them up with four-round preliminaries. Saturday night's card will be a six-round main event and five preliminaries.

MARSHALL TO FACE DE GLANE

Colorado Gladiator Signs for Olympic Star Bout

Everett Marshall, the blond mat star from Colorado, was signed by Promoter Lou Daro yesterday to meet Henri De Glane, French mat king, in the finish feature event of the all-star card planned for the Olympic, on the 12th inst.

Marshall, who has been wrestling several times a week in the Middle West since he left the Coast more than a month ago following his second meeting here with Champion Gus Sonnenberg, wired he was ready to meet any top-notcher in the game. He would have preferred to meet Don George, the Hollywood mat sensation, at this time, but the young grappler is recovering from neck injuries received when he crashed headon in a title match with the mat king last week.

Marshall has defeated some of the greatest wrestlers in the game, here, among them being Ed Lewis, Joe Stecher, Joe Malcewicz, Bob McCoy and several others. De Glane, his next opponent, has a mat record for the past three years that rates him above any of these stars. In three years of competition in America, he has been beaten only by Sonnenberg. He was never beaten in eight years of amateur competition in Europe, where all of the great grapplers are amateurs.

De Glane and Marshall are of about the same size and weight, although the Frenchman appears to be more powerfully built. In his initial appearance here last week, he toyed with Otto Von Hellenbache before crashing him into the mat. During that bout De Glane used several well-known Greco-Roman wrestling holds. Because he was not forced to extend himself the fans of Southern California were unable to get a line on his real ability.

City League Casaba Card Announced

While practically all interest is centered in the hot race for the City League football championship, a little bit of basketball edged into the local prep picture yesterday when the basketball schedule for the twelve-school City League was announced.

Teams that are meeting in football will not tangle on the cage court, according to revolving sports schedule adopted last winter by the city officials.

The schedule:

December 4—Los Angeles at Belmont, Polytechnic at Fairfax, Manual Arts at Roosevelt, Garfield at Hollywood, Lincoln at Jefferson, Fremont at Franklin.

December 11—Los Angeles at Polytechnic, Manual Arts at Hollywood, Franklin at Lincoln, Fairfax at Belmont, Roosevelt at Garfield, Fremont at Jefferson.

January 2—Polytechnic at Fremont, Manual Arts at Belmont, Jefferson at Los Angeles, Hollywood at Fairfax, Roosevelt at Lincoln, Garfield at Franklin.

January 9—Hollywood at Los Angeles, Polytechnic at Manual Arts, Belmont at Lincoln, Fairfax at Franklin, Jefferson at Garfield, Fremont at Roosevelt.

January 16—Los Angeles at Roosevelt, Garfield at Polytechnic, Franklin at Manual Arts, Lincoln at Hollywood, Fairfax at Jefferson, Belmont at Fremont.

January 30—Franklin at Los Angeles, Lincoln at Polytechnic, Jefferson at Manual Arts, Hollywood at Fremont, Roosevelt at Fairfax, Belmont at Garfield.

BRUIN FROSH GRIDMEN POINT FOR TROBABES

Starting a final drive of preparation, Coach Freddy Oster's U.C.L.A. freshman football squad is pointing for its next and final game of the season this week on the Westwood practice field. The Bruin yearlings play the undefeated Trobabe eleven of Coach Aubrey Devine on the Westwood gridiron on the 11th inst. Armistice Day.

The Bruins will go into the contest the underdog, inasmuch as the Southern California frosh defeated the Stanford eleven, 25 to 14, a team that beat the Westwood Villagers, 21 to 6. However, Oster's boys figure that they are going to hand their cross-town rivals an upset, and are preparing a potent offensive built around Joe Keeble, fullback, and Bill Robb, half and passer, as well as a defense for the Troy power play.

TROJAN ALUMNI TO FEAST TOMORROW

The annual stag luncheon of alumni of the University of Southern California will be held on Wednesday noon, the 5th inst., at 12 o'clock, in the ballroom of the Hotel Alexandria, Fifth and Spring streets, according to announcement of Frank Hadlock, general secretary of the alumni association. The affair is under the auspices of the Los Angeles Trojan Club, of which Lou K. Small is president.

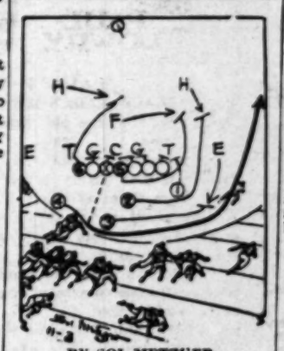
MERCURY SOCCERITES BATTLE HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood and the Los Angeles A. C. are the headliners Sunday afternoon at Loyola Field, where the City League is presenting its regular weekly program. Both of these teams are undefeated to date. The Sheiks held the league championship last year. City League officials look for the largest crowd of the season when the two teams take the field. Two games will be staged at Tournament Park, Pasadena.

SEALS BUY FRAZIER FROM PITTSBURGH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (AP)—Purchase of Foy Frazier, outfielder, from the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by George A. Putnam, secretary of the San Francisco Seals. Frazier, a left-hander all around, was picked up by the Pirates last spring and farmed out to Indianapolis of the American Association, where he hit .345 for the season. He formerly played for Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

Middies Have Neat Play to Take Out End



BY SOL METZGER

When the Navy started about half a dozen years ago to build up interest in college football in Baltimore, using the large municipal stadium for the purpose, it adopted a wise policy. First, the former annual Army-Navy game, which some day will be restored as a gridiron feast, then Notre Dame and Michigan. This year it's the strong Ohio State team for a foe and the date is this Saturday.

Playing host to a big football team doesn't mean any Gaston-Alphonse stuff so far as the Navy is concerned. The middies go in for a victory and they'll be on edge for the Buckeyes. Here is one of their end runs that is most effective because of the type of interference employed on the end under attack, the defensive left end in this case.

No. 4, in motion before the snap, takes the ball and swings wide to his right. Lineman No. 5 leads him with the other three backs, No. 1 helping to box the opposing left tackle.

Backs 2 and 3 run shoulder to shoulder at the defensive end. That worries any end. As they get within a stride of him, 3 cuts him down as 2 swerves at right angles downfield, leading 4 as an interferer. End 6 cuts through to help cut down a secondary back. A neat stunt this of taking out an end with one man.

Clifford Wins Mexican Title

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 3.—Percy C. Clifford, 23-year-old British golfer, today won the Mexican amateur golf championship for the third consecutive time, defeating Max Wright, American, in their thirty-six-hole final over the links of the Mexico City Country Club by 5 and 3. Clifford has proven himself time and again unbeatable on Mexican courses, although he has never put up a good showing in such tournaments as he has entered in the United States. There were over 200 entrants in the tourney that began four days ago, among them about a dozen visiting Americans from California, Texas and other southern points.

Miss Martha Kinsey of Cincinnati dethroned Mrs. Ralph L. Smith, American and last year's title-holder, in the women's division by 8 and 7. President Ortiz Rubio presented the winners their prizes at an entertainment at the club this evening.

UPSETS MARK FIRST HANDBALL TILTS HERE

Upsets featured the opening round of the Southern California A.A.U. championships yesterday at the L.A.A.C. Hayek of the Army and Navy Y.M.C.A., defeated Harry Le Goubs of the L.A.A.C., 21-1, 21-15, and Donnel of the Y.M.C.A. downed Fred Spalty of the L.A.A.C., 2-21, 21-14, 21-18.

Art Stern of the Central Y.M.C.A., runner-up to Joe Powers last year, entered the second round by defeating Lloyd Griffith, L.A.A.C., 20-21, 21-15 and 21-18.

"Murderball" Bill Ranft, ex-national singles champion of the L.A.A.C., won the right to meet the champion, Joe Powers, today when he defeated Clark of the Army and Navy Y.M.C.A., 21-10, 5-21, 21-13. Grant Kuhns, doubles champion with Maynard Laswell, trimmed Bremmer easily, 21-2, 21-3.

DOMAN TO BOX FAY AT LEGION

Bout Scheduled for Week From Friday

Main events for the next two weeks have been carded for the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Tom Gallery signed Al Fay to meet Vigo Doman a week from Friday night. This coming Friday night George Courtney makes his local debut and his opponent will be Tom Patrick. Fay and Courtney are Jack Kearns's leather pushers and nationally prominent in the boxing game.

Tom Patrick gets his first main event of any importance when he meets Courtney. He has a chance to make a name for himself and all he has to do is to cut loose and throw punches. A guy with a wallop and physique like Patrick should make most of his opponents jump out of the ring. Patrick appears to have an inferior complex that has slowed up his progress in the fight racket. He has a swell chance to show something because Courtney is an aggressive fighter and it takes that style to make Patrick open up.

Leonard Rahming and General Padilla are flyweights but this fight is sure to be the best of the preliminary bouts. It is the semi-wind-up. Padilla is a Filipino. In the one shot he had at the stadium he made good.

MAX BAER TO WED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3. (Exclusive)—Max Baer, Livermore heavyweight boxer, who is being groomed for Madison Square boxing bouts, today admitted his intention of marrying Dorothy Dunbar, Maurice Wells Degarson, of motion pictures in the near future.

IF you have normal feet—fine! I congratulate you!

But, listen—

Arch Preservers ARE for normal feet—to keep them normal.

A lot of feet are normal in the morning—and dog-tired abnormal by 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Arch Preservers are more normal than most of the shoes YOU THINK are normal. They're the way shoes would be if Mother Nature made shoes. They're so normal that 99 people out of 100 ought to wear them.

I'm no foot fanatic. I haven't freak feet. But I used to go to pieces every afternoon at 3 like a woman after a hard day's wash.

But now I wear Arch Preservers and am as fresh as a daisy until bedtime.

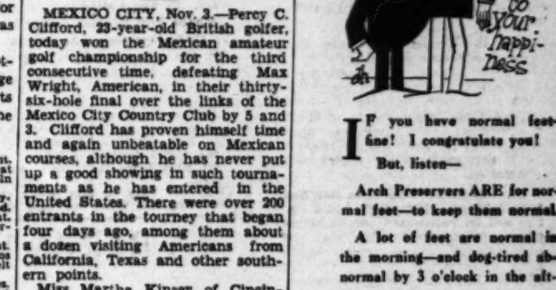
Common Sense Suggests



The "LAST INCH" Test

IT is sensible to buy cigars that you can smoke down to the very last inch, with keen enjoyment all the way. Admiration Cigars are cool, mild, mellow, from the first puff to the very last. Their 100% Havana fillers are aged a full year to impart mellowed mildness; they are hand-made to assure free drawing, the secret of cigar coolness.

Mild and Mellow to the "LAST INCH"

See if you can smoke your cigar down to the last inch. If it gets hot, strong or bitter, it has failed in the "Last Inch" test. If it stays cool, mild and mellow as Admirations do, it has passed.
